> DISAGREEABLE-Yesterday was most emphatically as DICKENS terms it, a "muggy" day. It rained, and a high wind from the Southeast prevailed during the entire day. It was just that kind of weather when the spirits feel unusually depressed, and to those who were compelled to foot the streets, there was but little to be found of an enlivening nature. With water above, below, and around one everywhere, it is not strange that "bad humours" should have prevailed, and that many coughs, and colds, influenzas and catarrhs, &c., should have been the prevailing complaints. arer or braver man than Gen. James Longstreet and surely from the first to the last I have proved myself to be faithful and true, and I defy any man to point to one word or sentence in my letter to Mr. Prentice that breathes a want of love for our people, or to a fact stated that cannot be substantiated. I am aware that some scribblers JAS. L. HATHAWAY, have assailed me, but "they belong to the Tray, Blanche, and Sweetheart order, who simply obey the instincts of their own natures, by bark ng at what they do not understand," but I am loth to believe that any tried soldier will doubt another's honesty because he may differ with him in the plans to accomplish the general good, and I have an abiding faith that they will let any comrade have the privilege to exercise his own udgment as to the best manners to build up the country without being anathematized, and I, who was a leader in the beginning, and a follower at the end, and who during the whole struggle was with you at the front, or a prisoner of war, will positively assert and manfully maintain my right to express my opinions freely upon all subjects affecting the welfare of the South, to and among Southrons, without fear or favor Ren from chimerical theorists or bomb proof politicians.

sept 28 If the war was to defend the South in the exercise And of its belief of the right to secede, then I do not re-Ash, gret the fight, though I may have to grieve over the deata of this theory. If the war was to preserve African slavery, then I do not regret the struggle, though I do grieve over the loss of $4,000,000,000 Baer Balia Baile Barre simply for the personal triumph of some political partisans, a few of whom would still make us Bens believe that the country is ruined only because Bent they are excluded from office, then I sincerely Bica regret the conflict, and will grieve anew over the Blak graves of the brave men who fell around me. I must again repeat that "I did not fight the Boon United States because I hated the United States. Bote I did not fight the North because I hated the Bow North," but I fought for what I conceived to be Brow the honor, the safety, and the material interests Brow of the Southern people, and I am struggling now, Brow in another way, to accomplish the same object, Broo and I will make as many sacrifices, and labor as earnestly and persistently as any man in the Burc Bux South to control the political elements, to devise plans and projects, and put in successful opera-tion enterprises that will build up our poor, deso-Burn Brow Clarl lated, and impoverished country. This is what the South really needs; this is all the truly patri-otic men of the North ask; and I will advocate Clow Cour the best plans, in my judgment, to accomplish the object, regardless of who originates or sup-ports them, Whigs, Democrats, Federals, Repub-Davi Davi Davi licans, Radicals, Conservatives, or Eclectics. Dell. This is all the defence I need. Tell the people Dew I am still for the honor, safety, and material prosperity of the South, and while I will not east Digg Duga a shadow on the graves of our dead, or extinguish Ears one ray of the glory of our manly struggle, yet I must bid the living look to the future, and help Ever Edw build up our common country from the Atlantic Fish to the Pacific, from the Lakes to the Gulf. Fran Tell them to remember that political theories, like sectarian (religious) theories, are principles only in the minds of the bigoted and foolish, and demagogues are only too apt to misapply these terms, to mislead them. Constitutions and laws Grad Gard are subject to changes, by legat means and by revolutions, and when changed are to be obeyed; Greu Hol and if the lessons sad experience teaches are not heeded, then are people unfit for self-government, Hall, Mittie Wooster, Abby and the sad fate of Republican Mexico will be our Harrason, Margaret Wyatt, Sarah J lot. contest for them. Hotts, Dr I can remember, but too well the years of excitement and injury to the country from the conflict on these theories in Kansas; and our late war, with its stricken fields, its bloody graves, the ruin and desolation which followed in its track, is as indellibly fixed in my memory as in any man's in the whole South; and while remembering the dread past, I must receive it's lessons, and not quarrel over dead theories, but look to the live issues of the present and future; for (though I may be disfranchised), it is still my duty to help restore tranquility, and build up the broken prosperity of the country, for the widows and orphans, my soldiers' and my children's sakes, and on all practical questions affecting the material interests, such as Banks, Tariffs, Taxes, Suffrage, Internal Improvements, and Revenues, I will be found as true to the South as I was in her stormiest hours. All now agree that, by right of revolution, our States were out of the Federal Union, and our Government was a de facto Government; therefore, if our conquerors think that safety or justice requires that the conditions upon which these States may be re-admitted into the Union shall be that our leaders in the field and prominent statesmen must be denied the right to vote or hold office, and also that political equality must be extended to the negro, though we may know this to be grievously mistaken statesmanshipt yet we must accept these terms or do worse, fo, we cannot stay out or stop the march of events as the power is still in the hands of our political enemies. A few years will demonstrate the wisdom or fallacy of their theories, and during this probation we should work to build up our broken fortunes, and prove ourselves worthy to be trusted ; therefore, I advise you not to more over the past, but remember our "Lost Cause" only as the widowed husband remembers his bride when he looks upon his motherless children, accept all political privileges that may be granted you, and then, without being actuated by hatred or re-venge (neither of which are soldierly sentiments), strive manfully for the true interests of your State and Country, by working to develop her resources and increase her wealth. Should you differ with others as, to the best plans to accomplish these gbjects, still be friends and colaborers in one Common Cause, which now should be, as it once was, the greatness and glory of the whole United States. This is what I told you at our surrender at Jacksonport, in June, 1865-this is the substance of my letter to Mr. ticc-and I urge it upon you now ; and if for-this I am to be anathematized, let the dogs bark until time shall prove that I have been ever and always your friend, M. WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.-The Treasury has issued instructions regarding bonded tobacco warehouses : The cellar of such warehouse may be used for other purposes, said cellar having an entrance from the street, and no connection with the upper floor. The office may be allowed for the use of the tobacco for the exhibition of sample, if partitioned from the storehouse. The owner may take samples from goods stored, according to the usages of trade, and exhibit them in said office, the samples being regarded as in the custody of both owner and storekeeper.

Retail trade in such samples is prohibited.
