SOUTH AND WEST.

smulaV-who The great lesson taught by the recent election is that the sceptre has departed from the East.

In the South what was left unfinished in previous elections, has been completed. South Carolina, with a black majority. has become the head of the white column. ORGANIZATION.

The Democratic party in the Third District was defeated last Tuesday morning on account of inefficient county organization. All over the District there were men who did not vote. These men should have been reached, should have been urged to go to the polls.

How could we expect different results with such machinery? The committees are usually too large ; for what can be well done by three suitable men if divided up between a dozen will not be done at all. Every man waits for his fellow to take the lead, and consequently nothing, or at best but little, is accomplished.

Now what we want is less cumbersome machinery. There must be more efficiency. Either the Virginia plan of township and county superintendents, who shall be reponsible only to the party collectively, or the plan of small committees of three or five, composed of the most active and the wisest men in the party, would answer. We must have a change.

THE RESULT IN THE THIRD DIS-TRICT.

The unexpected and untoward result of the election in this Congressional District gence or to tamper with popular conscihas naturally caused much depression samong Democrats. It is a matter for the deepest regret that so true, so able and so experienced a man as Col. A. M. Waddell is to retire from Congress. It is a matter for the most pungent regret that he is to be succeeded by so base a man politically as Daniel L. Russell.

Col. Waddell's defeat was caused chiefly by the over-confidence of the Democrats throughout the District. If there had been any inkling of danger he would have had a majority probably larger than that of 1876.

Another cause was the defection of a number of voters in some of the lower counties of the District, who joined the National Greenback movement.

As was said just now, Col. Waddell would be the Congressman-elect, to-day, if every Democrat had worked with spirit. More thorough organization was needed in all the counties of the District. The cam- a platform of State reform. Many demopaigr. in some counties was commenced too crats were willing to take him at his Hate. There was, probably, not enough speaking in some counties. There was, certainly, not enough quiet effort in any and his assaults on the public credit were ounty. Hardly any one realized that there was the slightest danger, though appcal after appeal was made by the press to stir up voters. The feeling was general that Col. Waddell's personal popularity and his efforts on the stump would ensure success. He is an able canvasser, having hardly a superior in the South. He is likewise very popular. But his health breaking down, he was obliged to abandon the canvass. Gallant Democrats came to his assistance, and the speeches of Allen, McClammy, Dunham, Stanford, Poisson, Myrover and others enlivened the canvass, and were helpful. But the hurrah was at the last hour. For this, among the honest Democrats of the District, no one individual or county is to blame, but we are all responsible alike. May this defeat be a warning that will need never to be repeated. To win we must work.

and expresses the opinion that an abler to hear and discuss the report. One obman could have won. It adds: "The re- ject which it is expected can be thus sesult of Tuesday's election is the end of Mr. Kelly's attempt to gather into his own hands the whole control of the city's ad- gress prior to its meeting in December, and ministration. It is the probable end of his control of the Tammany organization, the subject, to take measures for the prewhich will now be organized without him and against him."

The New York World, wiggle-waggle Democrat, which, for the past year, has conducted a vigorous and unrelenting war against Tammany, says : "The work which we began October a year ago was Tuesday crowned with a full and glorious success. and the democratic party still lives. It lives with an assured majority in the Senate and in the House of Representatives of the United States, and from this time forth there will be no speech or thought of the revival of the noxious and odious oligarchy which was Tuesday flung out from it to die, save among those whose hatred of democracy is stronger than their love of the great city in which they dwell." The Philadelphia Press, Radical, says These results will have a marked effect upon the country, and will seriously modify the politics of the future. They will settle the financial policy of the country, and settle it properly. Discussion has disclosed the fact that the American people can as readily grasp and apply financial princi ples as any other, and that there is no danger of being permanently misled by fallacy or dishonesty. The struggle has been a memorable one and the response of the people contains a warning to politicians who may seek to trifle with popular intelli-

The Philadelphia Times, Independant, regards the defeat of Tammany as giving Mr. Tilden an ascendency in the Democratic councils of New York and a consequent brightening of his almost extinct 'residential aspirations," The Times rejoices over the defeat of General Butler, and confesses that the result in Pennsylvania is a signal triumph of the Cameron dynasty, and declares that "after all shall have been said that can be said about Republican fraud, the fact will remain that the victory is the fairly expressed judgment of the people of Pennsylvania.' The Boston Post, (Dem.) says : "Circumstances beyong control have resulted in the defeat of the regular democratic ticket. The extraordinary canvass of Gen. THE ELECTIONS.

The result demonstrates : 1. That the hard money idea in the party is a failure in practice. 2. That the irredeemable greenback idea is as great a failure. 3. That Butler is a failure, though he came near being a success. 4. That the State of New York cannot be relied upon. 5. That Pennsylvania is a fast Republican State. 6. That Democrats can count more urely on the West than on the East and on the South far better than on any other Etion.

The Republican party has made solid gains in the North, but has been slightly crat-indeed in a published speech he is haken in the West. Its only hope for reported as having given that assurancecrats were determined to defeat him at all events.j They therefore voted for Talbott, The regular democratic ticket in this way was subjected to an enormous pressure from opposite directions, and consequently ran far below its merits. This was not the fault of Judge Abbott or his supporters. They have saved their honor and with it democratic organization for State and national purposes.'

Speculation in Regard to the Next Presidency.

The Washington Star in giving a summary of the congressional elections which have now been held in all the States for the Forty-sixth Congress except in California, where the election does not come off until September next, claims that the main effort made by the republicans was to secure a majority of States in that Congress, with a view to the possible contingencies of the presidential election in 1880. Should that election by any chance fail before the people and be thrown into the house of Representatives and be decided by a majority of States, the Star adduces tables to show that they will be a tie in the next House on a vote of States, that consequently the House would not elect, and the functions of President would devolve upon the president protempore of the Senate. Assuming that California will go republican, that party will have a majority of Representatives in nineteen States. The democrats will have majorities in the delegations from eighteen States, with Indiana a tie, having six republicans, six democrats and a greenbacker for its Representatives. This greenbacker Congressmau, Mr. De La Matyr, thus becomes a very important personage. It is assumed that he will vote with the demo-

the four from California, where the election, by special act of Congress, has been Cabarrus postponed until September, 1879.
