The President's Complaint Against General Grant.
 The New York World of yesterday contains a Washington letter purporting to give an account of a conversation between members of the Cabinet at the meeting on the 17th inst., relative to the action of General Grant in connection with his retirement from the War Office. Four of the members are represented as comparing notes on this subject, and stating their recollections of what General Grant said and did previous to and after giving up his ad interim position. In view of the authoritative denials already made to the charge that Gen. Grant promised the President his assistance in any form in preventing the reinstatement of Mr. Stanton, we do not deem it necessary to enter at length into the consideration of the statements made by the World. We may call attention, however, to one point in this report, which exposes the efforts of the President to entrain General Grant and use him as a catspaw with which to pull his chestnuts out of the fire. One of the four Secretaries in question is reported as using the language: He (Grant) said that the discussion in the papers had caused him to look over the law, and he had found troubles in the second and first sections. He (Grant) remarked that he did not wish to be subjected to imprisonment and fine; when the President replied: "Why, I told you, General, that I would take all the imprisonment and pay all the fines that might be imposed upon you."
 And again, the President himself is reported as saying: On Saturday, when he (Grant) referred to the tenure of office act, I told him that I would take all the imprisonment and pay all the fines that might be imposed upon him under its provisions. When he arose to leave the room I repeated the remark, for I wanted to know whether or not he intended to hold on to the office, designing to relieve him if it was his purpose to yield it.
 That a man confessedly engaged in such an attempt to cheat another, as is disclosed here, should complain of other having cheated him is somewhat laughable, if nothing worse. The President (assuming him to be correctly reported) admits that he sought to induce General Grant into disobedience to the law, holding out to him the compelling promise that he would take upon himself the fine and imprisonment prescribed as the penalty of the course he desired him to take. The civil tenure act provides that if the Senate refuse to concur in the suspension of an officer, "such officer so suspended shall forthwith resume the functions of his office, and the powers of the person so performing its duties in his stead shall cease." Section 5 further provides that "if any person shall contrary to the provisions of this act, accept any appointment to, or employment in, any office, or attempt to hold or exercise any such office or employment, he shall be deemed, and is hereby declared to be, guilty of a high misdemeanor, and upon trial and conviction thereof, he shall be punished therefor by a fine not exceeding ten thousand dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding five years, or both said punishments in the discretion of the court." Mr. Johnson does not issue any official order to General Grant by which he would render himself responsible for resistance to the law, but he gives him his verbal assurance that should he (Grant) get into trouble by breaking a law of his country, then he (Johnson) will step into his shoes and submit to the fine or imprisonment, or both, incurred by such action. Even if the law admitted of any such vicarious atonement, one cannot be surprised that General Grant should have hesitated to trust himself to such a trail bark as the President's promises. So palpable is the attempt of the latter to overreach him, that this complaint of having been overreached by him is supremely absurd. The simple truth evidently is that he esteemed General Grant an inexperienced sort of man, who could be readily imposed upon, and resting in this comfortable faith, felt confident of the successful working of his plans. He was disappointed, and his disappointment was proportionate to his hopes of an easy victory. This is where the shoes pinch. Is it not that Mr. Johnson has been cheated, but that he has been handsomely foiled in an elaborate attempt to cheat, over which he feels so sore and about which his friends make so much ado.—Washington Chronicle, 24th.

Advertisement of an Honest Reseller.
 Friends and Neighbors: Having just opened a commodious shop for the sale of "Liquid Fire," I embrace this easy opportunity of informing you that on Saturday next I shall commence the business of making drunks, paupers, and beggars, for the sober, industrious, and respectable portion of the community to support.
 I shall deal in "familiar spirits," which excite men to deeds of riot, robbery, and blood, and by so doing diminish the comforts, augment the expenses, and endanger the welfare of the community.
 I will undertake, at short notice, for a small sum, and with great expedition to prepare victims for the asylums, the poorhouses, the prisons, and the gallows.
 I will furnish an article which will increase the amount of fatal accidents, multiply the number of distressing diseases, and render those who are harmless incurable.
 I shall deal in drugs which will deprive some of life, many of reason most of property, and all of peace; which will cause fathers to be fiends; wives, widows, children, orphans, and all, mendicants.
 I will cause the rising generation to grow up in ignorance, and prove a burden and nuisance to the nation.
 I will cause mothers to forget their suckling infants, virgins their priceless innocence. I will corrupt the ministers of religion, obstruct the progress of the Gospel, defile the purity of the Church, and cause temporal, spiritual, and eternal death; and if any should be so impertinent as to ask why I have the audacity to bring such accumulated misery upon a comparatively happy people, my honest reply is, Money.
 The spirit trade is lucrative, and some professing Christians give it their cheerful countenance.
 I have a license, and if I do not bring these evils upon you somebody else will.
 I live in a land of liberty.
 I have purchased the right to demolish the character, destroy the health, shorten the lives, and ruin the souls of those who choose to honor me with their custom.
 I pledge myself to do all I have herein promised. Those who wish any of the evils above specified, brought upon themselves or their dearest friends, are requested to meet me at the BAR, where I will for a few cents furnish them with the certain means of doing so.

 Some statistics of the match business in Europe are of interest. The daily consumption is estimated at two thousand million a day, although the use of these useful articles dates back to only 1832. In the course of a year estimated consumption would require only about 110 tons of wood, and if in a solid block would amount to only 120 cords. The weight of phosphorus used and wasted in the process is greater than that of the wood on which it is placed.
 A Mississippi paper estimates that 100,000 couples have been married in that State during the past year. As the whole population in 1860 was less than 800,000, this must be regarded as a very large percentage.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.
 On account of the number of ladies that receive on Wednesday of each week, it may not improperly be designated as "Reception day." The weather was favorable for calls yesterday, it being one of those rare winter days when the pleasant sunshine and bracing air makes out-of-door exercise delightfully healthy and invigorating, and as a consequence the receptions were largely attended during the afternoon and evening.
 Chief Justice Chase and his accomplished daughter, Mrs. Senator Sprague and Miss Nettie Chase, received their friends last evening, and their parlors were crowded until a late hour by the most distinguished people at present in the Federal Metropolis. The Chief Justice was attired in a plain suit of black, Mrs. Sprague in a dress of blue velvet, out low in the neck, with ruffled lace collar, and Miss Nettie Chase in a blue silk, tastefully and becomingly trimmed.
 Among the ladies who received during the afternoon were the following:
 Mrs. Postmaster General Randall gave a magnificent reception at her residence, corner of 14th and L streets. The grace and dignity which characterize this lady, and the cordial welcome she extended to her guests made the occasion a very pleasant one. She was handsome attired in a purple brocade, the sleeves, body and skirt tastefully trimmed with bugle gimp.
 Mrs. Secretary McCulloch was assisted in the reception of visitors, at her residence on H street, above sixteen-and-a-half street, by Misses Bailey and Mann. A very large number called during the afternoon; and the pleasant manner in which they were received and entertained by the ladies made them loth to depart. Mrs. McCulloch was dressed in a green silk poplin, trimmed with white bugles.
 Mr. Howard introduced in the Senate today a resolution (which was agreed to) requesting the President of the United States to communicate to the Senate any and all instructions given to General Pope on his being assigned to the command of the Fourth Military District under the reconstruction acts, or at any time while in command thereof; also, any and all instructions given to General Meade on his being assigned to the same command; also, copies of any and all minutes of the discussions, opinions and votes in Cabinet meetings respecting the construction of said act. Mr. Bucklewell moved to reconsider the adoption of the resolution, but it was postponed till to-morrow.
 A despatch has been received at the Navy Department from Commander E. Barrett, of the United States steamer Quinebaug, dated Rio de Janeiro, December 13th, 1867, announcing his arrival there on the 8th of December, all well. Also a despatch from Commander R. W. Shufeldt, of the United States steamer Wachusett, dated St. Thomas, January 15th, 1868, announcing his arrival there from St. Helena, and expected to sail for New York in a few days. Officers and crew all well. Also, a despatch announcing the arrival of the United States ship Idalu at Rio de Janeiro, after a passage of thirty-nine days from New York, the greatest run in one day being 314 1/2 knots.
 The Committee on Reconstruction held a meeting this morning, eight members being present. The following bill, drawn, it is understood, by Hon. Thaddeus Stevens, was discussed, and finally agreed upon by a vote of five to three:
 Be it enacted, &c., That appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of the United States shall not extend to any act done or which shall be done or to any proceeding had or which shall be had under or by virtue of the act entitled "An act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," passed March 2, 1867, or of the several acts supplementary thereto; and all such cases now pending in said court, either by appeal or otherwise, from any decision or proceeding had in the premises in any district or circuit court of the United States, shall be dismissed by said Supreme Court and no record of any proceeding had or which may be had before either of the district commanders under either of the said acts, shall be removed to or reviewed in any other tribunal, either upon habeas corpus quo warranto, or in any manner whatever."
 It is understood that the vote upon the bill in committee was:—Yeas—Messrs. Stevens, Bingham, Paine, Boutwell and Beaman. Nays—Messrs. Hubbard (Republican), Brooks, and Beck.
 Mr. Thayer introduced in the Senate today a bill (which was referred to the District Committee) authorizing the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia to appoint a Marshal of the United States for the District of Columbia, whose powers and duties shall be the same as those of the United States Marshal for the District under existing laws; the said Marshal to receive the same compensation as the Marshal now receives for like services; and from and after such appointment the office of the said Marshal now held under appointment by the President shall cease.
 Juarez has tendered Romero, late Minister here, a position in his Cabinet as Minister of Finance. Romero will accept the office; but before entering upon its duties he will probably return to this city for a short time.
 It seems to be thought that the Supplementary Reconstruction bill passed by the House, will not be taken up immediately in the Senate, and that when taken up it will hardly be passed in its present shape, if at all.

S. T.—1608—X.
 The language of nature and experience states that whoever would enjoy the pleasures of food—the beauties of landscapes—the joys of companionship—the richness of literature—the honors of station and renown—must preserve their health.
 The stomach is the receptacle of all nourishment, and the fountain from which all parts of the body derive sustenance. The effect of foul injurious food entering the stomach, is to derange the digestive organs and produce headache, loss of appetite, unrefreshed sleep, fetid breath, low spirits, feverish burnings, constipation, incapacity to perform any mental or physical duty, &c., and are the symptoms of that horrid disease which assumes a thousand shapes, and points towards a miserable life and premature decay. The Medical Faculty has labored for generations to discover reliable appetizers and the proper means of overcoming stomach derangements. Certain ingredients have been long known as partially effective. Among these were
DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS.
 They act with unerring power, and are taken with the pleasure of a beverage. They perform most wonderful cures in stubborn cases of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Nervous Affections, Loss of Appetite, Intermittent Fevers, Diarrhoea, Sour Stomach, Headache, Dropsy, Ague, Weakness, Mental Despondency, &c. As a morning appetizer and after dinner tonic, they should be in every family. They are a delightful exhilarating stimulant, without any subsequent stupefying reaction.
IMPORTANT CERTIFICATE.
 ROCHESTER, December 28th, 1861.
 Messrs. P. H. DRAKE—Gentlemen:—I have suffered terribly with Dyspepsia for three or four years, and tried many remedies without effect. I had to abandon my profession, and suffer greatly from everything I ate. I have now tried the Plantation Bitters—they helped me—I continued their use, and am now nearly a well man. I know of several similar cases. Respectfully yours,
 Rev. J. S. CATRON.

INTelligent persons and physicians can judge on the efficacy of the Plantation Bitters from the following partial formula:
CASCARILLA BARK
 Was known and used in Germany for Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhoea, Cholera, Dysentery, and Diseases of the Stomach and Bowels, as early as 1699
DANDELION.
 For Inflammation of the Lungs and Spleen in Dropsical Affections and Biliary Secretions, or Obstructions of the Abdominal Viscera.
CALISAYA, OR KING'S BARK,
 Was unknown to civilization until the middle of the 17th century. Humboldt makes favorable mention of the fabulous quantities of this article as an Antidote Fever and Ague, Intermittent and Malarious Fevers, in his extensive South American travels. The Countess, wife of the Viceroy of Peru, having experienced the beneficial effects of the Bark, sent it to Europe in 1640. It was sold by the Jesuits for the enormous sum of its weight in silver, and was thus called Jesuits' Powder. In 1658, Sir John Talbot employed it with great success in France, in the treatment of Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Nervous Affections, Loss of Appetite, Weakness and Debility. P. L. plaitation of the Bark, Diarrhoea, &c., under the name of English Powder; and in 1676, he sold the secret of its origin to Louis XIV, by whom it was divulged. It is now a standard remedy in all Pharmacies, and is employed in preparing the Plantation Bitters.
Chamomile Flowers, for embelishing Rheumatism; Wintergreen, valuable for Scrotula, Digenatism, and Neuralgic Affections; Lavender Flowers, aromatic, stimulant and Tonic, highly invigorating in Nervous Debility; Asafoetida, an aromatic carminative, creating flesh, muscle and milk. Much used in nursing.

S. T.—1600—X.
 Another ingredient of this remarkable and wonderful virtue used in the preparation of these Bitters, is a native of Brazil, and as yet unknown to the commerce of the world. A Spanish writer says: "I administered with St. Croix Rum, never fails to relieve nervous tremor, wakefulness, disturbed sleep, &c., and that it is used with great effect by the Brazilians, Spanish and Peruvian ladies to lighten their color and beauty. It imparts cheerfulness to the disposition, vigor to the appetite, and brilliancy to the complexion."
 We withhold its name from the public for the present.
 To the above are added Clove Buds, Orange, Caraway, Coriander, Snake Root, &c., all preserved in perfectly pure
ST. CROIX RUM.
 The tonic properties of St. Croix Rum, and its powerful invigorating effects, have been long known to the physicians of this world. Billions, intermitted, and Chill Fevers, engendered by the change of water and diet of travelers, particularly upon western rivers, are prevented and cured by the Plantation Bitters. They are also reliable to prevent sea sickness.
