A DISTURBANCE IN BALTIMORE.

France to Settle the Roman Question.

SANTA ANNA BANISHED.

POLITICS AT RICHMOND.

The Market Reports.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—In well authenticated conversation, the President expressed himself to the following effect: Regarding impeachment, he apprehends the Radical leaders would become more desperate than ever, and hesitate at nothing to accomplish their revolutionary purposes. Referring to suspension before conviction, he will resist with all the powers which the Constitution furnishes for its own protection. As regards the Cabinet, circumstances necessitated a change, and before the meeting of Congress, a change would be made. He will neither consult, nor be governed by party cliques, but draw around him men of ability, nerve, and patriotism. Alluding to Sherman, he says he will be here between the 10th and 17th of November, in ample time for the discharge of any duty, however responsible, which may devolve upon him.

The Base Ball Convention met at Harrisburg, Pa., to-day. Twenty Clubs are represented. Pythian Club (colored), of Philadelphia, was excluded.

There was a full Cabinet meeting to-day. Receipts from customs for the week ending on the 12th were $2,938,000.

Silas Wood, deputy collector, has been directed by the Secretary of the Treasury to act as collector of internal revenue for the 4th district, Texas, until the arrival of Judge Evans, recently appointed.

The Secretary of the Treasury has made a demand for reclamation on persons from whom the Treasury has recently received about $80,000 dollars worth of alleged 7-30 counterfeit notes. The Department claims that in the course of business the understanding always is that until notes, &c., are finally examined here they are at the risk of parties transmitting them. Should parties refuse to make satisfaction for counterfeit notes, the Treasury will ask advice of the Attorney General, in order to determine what action to take.

Revenue to-day is two hundred and fifty four thousand.

Archbishop Spalding arrived per Persia. The Reconstruction Committee is overhauling the printing bureau of the Treasury. Eleven hundred thousand dollars worth of questioned 7-30 notes have been traced. Suspicion that these notes are not counterfeit, gains ground.

The following special Post Office Agents have been appointed: Mississippi, Chas. H. Jewen; Tennessee, James White.

From Richmond.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 18.—The Conservatives are full of hope. Never has there been more energy shown in a canvass as there is now being displayed by both sides; each is sanguine of victory, and both are doing their best. The moderate negroes are dissatisfied with the Democratic nominations. They say if Sturdevant and Evans were dropped, and two negroes substituted, the ticket would carry, and a torch light procession would crown the triumph, but as it is they will vote for Hunkitt's party.

There is a grand Hunkitt meeting being held in the Square now, and being addressed by him. The Conservatives are holding a meeting and are confident.

The Congressional Railroad Committee are at work, and have had several Railroad officers before them to-day.

Gen. Washburn, of the Congressional Committee, addressed a meeting of Radicals on Capitol Square to-night. He spoke for more than an hour. He gave good advice to the negroes, and related many anecdotes which pleased his hearers very much.

From Richmond.

RICHMOND, Oct. 18.—With a view to making Gen. Schofield defendant in the case of Mandamus and to exhaust remedies under the Reconstruction act, Gen. Imboden, under advice of his Council appealed from decision of the registration board. The following is the commanding General's reply:

MR. IMBODEN.—Sir: In reply to your communication submitted to-day, appealing from the decision of the Board of Registration at Richmond City, in rejecting you as a qualified voter, I am directed by the Commanding General to inform you that the action of the Board of Registration is sustained.

Very respectfully your ob't serv't,
S. F. CHAPIN, A. G.

Cable Summary.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The Emperor has referred the Austrian Bishop's protest to the Concordat at the Ministerial Council. The Ministerial Council at St. Cloud, Napoleon presiding, has resolved that France should immediately intervene for the settlement of the Roman question, without any longer acting in concert with Italy.

The London Times urges Italy to seize Rome, and then treat with France. It declares that the boldest policy is the best for Italy.

From Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18.—Twelve or fifteen shots were fired from a negro military company, and a white boy killed instantly. The coroner's verdict was, death occasioned by a musket ball fired from the rear rank of a negro military company, supposed to be the Butler Guards, and it was totally without cause or provocation.

California Elections.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—Partial returns of 21 counties, show that Sprague has a Democratic majority of 1,166. The election is conceded.

From St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 18.—There is a close quarantine below the city.

Foreign Markets.

Speech of Maj. J. W. Schenck, Jr., at the County Convention.

MR. PRESIDENT:

I rise for the purpose of making a motion—which I will state at the close of my remarks—as some of the delegates to this Convention have seen fit to vote for me as a delegate to the Constitutional Convention.

I deem it a duty which I owe to myself and to the Convention, that I here state that I was not by my own consent—wishes or efforts a candidate for that position, sometime since I withdrew from the field exclusively for the purpose of placing in that position an old and tried veteran—Gen. Jos. C. Abbott, and for the purpose of insuring harmonious action.

The gentlemen who have received a large majority of four votes are entitled to the suffrage and support of every true Republican. It was only this morning, Mr. President, that numbers of the delegates came to me—and expressed a wish that I accept the nomination, but I replied that I could not sacrifice these men and if any one was to be sacrificed, I much preferred that it should be myself—[cries of that's so, that's so.] Fellow citizens, let us join now and during the coming campaign in a hearty support of the three gentlemen, who have been chosen by a majority—let us work for, and elect, this ticket, I have no regrets, I could not have been better suited than in your choice, let us support them heartily; and as Republicans stand firm in one solid phalanx show to the people of this County that right—justice and Republicanism is invincible.

Mr. President, I move, sir, that this Convention declare that Gen. J. C. Abbott, A. H. Galloway, and S. S. Ashley, are our unanimous choice as candidates from New Hanover County as delegates to the Constitutional Convention.

Motion carried amidst great applause.

A New Method of Recording Votes.

Letters-patent have just been issued to four gentlemen—James E. Beardsley, Augustus P. Boyle, E. M. Lewin and M. A. Clancy—all residents of Washington, for an invention which if it can accomplish what is claimed for it, will greatly facilitate the operations and economize the time of legislatures and all other deliberative bodies.

By an arrangement of wires similar to that of the hotel-annunciator, connecting the desks of the members of a deliberative body with the voting apparatus members are enabled to vote all at once, and after a moments time being allowed for a change of vote by any member who may desire it, the result—that is, the individual vote of each member, together with the aggregate respectively of the yeas and nays—are plainly shown on the dial plates. Simultaneously with the summary result, the name of each member voting is printed for the use of the reporters of the press. Eight distinct claims made by the inventors have been allowed by the Commissioner of Patents, and arrangements are being consummated for the construction of a machine for the use of the Common Council of this city.—Wash. Chronicle.

The inventors named all belong to the Bohemian Brigade.

Experiments with Electric Light.

NEW YORK, October 16.—An experiment was made in Whitehall street last night with the electric light, recently invented by a Frenchman, with which he claims to be able to light up the city with a single lamp more completely than gas companies can do. The light on exhibition last night was so bright as to be painful to the naked eye, and cast bright gleams all over the bay.

A Bostonian recently from London tells of an American bar-room which he visited, in Leicester square, at which, among other drinks, were "Maiden's Blush," "Copper Reviver," "Eye Duster," "Gum-Tickler," "Rat-tsnake," "Eye Opener," "Stone-Fence," "Older Cup," with some dozen others.

THE DRUNKARD'S DAUGHTER.

"We cannot find words to express our emotions when we first read the following touching verses. They stir the soul to its very depths, and we duty a man of feeling to read them with a tearless eye. A young lady, whose life has been made wretched by the drunkenness of her father, is the author; and only one who has walked in the depths of sorrow, could write such a powerful piece. She wrote and sent it to a friend, who had called her a 'monomaniac,' in her bitter hatred to the 'deadly cup.'—St. Louis Press.

Go, feel what I have felt,
Go, hear what I have borne—
Sink 'neath the blow a father dealt,
And the cold proud world's scorn—
Thus struggle on from year to year—
Thy sole relief the tear.

Go, weep as I have wept,
O'er a low'd father's fall,
See every cherished promise swept,
Youth's sweetest turned to gall;
Hope's faded flowers strew'd all the way
That led me up to woman's day.

Go, kneel as I have knelt,
Implore, beseech and pray—
Strive the besotted heart to melt.
The downward course to stay—
Be cast with bitter tears, aside,
Thy prayers buried, thy tears defied.

Go, stand where I have stood,
And see the strong man bow
With quaking teeth, lips bashed in blood,
And cold and livid brow;
Go, catch his wand'ring glance and see
There, mirror'd his soul's misery.

Go, hear what I have heard,
The sobe of sad despair,
As memory's feeling fount hath stirred,
And its revealing tears
Have told him what he might have been,
Had he the drunkard's fate foreseen.

Go, to my mother's side,
And her crush'd spirit cheer,
Thine own deep anguish hide,
Wipe from her cheek the tear—
Mark her dimm'd eye, her furrow'd brow,
The gray that streaks her dark hair on
Her toll-worn frame, her trembling limb,
And trace the ruin back to him
Whose plighted faith in early youth
Promised eternal love and truth—
But who, forewarn'd, hath yielded up
This promise to the deadly cup,
And led down from love and light,
From all that made her pathway bright,
And cheer'd her here, to sad want and strife,
And lowly thing—a Drunkard's Wife,
And stamp'd on childhood's brow so mild,
That withering blight—a Drunkard's Child.

Go, hear, and see, and feel, and know
All that my soul has felt or known—
Then look upon the wine cup's glow;
See if its brightness can atone,
Think if its flavor you would try,
If all proclaimed—"Thy drink and die!"

Tell me I hate the bowl!
Hate is a feeble word!
I loathe, abhor—my very soul
With strong disgust is stirr'd
Whene'er I see, or hear, or feel
Of the dark beverage of Hell!

A young lady from the seminary at M—, being asked at the table if she would have some more cabbage, replied: "By no means; gastronomical satiety admonishes me that I have arrived at the ultimate culinary degeneration, consistent with the code of Esculapian." As she drew back from the table, it was concluded that she meant she had "eaten a heap."
