JAMES McCORMICK

WOULD RESPECTFULLY INFORM HIS friends here and throughout the South generally, that he is again at work and prepared to do a

GENERAL MERCHANT TAILORING BUSINESS.

He thinks that he can give satisfaction to all who may favour him with a call, as he is a practical Tailor, whose long experience warrants him in saying that any work he may turn out will be made and cut in the best and most fashionable manner.

He flatters himself that the people of this section of country need be under no necessity of sending to a distance for their goods or of patronizing those who neither have or express confidence in their character or responsibility.

He attends to the Cutting Department himself personally, and is therefore sure of the fit of each garment.

He can furnish any goods in his line just as cheap as they can be bought in New York.

Being constantly in receipt of goods, he will always keep on hand the latest styles and patterns. The following are among the goods receiving daily:

BLACK BROADCLOTHS,
