mond, Va. RICHMOND, VA., October 2. - Congressman

Shanks, of Indiana, addressed the blacks this evening. He said he spoke as one of a party who had power when he said the Southern States would have been in the Union long ago if they had given the blacks their rights, and they never would get in until they did. President Johnson, if guilty, would be impeached, and even with the aid of the Maryland rebel militia, which was arming, would be powerless to do anything. The men of the North were ready, at the tap of the drum, to quell him and his militia. He predicted thirty thousand majority in Ohio for the Republicans.

The interments from yellow fever up to six o'clock this morning were 54.

In the case of the old and new School Boards, Judge Duplantien decided that a new Board could not be appointed when no vacancy existed. The resolutions of the Council repealing all ordinances touching public Schools were null because it conflicted with an act of the Legislature, and were violating of Charter, because it passed by both boards on the same day. The Judge Decrees that the new board is not qualified and they are forbidden to perform the duties of directors of the public Schools of New Orleans. / No appeal will be taken.

purer or braver man than Gen. James Longstreet, and surely from the first to the last I have proved myself to be faithful and true, and I defy any man to point to one word or sentence in my letter to Mr. Prentice that breathes a want of love for our people, or to a fact stated that cannot be substantiated. I am aware that some scribblers have assailed me, but "they belong to the Tray, Blanche, and Sweetheart order, who simply obey the in tincts of their own natures, by bark-ing at what they do not understand," but I am loth to believe that any tried soldier will doubt.

who was a leader in the beginning; and a follower at the end, and who during the whole struggle was with you at the front, or a prisoner of war, will positively assert and manfully maintain from chimerical theorists or bomb proof poliicians.

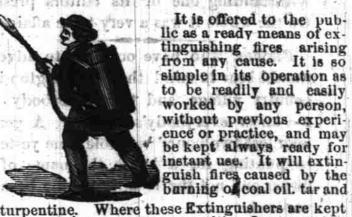

If the war was to defend the South in the exercise of its belief of the right to secede, then I do not re-gret the fight. though I may have to grieve over the death of this theory. If the war was to preserve African slavery, then I do not regret the struggle, though I do grieve over the loss of $4,000,000,000 worth of property, and the sad fate that awaits the poor negro; but if we fought four years simply for the personal triumph of some political the poor negro; but if we fought four years simply for the personal triumph of some political they are excluded from office, then I sincerely regret the conflict, and will grieve anew over the graves of the brave men who fell around me. I must again repeat that "I did not fight the United States because I hated the United States. I did not fight the North because I hated the North," but I fought for what I conceived to be the honor, the safety, and the material interests of the Southern people, and I am struggling now, in another way, to accomplish the same object, and I will make as many sacrifices, and labor as earnestly and persistently as any man in the South to control the political elements, to devise plans and projects, and put in successful opera-tion enterprises that will build up our poor, desolated, and impoverished country. This is what the South really needs; this is all the truly patriotic men of the North ask ; and I will advocate the best plans, in my judgment, to accomplish the object, regardless of who originates or sup-ports them, Whigs, Democrats, Federals, Republicans, Radicals, Conservatives, or Eclectics. This is all the defence I need. Tell the people am still for the honor, safety, and material prosperity of the South, and while I will not east a shadow on the graves of our dead, or extinguish one ray of the glory of our manly struggle, yet I must bid the living look to the future, and help build up our common country from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the Lakes to the Gulf. Tell them to remember that political theories like sectarian (religious) theories, are principles only in the minds of the bigoted and foolish, and demagogues are only too apt to misapply these terms, to mislead them. Constitutions and laws are subject to changes, by legat means and by revolutions, and when changed are to be obeyed; and if the lessons sad experience teaches are not heeded, then are people unfit for self-government, and the sad fate of Republican Mexico will be our with great success in France, in the treatment of lot. The truth is, the late meeting in this city was opposed to reconstruction. The gentlemen who got up and controlled the meeting are doing very well as it is. They are governing the State, and living on the hardearned taxes of our people. They are as free as the air-they hold all the offices-the military does not interfere with them, for they are careful not to commit any overt acts of treason; and they are, therefore, in favor of continuing things as they are .- Standard.

The Standard says: "It could be proved, if necessary, that one of the 'young men who carried round the call for singers, stated that the meeting was indispensable to sus tain the Sentinel, in view of the fact that the Register, by its recent course, was about to take the wind out of its sails.
