Special Dispatch to the Post.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Special Order No. 429, from General Grant's Headquarters, is as follows: Commanders of the Military Districts created under the act of March 21, 1867, will make no appointments to civil office of persons who have been removed by themselves or their predecessors in command.

From Richmond, August 31.—An appeal was taken to-day from the Supreme Court of Virginia to the U. S. Supreme Court, in the case of Paul vs. State of Virginia, the writ issued from the U. S. Court here returnable at Washington. This is the first case of the kind which has occurred.

Politics in Georgia. COLUMBUS, GA., Aug. 31.—A Conservative meeting here to-day was attended by a large number of whites and blacks. The meeting was addressed by Joe Williams and Benjamin Holmes, (colored,) of Tennessee. There was great enthusiasm. Resolutions were passed demanding the enfranchisement of all whites, and declaring the right of the negroes to hold office. Good order prevailed until the speech of A. B. Lamar, (white,) when there was an interruption by a soldier of the garrison, who was promptly arrested and placed in the guard house. A demonstration was made by Radical negroes last night to mob Joe Williams.

From Havana—Marine News. NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 31.—Havana dates to the 27th, state it was rumored that a quarrel had taken place between Gen. Manzano and Senor Lara, Chief of the Administration. They are not on speaking terms. The U. S. yacht Oriental, which arrived at Key West on yesterday, from Punta Rosa, reports not having seen the steamer Narva on the way.

Summary of News. WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Frances has given Prussia peace assurance. The little schooner John T. Ford, from Baltimore on the 23d, for Paris, capsized at the entrance of the English channel. Only one person, name unknown, saved. The steamer Guide, of St. Louis, from Port Benton, with a half million of treasure, and brig Nellie Mitchell, from Aspinwall, for Swan Island, were encountered at sea with all hands sick, and had been drifting 14 days, was brought to Key West. McCool knocked Jones out of time on the thirty-fourth round. No further changes in District Commanders are immediately probable.

Napoleon Speaks at Amiens. PARIS, Aug. 31.—Louis Napoleon spoke at Amiens. He considered his enthusiastic reception an evidence of the patriotism of the people. Alluding to the Mexican question, he didn't consider French honor tarnished or its prestige impaired. German events have left France tranquil and certain peace. Europe remains undisturbed. Will do his utmost to promote trade and more liberal institutions.

From Washington. WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The Attorney General's report, on which the President removed Sickles will be published on Monday. It appears Sickles held that he was not amenable to the Grand Jury, United States Marshal, or United States District Attorneys while in command of a Military District created by act of Congress and in which the powers of Military Commanders are defined. GLIMPSES OF TEXAS. Horse Stealing—How Ophebia was Lost. —Two Emeralds—Loadings at a House of Public Entertainment. GOLDAD, WESTERN TEXAS, Aug. 9, 1867.

My dear Post:—One of the most common practices in Western Texas is horse-stealing. In other places taking an illegal fancy to your neighbor's ox or ass is a thing entirely occasional, here it is an every day occurrence; and altogether professional,—as much so as gambling. Not a few scoundrels look to it for a livelihood, whilst pretending to gain a subsistence by more honest occupations, such as saddlemaking, blacksmithing, and other vocations. The horse thief is exceedingly shy, nor can there be a greater hypocrite; none can talk more loudly against horse thieving, and he can so demean himself as to deceive the most astute, both as to his real character and the disposition of stolen animals, and it is not easy, I assure you, to elude the vigilance of Western Texans, educated to suspect even their fathers. But the professional horse thief does deceive even them, and many a villain passes for a respectable man when he deserves the rope around his neck. A few years since, a young man, M., made his advent in the Goldad community, and, for a time, did fair for the available hand of a certain Miss L., prospective heiress to lands, stock and numerous slaves. During his courting visits to the young lady, M., with the assistance of an old slave, (how strange that word sounds now!) his accomplice used to steal her father's horses, and when the hue and cry was raised against horse thieves, he raised a company and searched the country for the rascals even as far as the Rio Grande. None suspected him of being the horse thief himself; but shortly afterwards the scamp was accidentally detected, and, of course, lost the bewitching Ophebia. If you do not understand the motus operanti of this profession, you are extremely liable to that frightful malady, the Penitentiary. Recently a couple of sprightly lads from the "Green Isle," and very green in horse-stealing, undertook to steal the horses of an old fellow out on the prairies. So they escaped on a dark night, with two fine horses, a couple of saddles, and two six-shooters. Safely reaching the river Neches, and voracious enough to imagine themselves clear of pursuit, they quietly encamped for the night by the roadside. In the morning two Texans rode up and exclaimed, "Now, don't you Irish souls, we've got you!" "Arrah! Mike, look at the devils," bawled Pat in astonishment, "git behind that bar, man!" Both Mike and Pat got behind a tree, and with their stolen six-shooters appeared desirous of holding the position. They had the advantage of the enemy and the latter came to a halt. "Oh, for a good shelly, it would be better than this cursed pistol," said Pat. "It was you that got me into this scrape, and now the murdering Tixan devils will have us sure. Take keer o' the whiskey, Pat," says Mike. "Arrah!" replied Pat, "go to the devil wid your talk, ye spalpeen. We're goin to be murdered in cold blood, an' ye talk like the praisit was a confession' ye. Out on ye, ye spalpeen!"

Gen. Grant, it is understood, has recently come to the conclusion that he had misapplied his powers under the Reconstruction act.—N. Y. Tribune, 30th.

S. T. --- 1698---X

The language of nature and experience demon strates, that whoever would enjoy the pleasure of food—the beauties of landscapes—the joys of companionship—the riches of literature—the honors of station and renown—must preserve their health. The stomach is the receptacle of all nourishment, and the fountain from which all parts of the body, derive sustenance. The effect of foul injurious food entering the stomach, is to de range the digestive organs and produce headache, loss of appetite, indigestion, flatulency, low spirits, feverish burnings, constipation, its capacity to perform any mental or physical duty, etc., are the symptoms of that horrid disease DYSPEPSIA, which assumes a thousand shapes, and points towards a miserable life and premature decay. The Medical Faculty has labored for generations to discover reliable appetizers and the proper means of overcoming stomach derangements. Certain ingredients have been long known as partially effective. Among these were CALISAYA BARK & ST. CROIX RUM. An invalid physician, sojourning in the tropical island of St. Croix, observing the habits of the natives, gathered the recipe for the final accomplishment of this most important end. The article was first used as a private medicine, when its salutary effects becoming known, it was brought out under the name of DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS.

They act with unerring power, and are taken with the pleasure of a beverage. They perform most wonderful cures in stubborn cases of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Nervous Affections, Loss of Appetite, Intermittent Fevers, Diarrhoea, Sore Stomach, Headache, Fever and Ague, Weakness, Mental Despondency, &c. As a morning appetizer and after dinner tonic, they should be in every family. They are a delightful exhilarating stimulant, without any subsequent stupefying reaction. ROCHESTER, December 28th, 1861. Messrs. P. H. DRAKE—Gentlemen:—I have suffered terribly with Dyspepsia for three or four years, and tried many remedies without effect. had to abandon my profession, and suffer & greatly from everything I ate. I have now tried the Plantation Bitters—they helped me—I continued their use, and am now nearly a well man. I know of several similar cases. Respectfully yours, REV. J. S. CATHOON.
