SABBATH EVENING.

'Twas night, and o'er the desert moor,
The winter storm-gusts wildly blew,
And so we closed our cottage door,
And round our cheerful wood-fire drew;
Each join'd the hymn of evening praise,
Then told a tale of Bible days.

First Charlie, in his little chair,
With sober face his tale began,
And told us of the faith and prayer
Of Daniel in the lion's den;
And how the lions were afraid To kill the righteous man who prayed.

Then Henry spoke of Israel's guide,
The cloud by day, and fire by night,
And said, whatever might betide,
To trust in God is always right: For he is still, to those who pray, A fire by night, a cloud by day.

And little Mary told of three
Who once a fiery furnace trod,
Because they would not bow the knee In worship to an idol god; And how to save them from the fiame The Son of God in glory came.

Then cousin Susan told of One, Who kindly all our sorrows bore; Though rich in heaven, on earth became For us so very, very poor, That, though the foxes had a bed, He had not where to lay His head.

The tale was told, a sparkling tear
Rose brightly to each youthful eye,
And then in accents soft and clear,
Our evening hymn again rolled high;
The little girl and little boy
Joined in the strains of solemn joy.

Then grandpa pray'd, that good old man, With wrinkled brow and hosry hair; While all the little children ran To kneel around his elbow chair : And thus the Sabbath evening pass'd In peace and pleasure to the last.
