FOR SALE.

A VERY VALUABLE COTTON FARM, situated eight miles from the Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherford Railroad, at Alfordville, containing 600 acres of land, 250 of which is cleared and in a very high state of cultivation, well improved, buildings of every kind and the health of the place unsurpassed by any in the State. I will sell the land for the proceeds of one year's work of ten hands. A large amount of provisions and stock on the place can be bought with the land, at market prices. I offer better inducements to the right kind of a purchaser than can be had anywhere in the South, as my present crop, (though a short one) will show cash prices for all on the place. THE DAILY DISPATCH.

WILMINGTON, JANUARY 18, 1867.

We borrow from an exchange the following concentrated "milk in the cocoon" of a recent affair in Memphis, occupying more columns in the papers of that city than we have leisure to wade through:

One of the Beecher family--Dr. Peyton D. Beecher, of Memphis--has gotten into a very ugly predicament; he is not only in jail, among the adventurers who came South with the Federal armies was Dr. Beecher. He stopped in Memphis. The property of Dr. Early, a Confederate surgeon, was sold for United States taxes, and Beecher bought it.

After the war Dr. Early went back to Memphis, and attempted to recover his property, offering to pay all expenses. Fearing that he would succeed, Dr. Beecher determined to get him out of the way, and hired a fellow named Walker H. Reckford to murder him. Reckford, concluding after a while, that he could make more money out of Early than out of Beecher, made a full confession of the conspiracy to the former, not knowing that four or five of the most prominent citizens of Memphis were listening to his story. Beecher and Reckford were arrested, the grand jury found true bills against them, and they are now in jail. Beecher has been one of the noisiest of the Memphis Radicals since the war ended, and hence nobody is surprised to find him in the hands of the law, with a fair prospect of going to the Penitentiary.

INVENTION FOR GETTING TURPENTINE.--This article of commerce has heretofore borne a large share in the trade of this State. Many of our pine forests have been destroyed, but much remains from which this turpentine may be obtained, and any real improvement in the mode of obtaining it is still important.

A Mr. Carpenter, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who called to see us on yesterday, has recently invented a plan by which he thinks a large amount of turpentine might be saved and the article improved. He is desirous to settle in this State and is looking for a location.

His plan is, by the use of small tin troughs and a box, for which he has obtained a patent, moved regularly up the tree as the chipping renders it necessary to catch all the turpentine as soon as it exudes from the tree, preventing the bad effects of the sun and atmosphere upon the article, as it runs down the tree, evaporating the spirits and leaving the hard article on the tree. He thinks, from the experiments he has made, that, by his plan, the entire crop of turpentine will be saved in a soft state, and that there will be no more hard turpentine; secondly, that all the turpentine will be virgin or equal to it, and all the rosin made from it would be No. 1. If his calculations are realized, it strikes us as a very great improvement. His invention is a cheap one.--Nat. Sentinel.

GET THE BEST OF HIM--A story is told as to a "young man from the country," with rather more shrewdness than visitors from the rural districts are wont to display in the Metropolis, got the best of one of our modern jokers: Having a lady with him, he took a carriage at the depot; upon reaching the hotel alighted and asked the price for the service.

"Five dollars," said Jehu. Handing him a five dollar greenback, the gentleman inquired,

"What is your Number?" "Four dollars," he answered.

"Here are four dollars. What is your Number?" "Three dollars," said the fellow, sulkily.

"Here are three. Now, your Number, Sir?" "Two dollars--little 'nuff, too," rejoined driver.

"Two, then; here they are. What is your number?" "One dollar, Cap'n--one dollar 'il do--" replied whip.

"Here is your dollar," said our friend, civilly; "all you are entitled to. It's no consequence as to your number now. Good morning." And the parties separated.--N. Y. Express.

Large seizures of imported brandy, and other spirituous liquors, are daily being made at the principal ports of entry in the United States, in consequence of ignorance in regard to a provision of the tariff act, passed at the last session of Congress, which provides that no importations of brandy or other spirituous liquors shall be made in casks or other packages which contain less than thirty gallons. So far, the goods have been delivered to the parties on the payment of a fine equal to the amount of the duties on the liquors. Importers would save much trouble by paying attention to this provision of the law.

IS IT A JOKE--At a recent meeting of the Boston Numismatic Society, a silver dollar of Maximilian, Emperor of Mexico, was exhibited. The Emperor's peculiar beard is so drawn as to present, when the coin is reversed, the appearance of the head of a donkey. The members entered into a curious and learned discussion as to whether this was to be an intentional piece of satire on the part of the artist; but it is not impossible that it may have been caused by the difficulty of representing the style of beard worn by his Majesty.

James E. Campbell,--whoever that may be,--writes to the New York Times, that he was in Calcutta in July, 1866, and saw a bet made and the money put up, for five hundred pounds sterling aside, that J. Wilkes Booth was alive, and would be so proved in six months; and that the person who maintained the affirmative was Lieut. William Martin Tolbert, of the Confederate war steamer Shenandoah.

"SWAPPING THE DEVIL."--A Washington correspondent writes that a petition from a number of leading loyalists of North Carolina has been received by Mr. Stevens, in which the petitioners set forth that they prefer his (Stevens's) bill to the one prepared by Gov. Holden and Mr. Pool, and which was presented to Congress before the holidays.

The Hon. Fernando Wood arrived in Charleston on Tuesday last from Savannah, Ga.

ATKINSON & SHEPPERSON, AGENTS FOR THE EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY OF THE UNITED STATES.

From the Insurance Monitor and Wall Street Review, December No., 1866. EQUITABLE LIFE.

"NEXT TO THE MUTUAL LIFE," among New York Companies, stands the EQUITABLE, insuring during the last annual term, $26,347,000, and issuing 6,376 Policies, being an increase of 3,624 Policies, and $15,768,150 over the respective products of the preceding year's business. This is a surprising advance, and the gain is solid--all cash. The present total yearly income of the Equitable nearly reaches two million dollars, and its assets now amount to almost three millions. Notwithstanding the colossal strides it is making onward, its expenditures are comparatively much lower than the general average. Success, so complete in every respect, as this, evinces unusual skill, and we do not hesitate to ascribe it to the indomitable energy, perseverance and assiduity of its officers and general agents, who work with a determination to make the Company second to none in the United States.
