MONTGOMERY, Nov. 1.—Montgomery has raised all quarantine and freight and travel are now unrestricted.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—The weather is clear and cool. Eighty new cases and eight deaths for the past 24 hours.

MEMPHIS, TENN., Nov. 1.—The weather is clear and cool. A heavy frost fell here last night. From 5 o'clock last evening until noon today, there were five interments. The camp of Father Mathews broke this morning.

MOBILE, Nov. 1.—The Mobile and Ohio road will commence bringing freight into the city tomorrow.

HOLLY SPRING, Nov. 1.—Six new cases and one death yesterday. Four new cases today, but no deaths. Heavy frost last night.

OSYDA, Nov. 1.—The fever is over. Heavy frost and ice this morning.

GREENVILLE, Nov. 1.—No new cases. The Board of Health deem it safe for refugees to return.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—Of 80 cases of yellow fever reported to the Board of Health to-day four are classified as new cases. Physicians who have not reported cases before are now reporting them, some dating back several weeks.

MOBILE, Nov. 1.—There was a killing from within the city limits this morning. The Board of Health makes no report for the past twenty-four hours, considering it unnecessary, as the backbone of the fever is broken. All quarantine restrictions will be removed to-morrow or next day.

Liverpool Cotton Circular.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 1.—This week's circular of the Liverpool Cotton Broker's Association says: Cotton was dull and irregular, with a moderate business, which generally was done at a considerable decline. In America the demand was moderate, there being considerable pressure to sell, especially of the recent imports. Prices were drained daily, and the quotations were reduced to 51 1/2 @ 52. In Sea Island the business was of a retiring character at prices unchanged. Futures opened weak, with a depressed tone and gradually declined to Wednesday noon, when the lowest rates showed a reduction from last Thursday.

French Republican Successes.

PARIS, Nov. 1.—The results of Sunday's elections for municipal delegates in 1,700 communes of France, so far as known, leave no doubt of the issue of the Senatorial contests on the fifth of January.

Returns are not complete, but those received go to show that eleven Departments now represented by twenty-seven Conservative Senators have been won by the Republicans, namely: Hérault, Ille-et-Vilaine, Lot, Lot-et-Garonne, Manche, Marne, Mayenne, Meuse, Nord and Puy-de-Dôme; the Republicans having lost no Departments. This gain is more than sufficient to twin majority in the Senate. A Republican majority of at least 12 or 15 is confidently expected.

Horrible Outrage by Tramps.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—A dispatch from Port Jervis gives a horrible crime committed at Thompson, Pa., where Miss Kennet, a young school teacher, was outraged by tramps, who fearing identification, cut out her tongue. The victim seems to have had strength remaining to have written the wrongs on the blackboard in the school room. The trustees gathering for the regular meeting last Friday evening, discovered evidence of the crime in the lifeless victim on the school room floor and her written story on the blackboard.

Caleb Cushing's Letter.

NEW-YORK, Mass., Nov. 1.—Caleb Cushing's letter declining the nomination by the Worcester Democratic Convention for Attorney General has been published. The letter is dated September 23d, and states as a reason of his declining, his advanced age and his not possessing the qualification, five years residence, which the Constitution requires. Otherwise his personal friendship for Gen. Butler would have induced him to accept the nomination.

The Khedive's Estate.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Messrs. Rothschild will next week offer for public subscription £5,500,000 for the purchase of the Khedive's estate from 75 to 78. The British and French governments guarantee the appointment of a commissioner to see that the revenues derived from the Khedive's surrendered estates are devoted to the payment of the interest or to provide a sinking fund for this loan until its extinction.

Glasgow.

GLASGOW, Nov. 1.—Rumors of impending business failures are again here. The stoppage is announced of John Leckie & Co., saddlers of Glasgow and London, with works at Malpas. The sheriff yesterday refused application for bail in the case of the Directors of the City of Glasgow Bank. An appeal from the sheriff's decision will be heard before the Lord Advocate, and if refused there, will be carried to a high Court of Justice at Edinburgh.

Nail Makers.

WHEELING, W. VA., Nov. 1.—The Convention of Nailers was held here on yesterday, and was well attended, delegates being present from twenty mills west of the Alleghany. The following resolution was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That we, the Nailers, in convention assembled, do hereby adopt the present scale of prices as our standard for making nails in the future, and that we will do no work under any other arrangement or contract whatever, except in conformity with the present scale and basis.

Lemuel Bradford, nominated for Congress by the Greenbackers of the First Massachusetts district, declines to run and recommends that his constituents support Crasso, the present incumbent.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The following is a list prepared at the Post Office Department of the Presidential post offices of which the present incumbent's commissions expire before the end of the next session of Congress, with date of expiration: North Carolina—Asheville, Jan. 19th; Greensboro, Jan. 26th; Wilmington, Jan. 18th.

South Carolina—Beaufort, Feb. 26th; Greenville, Dec. 15th; Newberry, Feb. 26th.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—F. J. Tucker, P. H. Andrews and J. N. Summers each have been appointed revenue storekeeper and ranger for the 6th district of North Carolina.

Gov. Wallace, of New Mexico, reports that since the President's proclamation, lawlessness in that territory has nearly subsided.

Cabinet officers and others connected with the administration express gratification with the contents of the press about the recently published letter of Secretary Evans to the British Government on the Canadian fishery question. A prominent member of the Cabinet said yesterday, that although the affairs between England and Russia are regarded as threatening, he believed war would be averted for the two nations. It is considered that unnecessary comment has been made in various quarters, as to the purchase by Russia of ships and monitors of war in this country, which might be used against England in event of war between these two nations, while some newspapers approached what in such case England might in the future prefer claims for "consequential damages." Such fears, however, are ill founded, as there can be no violation of the neutrality during the war, all nations being at liberty to purchase supplies of whatever character in this country, and even Russia could purchase them at this time, in the absence of the proclamation of war, in England.

The Eastern Situation.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 1.—The Golos and other journals, today, deplore the giving of direct assistance to the Amir of Afghanistan, and advocate a benevolent neutrality. The Golos treats the English ultimatum as a positive postponement of military operations to an indefinite period, and advises Russian diplomacy to endeavor to prevent an open collision between England and Afghanistan.

Debt Statement.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The balances in treasury are as follows: Currency, $1,711,245; special fund for the redemption of fractional currency, $10,000,000; special deposit of legal tender certificates of deposit, $35,810,000; coin, $2,276,662.77, including $355,163.50 in coin certificates. The total disbursements during the past month were $13,253,865, exclusive of payments on the interest or principal of the public debt.

Shorter Telegrams.

The German government sent 3,000 marks for the relief of German sufferers by yellow fever in the United States.

The debt statement, issued from Washington to-day, shows a decrease of $1,708,402 for October.

Old Trinity church, New York, has seldom been so crowded as it was today on the occasion of All Saints' Day services. The gospel was recited by Dean Stanley.

James H. Wheatley, proprietor of a sugar refinery in Brooklyn, is missing. He has had in his possession, lately, nearly a quarter of a million dollars, in trust funds, belonging to the orphans of Gandy and four other estates in that city.

The first secular days of May and November, which the days on which the Bank of England makes reports on balances, are observed as holidays in the bank and on stock exchange. To-day, consequently, those institutions are closed.

The steamer Helvetia, while on her way from Liverpool, ran into and sank the revenue cutter Fanny off Tuskar light, involving the loss of seventeen of the latter's crew. The Helvetia sustained no injury, and has proceeded from Queenstown to New York.

Lloyd's telegram from Gravesend, Oct. 31.

Lloyd's telegram from Gravesend, Oct. 31, says the steamer Kron Prinz from Shick, collided, last Wednesday night, with the National line steamer Greece, outward bound from London for New York, and which was lying at anchor. The Greece sustained no damage other than the loss of her anchor and chain.

Good Words about the Sun.

Central Protestant. We have on our table a new candidate for popular favor, a daily Wilmington, N. C. paper of the above name by Mr. Clever W. Harris, a gentleman of well known ability. Wade H. Harris, of Concord, presides over the local department and is performing his part well. The Sun is a large paper, and displays decided ability and industry in its varied departments.

Death of John Brown's Secretary of State.

A telegraphic dispatch from Oakland, Cal., announces that Colonel Richard Realf, formerly of Pittsburg, committed suicide at the Windsor House in that town, on Monday night, the 28th inst., by taking morphine. The suicide is attributed to ill health and domestic difficulties. Colonel Realf had arrived in Oakland from his former home at Pittsburg a few months since, and was for some time connected with a mining company. Less than twenty years since the name of Colonel Realf figured largely in connection with John Brown's enterprise against Harper's Ferry. He having been the Secretary of State in the shadowy "government" formed by that adventurer. Very few particulars of Colonel Realf's career are authentically known. He was a native of England, born about 1820, and in some mysterious way, connected with Lady Byron, whose protégé he was. He had had military experience in the British service, was a man of good education and fine literary talent, especially in the direction of poetry. He resided for many years as Brighton, England, and published at London in 1852 a volume of poems entitled "Guesses at the Beautiful," of which favorable notices may be found in the Gentleman's Magazine of that year (vol. 2, pp. 386-442). Soon afterward he came to the United States.

LATEST MAILS.

THE S. & A. RAILROAD.

Foreclosure of Mortgage—Appointment of a Receiver, &c. Charlotte Observer, 31st ult. Judge Byrum, attorney for the Georgia and South Carolina creditors of the Spartanburg & Asheville Railroad, representing $650,000 in gold bearing first mortgage bonds, has filed a bill in equity in the United States court in this city, asking for a foreclosure of the mortgage on the road, for an order retaining all parties from interfering with the property of the road and for the appointment of a temporary receiver for the same.

The railroad having filed an answer through its president, Col. D. R. Duncan, admitting the allegations of the bill as to insolvency, &c., Judge Byrum applied to Judge Dick, of the United States court, at Greensboro, night before last, and the order asked was granted. Judge Dick then appointed Col. James Anderson, the present superintendent of the road, temporary receiver, that is, to act in this capacity till the first Tuesday in December, at which time the Federal court will meet in this city. Col. Anderson being required to give a bond of $10,000 for the faithful discharge of his duties, and for the return of all money that may come into his hands.

It has been expected ever since the meeting of creditors and directors at Spartanburg on Tuesday, the 15th ult., that the road would eventually go into the hands of a receiver, but the method of proceeding is a little surprising. The action on the part of foreign creditors, so to speak, has taken the matter entirely out of the hands of the State courts, and thus all proceedings against the road on the part of the Asheville creditors, contractors and others, will be stopped for the present at least.

It is expected that a lively fight will be made over the case in the Federal court in December.

A Dog Tax.

Charlotte Observer. We favor a specific tax, of at least $2 per head, upon every dog in the State, for the protection of sheep husbandry. This would greatly decrease the number of worthless dogs, and in the same proportion increase the number of useful sheep. We do not consider that the constitution stands at all in the way of this action. Are not dogs property as much as sheep, hogs and cattle? and if not, why not? Municipalities (Wilmington, Charlotte, Raleigh, and perhaps others in this State) levy upon their specific taxes, as property, and we have never heard of the payment of the tax being refused by any owner upon constitutional grounds.

A Murderer Committed Sixteen Years Ago.

NORFOLK, Va., October 30.—This morning the steamer N. P. Banks carried to the Eastern Shore a man named Samuel Sherran in the custody of Constable J. L. Kellam, of Princess Anne county. Sherran stands charged with the murder of William Walker, a citizen of Drummondtown, Accomac county. The murder took place in an affray at Drummondtown sixteen years ago, when the prisoner was engaged in blockade running across Chesapeake Bay. He was a man of some means, fond of sporting, of a convivial nature and a favorite with nearly every one at Drummondtown. He, with two friends, was enjoying himself one day, when the two friends became involved, ending in blows. Sherran, the friend of both combatants, drew a pistol and said he would shoot the first man who interfered. Walker did so, was shot and killed, and Sherran escaped.

At the close of the war he came to this city and visited the Princess Anne for the purpose of selling some property which belonged to him in the county. He then disappeared, and although frequently heard from in Florida, Georgia and South Carolina, was not seen in this section again until Saturday night, when he appeared at Dr. Bell's house, near North Landing. He was welcomed as an old acquaintance and remained until Monday, when he, with Dr. Bell, visited the Court House for the purpose of examining the records and seeing what disposition had been made of the proceeds of his estate, which had been sold by the Messrs. Tazewell Taylor and Charles Sharp, of this city, by order of the Court. He had examined the record, and was talking with an old acquaintance, when he was arrested on a warrant issued by Judge Keeling. Sherran supposed that the affair had blown entirely over, having met in Baltimore in friendly manner the brother of the man whom he killed.

An Elephant on His Hands

Philadelphia Inquirer, October 29. During the blow, on Wednesday morning, a large lantern on top of the elephant house in the Zoological Garden, was demolished, and pieces of the heavy glass fell into the cage occupied by the elephants. The female elephant, in walking around the enclosure, trod on one of the fragments, and, being in her hap feet, received a painful wound. Instead of displaying the heroic patience under suffering that might have been looked for in a creature of her dimensions, she set up a howl that made the roar of the storm seem the sighing of a zephyr by contrast. The keeper, attracted by the din, hastened to the scene and found her rolling about the cage bellowing the while incessantly. Her companion was found to be comforting her as well as he could by trying to run under her and did, and by letting a half pint of sympathy now and then roll down his trunk, which was wadded tenderly about the wounded leg of the prostrate beast. Dr. Henry C. Chapman, surgeon to the Zoological Society, was summoned. He directed that the sufferer should be made fast, so that she should not interfere with his operations in her agitation. She was secured by ropes and driven on her side on a bed of straw, treatment which evoked from her some extraordinary efforts in the roaring line. When Dr. Chapman began to probe softly around the wound with a lancet, however, she showed an elephant's instinctive respect for a friend by ceasing her bellowing and holding the injured foot perfectly still. The operation occupied but a few minutes in its performance. Dr. Chapman successfully removed the fragment of glass, stopped the flow of blood from the wound, and in a few minutes the huge beast was on her feet, looking as amiable as a lamb. Comparatively speaking, the "Zoo" escaped the ravages of the storm lightly.

In Memory of Bryant.

New York Sun. The Bryant memorial meeting of the Guelph Club at Chickering Hall last evening was attended by many, and it proved to be most interesting. The stage was appropriately draped. A large basket of flowers rested in front of the desk. On the left stood a bust of Bryant on a raised pedestal, and on the right the vase which was presented to the poet from the Chickering Hall stage. Many persons of distinction in literary walks were there. Letters in response to invitations were received from many who were unable to attend, among them Longfellow, Whittier and Holmes. An oration by the Rev. Dr. Samuel Osgeod occupied the greater part of the evening, and received the closest attention. Mrs. Imogene Brown sang "The Stream of Life." The music of the Vocal Union was a feature. "Phanopsis" was recited by Mr. Courland Palmer, and brief addresses were made by Mr. T. B. Wakeman and others.

David Laing, LL. D., Scottish Antiquary.

Dr. David Laing, Librarian of the Signet Library, at Edinburgh, died at his residence at Portobello, Edinburgh, on the morning of the 18th inst., aged eighty-six years. By his death Scotland loses not only an eminent author and antiquary, but the principal link between the present generation and that of her greatest author. Dr. Laing was the patriarch of Scottish literature, and with the exception of Mr. J. Payne Collier, who was three years his senior, the patriarch of British literature in general. It is an interesting fact that the venerable gentleman who has just died was only four years younger than Byron, was at the same age with Shelley and four years the senior of Keats. During his whole existence of thirty-eight years he was the secretary to the Bannatyne Club, founded by Sir Walter Scott in 1823, and was the editor of the greater number of its very valuable publications.

It is now claimed that the paragraph, which appeared recently in a St. Louis paper that Miss Hazeltine, of that city, was betrothed to Ex-Gov. Tilden, was retorted to a reporter by ladies just in charge a grand charitable entertainment in which Miss Hazeltine was to appear as the bride in "The Mistletoe Bough," the object being to attract a crowd to see the supposed bride-elect of Mr. Tilden. The stratagem of the ladies worked successfully, save that none of them had taken into account the possibility of the society item being telegraphed, or of its being beyond St. Louis readers. The hoax has been the talk of St. Louis, and last Sunday evening the Rev. John Snyder, pastor of one of the largest congregations of the city, the Church of the Trini, took the matter for a text, and based upon it a severe denunciation of those ladies who encourage and stimulate the publication of society news.

The Vanderbilt Will Case.

At the opening of the Vanderbilt will case yesterday, Mr. Lord offered to show that Dr. Vanderweil had been appointed one of a committee from the Liberal Club to investigate spiritualistic manifestations, and report their conclusions to the club.

Mr. Choate said the line of testimony proposed was equivalent to an offer to prove that a man was liable to believe in the apostolic succession because he had the gift. After two hours' talking the offer of proof was sifted down to an effort to show that while persons of sound mind may be convinced of the fact that they are deluded, others having chronic diseases cannot be convinced by any amount of proof, of the tricks and delusions that are practiced upon them. The Surrogate excluded the testimony. The Professor then gave his opinion as to the effect of a change of occupation upon the Commo-dore's mind. He said: "It is a common experience among physicians to be called to visit patients who had become very irritable and melancholy, caused by their change of occupations, calling into action other functions of the brain than those used before." He answered a number of hypothetical questions, presumably founded on facts proved in the case as the Commo-dore's physical condition, and said that the person thus afflicted was of unsound mental condition in some respects.

Raleigh News.

One of the most redolent weddings of this super-conjugal season was yesterday afternoon celebrated at the Belmont Street Methodist Church, the high contracting parties to which were Mr. Lee S. Overman, Private Secretary to Governor Vance, and Miss Mary Paxton, eldest daughter of Hon. A. S. Merrimon. The briefly impressive ceremony was then performed by Rev. A. W. Mangum, D. D., assisted by Revs. J. B. Bobbitt and W. S. Black.

Charlotte Observer. Register Keogh decided an important suit in his court of bankruptcy at the Central Hotel yesterday. J. Turner Tate, as executor of the estate, sued the Bank of Mecklenburg for the sum of $35,000 deposited in the bank at the time of its suspension. The assignee of the bank claimed that this amount was included in the compromise of the case of the bank against J. T. Tate, as executor, for $6,000, which was made several months ago. The register decided that there was no evidence of such an agreement and that Tate was entitled to the money. A similar claim for about $1,200 was allowed Dr. M. A. Black.

A Bullly Thing.

Wilmington Sun. This brings up to our memory Professor Gildersleeve's derivation of the word "restaurant" as a thing, and laureus, a bull, which combined, mean "a bullly thing." The boys all said: "Bully for Gild!"

The Unitarian Council.

Part of the Philadelphia Times Report, 21st ult. Ten o'clock yesterday morning found the Unitarian Church at Tenth and Leont streets full of ministers and people. The opening of the convention was auspicious as respected the size of the audience if not the condition of the weather. Dorman B. Eaton of New York, was made president, and Rev. L. H. Camp, of Brooklyn, secretary. The feature of the morning's session was an essay—"New Criticism of the Old Testament"—by Rev. J. C. Chadwick, of Brooklyn. After the essay was read comments came. Rev. Dr. H. W. Bellows said: "We are going to get out of the Old Testament more than the world ever got out of it before. The Unitarians are not alone in their desire to investigate; the other denominations are doing the same. We do not think it wise or prudent to tell what they know on the subject. It is probably not well known that the Jews are making very profound and radical investigations of the Old Testament."
