MAYOR'S COURT, TUESDAY, APRIL 7, 1898

Jasper Walters, colored, suspected of having been one of the lately-delivered jailbirds, was released from custody, as the evidence adduced did not substantiate.

Three white men named respectively Jas. Mason, John White, and Thomas Granger, were charged $5 each.

Another white man, named Lee, (not a Christian name, as he said he had no Christian name) arrested for creating a disturbance, was discharged.

George Mark, white, brought up for being found drunk, was remanded for further examination.

Wm. Rose, colored, having been proven guilty of the several offences of creating a disturbance, and of resisting and abusing the police, was fined $10.

NOT HURT MUCH

Yesterday morning the community in the vicinity of Fourth and Church Sts., were considerably alarmed by an awful crash and some terrible screams, occasioned by the falling of a house and by the flight of the inmates, whose escape from the falling timbers and bricks was miraculous.

A great-grand-daughter of Madame River, the sister of the tragedian Racine, has just died at Soissons, France. She was eighty-two years of age.
