ADDRESS: THE SUN,
WILMINGTON, N. C.

The Sun.

CICERO W. HARRIS, Editor.
TUESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 19, 1878.
ONCE FOR ALL.

THE SUN does not open a Free Parliament in its columns, but it admits articles by responsible persons who have something to say on important questions of public interest. The appearance of a communication in THE SUN, even when accompanied by general editorial reference to it, is no endorsement of the positions of the contributor. THE SUN is a fair paper, and gives a hearing as far as possible to all who have anything to say. But it will not be the vehicle of any man's personal grudges.

CARD OF HON. A. M. WADDELL.

In his card to the voters of the Third Congressional District, printed in THE SUN to-day, Col. Waddell takes such ground with reference to contesting the recent election as he might be expected to take. Notwithstanding the fact that there were great irregularities in several counties on account of which, if the effort were made, it is possible the election of Judge Russell would be declared invalid, Col. Waddell plants himself on the true plane of the statesman, declining to occupy a seat obtained by taking advantage of legal technicalities. For this, in a day of great political demoralization, he deserves commendation, even if it should be thought that he pursued the only proper course and did simply what it was his duty to do.

THE CAUCUS.

Until parties agree upon some other plan for choosing their line of policy in any respect that pleases them, the caucus will remain in full force and effect. It will be binding upon all who are sound and true, for the reason that it is the voice of the party.

In North Carolina these propositions are indisputable, conspicuous exceptions to the contrary notwithstanding. If we are to have harmony, if we are to have organization at all, these propositions must meet with general acceptance. Taking this to be as true as the other, THE SUN will not discuss these propositions, but proceed, instead, to apply them to the nearest event in our political history on which they have a direct bearing.

The Legislature of North Carolina may have more practical and homelike duties to perform, but it has no duty at once so high and so generally interesting, as that of choosing a United States Senator to succeed Senator Merrimon on the 4th of next March. This duty ought to be performed in the most judicial and patriotic spirit. Prejudice and rancor have no place in the selection. But while this duty is to be done for the whole people of North Carolina, it is to be done by the Democratic party, and the voice of the whole party, and not the voice of a small faction, and the voice of a small faction, and the voice of a small faction.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE THIRD CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

The suggestion has been frequently, almost daily, made to me since the election that I can successfully contest Judge Russell's right to a seat in Congress, and it is insisted that duty to the Democratic party, who are in the majority in the District, demands that a contest should be made. Various objections to the votes of certain counties, townships and city wards have been made, and it is confidently asserted that those votes could be and ought to be thrown out. I, therefore, deem it proper and respectful to my constituents to express myself, promptly, on this subject.

If there should be satisfactory evidence of fraud, violence or intimidation whereby the result of the election was unfairly and falsely secured, it would be a very plain duty to my constituents and myself to contest it. No such allegation, however, has yet been made, and, in my opinion, cannot be truthfully made against any portion of the people of this District. I believe the election was free from corruption, as every previous one in the District has been; and, so believing (notwithstanding any mere technical defects) honor, fair dealing and respect for what must be taken to be the will of the people, forbid any attempt on my part to defeat that will, by a resort to legal quibbles, and a reliance upon the fact that a majority of those who would decide the contest are my political associates. We see it constantly predicted that the Democrats, having learned a lesson from the Republicans, will "feed them out of the same spoon." God forbid! For eight years I have been denouncing the crimes committed by the Republican party in connection with that birthright of the people, the elective franchise, and it would be a pitiable conclusion to such denunciation if it should result in an imitation of such offenses. Judge Russell received a majority of the votes polled, although only a little more than half of the voters of the District went to the polling places. If I should contest his right to a seat in Congress, and be successful, I would be doing just what I have condemned Mr. Hayes for doing, viz: holding an office to which I was not elected, and drawing a salary which rightfully belongs to another man.

For any result that may follow a change in the representation of this District I will not be responsible. If the people so will, they can have good and bad government. Their will is ascertained at the ballot-box, and only there. They can abdicate their rights by refusing or neglecting to vote, and if they do so, who shall complain? In such a case, if evil ensue (and it is not too late), they can remedy it at the next election—but the proper time for a contest is while the polls are open, not after they are closed and the result declared. Holding these views, I shall not contest Judge Russell's right to a seat in the forty-sixth Congress.

Very Respectfully,
A. M. WADDELL.

New Men in the Next Congress.

Of the 148 democrats elected to the Forty-sixth Congress 53 are new men. Of the 133 republicans elected 54 are new men. This excludes men who have served in previous Congresses, such as General Hawley, of Connecticut. The eight free-backers are all new men, and the Forty-sixth Congress will have, therefore, 115 new members out of a total of 293. Twenty-one of the 53 new democrats are from Northern States. It follows that the greater part of the Forty-sixth Congress will be composed of experienced members. Some States—like Mississippi and West Virginia—have re-elected the whole of their present delegations; others, like Massachusetts, South Carolina, Texas and Louisiana, have changed but one or two. New York will send 18 inexperienced legislators, Pennsylvania 70, Ohio 8, Missouri 9 and Illinois 7.

The Electric Light in Albany, New York.

The experiment of lighting the Assembly chamber in the new capital at Albany by means of electricity was tried on Wednesday evening. The Albany Argus says of the result: "The exhibition was a very satisfactory one. It was by no means a concentrated light, and the objection that such a light would be too intense was entirely dispelled by witnessing it. There was no troublesome glare nor the dark shadows that many expected. To us it appeared as a soft, clear light, equally diffused, when the four burners were going, and under which the smallest print could be read easily or freely. The four score or hundred people who were present at the exhibition, which of course was experimental, were pronounced in their opinion regarding it, and in a felicitous manner.

Startling Revelations.

The recent abduction of the body of A. T. Stewart from the final resting place has brought to light some startling revelations in regard to grave robbers. The latest and most blood-curdling of these comes from Cleveland, Ohio. An organized band of grave robbers is said to exist in that vicinity, who act by signs and counter signs with physicians of the highest respectability, and test the fitness of a body as a subject for the dissecting board by pulling the ear, and if this member comes off in the effort the body is known to be too far decomposed to be of use to the searchers after medical science. Several graves have been examined, and an ear found to be pulled from the head of many occupants. An investigation into this mutilation of human bodies has been commenced by the authorities of Cleveland.

Business Wants Peace.

Business wants peace; it must have peace. There is no issue between the North and the South and there can be none, unless a powerful party, backed by the countless resources of the government, resolve to have strife for the sake of strife.

Gov. Hartranft, of Pennsylvania, has become a member of a large manufacturing firm in Philadelphia, and as soon as he leaves his official position, will take charge of the business as principal manager.

The Oil City Derrick gently suggests to Mr. Bergh that he is perhaps carrying the war into too remote an Africa when he has a haggard man arrested for cruelty to a hair trunk.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC-CONSERVATIVE PARTY OF NORTH CAROLINA.

The State Executive Committee congratulates the Democratic-Conservative party of North Carolina upon the result of the recent Congressional elections at the North. These elections clearly indicate three things, which are of consequence to us: First, that the people of this country are dissatisfied with the Republican party and are unwilling for the Republican leaders to afflict us longer with their ruinous measures and fraudulent practices. Second, that the Nationals do not meet with popular favor, and, as a separate organization, have utterly failed to impress themselves upon the country; and lastly, that the star of the Democratic party is still in the ascendant, and the people are looking to that party as the only one capable of restoring prosperity to the country, and able to administer the government on those Constitutional and just principles, which are essential alike to the happiness of our citizens and to the perpetuity of our institutions. Thus in the elections held in eight States the Republicans have lost twelve members of Congress; the Nationals have elected four; and the Democrats have elected twenty-three, and have gained seven.

These facts demonstrate that the people intend to invest the Democratic party with the full control of the National Government. The Senate of the next Congress will be Democratic by a considerable majority, and it is only necessary for the Democrats of the South to remain steadfast in their allegiance to our organization, and our triumph will be complete.

It is for us to determine whether the banner of every means to discountenance those independent and disorganizers who oppose our worthy standard-bearers freely and fairly chosen by the Democratic party in Convention assembled.

Every consideration of interest, of policy and of patriotism then urges us to prepare immediately for the approaching political struggle.

Assured, fellow-citizens, that without preparation, it will be impossible to achieve success.

Let us be steadfast in our devotion to principle, true to our organization and endeavor by every means to discountenance those independent and disorganizers who oppose our worthy standard-bearers freely and fairly chosen by the Democratic party in Convention assembled.
