CITY ITEMS.

The stalls of the Market will be rented on Tuesday next.

A Cincinnati editor calls the local editor of a rival paper a "long whanger."

Cole's great extravaganza menagerie will show to the city next Tuesday. Don't forget the day. Everybody is going to see it.

Old "Harry," keeps the grape hulls swept off of the sidewalk on the south side of Market street. Bully for old "Harry."

Hon. A. M. Waddell will deliver the address at the opening of the Cumberland county fair, to be held in Fayetteville next month.

Repair the broken pavements and relieve a right of head ache and secure the possibility of some of our physicians doing a job of mending broken skulls.

THE LAST NUMBER. The last number of the paper contains the valedictory of its editor in which he says: "We regret that our patronage is not sufficient to insure another year's success, but it is the want of patronage that compels us to stop our publication with this number."

ERRATA. In our article last week in regard to the free schools, an omission of one line [illegible] the manuscript caused quite an error. The names of the young ladies appointed as assistants at the Williston school should have read: Misses Mary W. Howe, Sarah Jane Brown, Isabella Howe, Maggie Read and Mrs. Vinetta Green.

The editor acknowledges the receipt of an invitation from the Board of Aldermen, of the town of Shelby through the Mayor, L. N. Durham, Esq., to attend a dinner to be given in that place on the 7th inst. He hopes to be able to attend and to make the acquaintance of our mountain friends, who have lately been brought so much nearer to us by the completion of the Carolina Central Railway to that place.

HOWE'S GREAT LONDON CIRCUS.—We direct attention to the advertisement of this great London Circus which appears on the fourth page of to-day's issue. We clip the following from the Frankfort, (Ky.,) Yeoman, in regard to it:

"The parade through the streets was by far the finest, longest and largest ever before seen. It was also universally conceded that it was the newest, the most complete and magnificent in all its appointments that has ever yet visited Central Kentucky. The Circus, the Menagerie, the Hippodrome, the Golden Chariots, everything, was first rate in its kind. And well was it patronized, both in the day-time and at night."

"J. C. Abbott, late United States Senator, passed through town this week, on his way to Asheville. We learn that the General is speaking of moving to some of our western towns. We would like to have him locate in Shelby.—Banner.

Thank you, Mr. Banner, but we propose to keep the General with us. We cannot afford to loose so enterprising a business man nor so uncompromising a Republican. We have room here for hundreds more of just such citizens.—And when the people of North Carolina learn to appreciate men for their integrity, their energy and their moral worth, and cease to abuse and villify on account of political principles, we will have more such men as Gen. Abbott among us.

THE PURCELL HOUSE.—This popular hotel has been lately enlarged by the addition of the building adjoining, recently occupied as the National Hotel, thus rendering it one of the most spacious, in the south. It has also undergone a thorough renovation, and under the management of the indomitable Davis will present to the travelling public such accommodations as are rarely met with in the south.

MR. H. H. BLOOM, of our city informs us that on Monday last, 27th, one of his Italian hives turned out a large, strong "swarm." This is the latest in the season we believe, that such a thing has occurred. He is of the opinion that with ten or twelve days of fine weather, they will accumulate enough honey to support themselves until spring. This has been an unusual bountiful year with the bees, as well as with the tillers of the soil.

BROKE HIS ARM.—We learn that a lad of about 14 or 15 years of age, the son of Mr. George Hall, of this city, met with a painful accident on Wednesday night last. He was walking in company with two other boys, in the neighborhood of the street car track in the Southern portion of the city and striking his foot against a stump in the street, fell, fracturing his left arm above the wrist very badly. He repaired to the office of Dr. Wm. G. Thomas, who rendered the necessary aid.

EDENTON, N. C., Sept. 27, 1875.

DEAR SIR: For the last two weeks THE POST has failed to come to hand. Please give it your attention and forward, as I do not want to loose a single copy of your valuable paper.

Very respectfully,
Yours, &c., M.

The package for Edenton is regularly mailed at this place, and we are confident that its failure to reach its destination is not due to any dereliction of duty on the part of the employes of the office here. We shall give the matter our attention and try to remedy it in future.

OUR LIVING AND OUR DEAD.—We have received the October number of this really valuable and interesting magazine. The historical department contains several interesting articles, among them Gen. Clingman's report of the fight near Goldsboro, Col. J. K. Marshall's report concerning the same; the 58th N. C. at Chicamauga; Terry's Fort Fisher expedition, etc. In the literary department, "Margaret Roselyn," by Mrs. C. W. Harriss, of this city, is continued; "Queen Mary," by T. B. K., and other interesting articles. Taken all togther this number is not a whit behind any of its predecessors, and gives unmistakable evidence on the part of its proprietors to make it worthy of the support of the people of the State.

WHAT NEXT?—The Charlotte Democrat wants "the payment of a poll tax before allowing any to vote," to "apply to a vote for or against the new Constitution," and says: "The good people of the State will be satisfied with the work of the convention." Well, that is a dodge to keep the people from voting on that amendment anyhow. And we have never yet been able to reconcile to our minds that the revolutionists intended to submit any of the amendments they propose to make to the Constitution to the people for ratification, if there is any way to get around it.—They lied and swindled the people out of the control of the convention, and they will not hesitate to avail themselves of any means to foist their Constitution on the people, whether they will it or not.

THE PUBLIC SPIRIT.—We have received the prospectus of the above named paper, which is to be published weekly in Fayetteville in a few days. Messrs. W. M. Decker and H. R. Kinlaw, Publishers and Proprietors. The proprietors say that "The Pubic Spirit" shall have a deserving rank as a live newspaper. It will be independent in politics, but will not shrink from the advocacy of any measure affecting the public welfare. Its columns will be open to the fair discussion of any question which may concern the good of State or nation. Its selections will be concise, yet comprehensive; and there will be no better medium by which the people may be so informed of all that is transpiring in the World of News, political, social, moral, commercial, financial, &c., as through "The Public Spirit." We wish them success.

THE COLUMBUS COUNTY PARRICIDE.—The trial of John W. Lamb, the Columbus county parricide, took place at Lumberton on Wednesday last. The Robesonian says: "The facts in the case go to prove that it is one of the most cold blooded murders on record. It seems that the father whipped the prisoner on Wednesday evening, for not doing as much work (weeding peas), as he should have done, and on Friday evening about dark, the boy told his sister that he intended to kill his father that night; that he waked his sister up about midnight, and had the gun in his hand, that he told her he intended to kill his father, and that when she started to wake up her father he rushed forward and placing the muzzle of the gun in about three feet of the back of the head of his victim, he fired; she then screamed aloud, but was promptly silenced by her brother. Only three witnesses were examined, and the girl was corroborated. She confessed on the stand, to have told two different stories, one of which she was forced to tell by her brother, the other she told after he was arrested."

"After a full charge the jury retired and in about three minutes brought in a verdict of guilty. We were looking at the prisoner when the word 'guilty' was pronounced. Not even a change of countenance betrayed itself, and nothing but an anxious glance which he cast around assured the people that he realized the situation."

BUSINESS.—The Fall stocks of some of our merchants are beginning to arrive. The sidewalks in various places are being piled up with good boxes and the stores in question begin to present quite a lively appearance. Our impulsive and sanguine merchants predict a large increase of business, while the more cautious and "level-headed" are taking things coolly, and can see nothing to base any extraordinary revival of trade in their different branches in the immediate future. So we will divide the two extremes and predict an average Fall business. At all events our country merchants, and buyers generally can rest assured of one fact, and that is, that our merchants will be prepared to fill all their orders, be they great or small, as promptly and as cheaply as can be done in any city in the South.

RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS.—The Asheville Pioneer says: "News comes to us from the east that his Excellency Gov. Brogden has appointed Maj. W. W. Rollins, of Marshall, and Mr. W. S. Pearson, of Wilson editor commissioners of the Western Railroad. The third party is not named, but it is thought that Mr. Myers, of Charlotte, will be the man. The enquiry and duties of the Commissioners are to report on the completion of the road. Every one interested in the success of the enterprise will be glad to see the commissioners at work."

SUPERINTENDENT.—We are pleased to learn that his Excellency, Gov. Brogden, has appointed the Col. party and no long recognized the claims of Wilmington and Eastern North Carolina. W. P. Canaday, Esq., editor of the Post, is the gentleman appointed the commissioner and we are authorized to say has accepted the position. We are pleased in being able to make it a commendable, not merely as a matter of "home pride," but we feel that the interest of the city of Wilmington will be safe in his hands.

ADVERTISE.—We have never taken it upon ourselves to blow our own trumpet and will not now propose to do so. But as we are an advertising man and avowed a believer in advertising system and wish to avail ourself of the benefits derived therefrom we have concluded that this was an opportune moment to say to our merchants that as an advertising medium the columns of the Post are unsurpassed. Our circulation has greatly increased within the past twelve months, and we think we can safely say that our paper reaches as many readers, as those of some that exhaust themselves in blowing over their circulation. We are now printing fifteen hundred papers, which are sent from one end of this State to the other, and our circulation is continually on the increase. We look upon advertising as purely a business transaction, and our columns are open to those who wish to avail themselves of them. We do not beg or drum up advertising, as we feel that we always give our patrons value for the money received. And any man that will stop to enquire into the political principles advocated by a paper, and let them be his guide as to his patronage, is undeserving success in any community, and we are not one of those to "court such favors." We shall endeavor to make the Post entitled to the advertising patronage of our merchants upon its own merits and from the fact that it will be to their interest to do so—without regard to Democracy or Republicanism.

MEETING OF TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES.—A meeting of the Board of Trustees of Wilmington township was held Monday evening, present Esqrs. Stacy Van Amringe, Anthony Howe, Henry Brewington and Jos. C. Hill.

On a motion of Justice Jos. C. Hill, a committee of three, the Chairman of the Board inclusive, was appointed to enquire into the legality of the action of Thos. M. Gardner, Esq., a Magistrate of Federal Point Township, in establishing an office in this city and performing the duties of the position in Wilmington township, and report the same to the next meeting of the Board. The Chair appointed Justice Hill and Cassidey as said committee.

S. F. Potts, Clerk of the Board, presented his bond for $1,000, with R. A. Price and G. C. W. Muller as sureties, which, on motion, was received and referred to a committee consisting of Justices Brewington, Cassidey and Sampson, with instruction to report at the next meeting of the Board.

Justices S. VanAmringe, J. C. Hill and Henry Brewington, the committee appointed to examine into and report upon the annual Statement of the Clerk and Treasurer, and also the report of the Auditing Committee, all for the fiscal year ending Sept. 1st, 1875, reported that they had examined the same and found them all correct and recommend that they be approved and placed on file.

MOVING DAY.—To-day, the 1st of October, is general moving day in our city. Many of our merchants have changed their places of business, and it will take some time for them to settle down to the new order of things and get their business in running order. Many of them have delayed ordering their fall supplies until they had become certain as to where they were to hold forth. This matter now being settled, we may soon look for lively times among them. Each will vie with the other in his display and all join in a generous rivalry to out sell his immediate competitor. Every one will have the cheapest and the best, but the buyers will constitute themselves the judges after all. We have in our midst an energetic and reliable set of merchants as can be boasted of by any city of a like number, either north or south, and we venture to assert that as few, if not fewer, failures take place here in Wilmington than in any city of like importance either north or south. We wish them one and all, abundant success during the coming year, and hope their most sanguine expectations may be more than realized.

While on the moving subject we must not forget our good ladies, who are so deeply interested. This is certainly "the day of their discontent," but we hope it will be made "glorious" by their being snugly ensconced before sundown in a domicile more to their taste than the one they have just vacated. It is said that "three moves is as bad as a fire," but this is one unpleasant duty that the dear ones are always ready to undertake. As anxiously as the little ones look for the "Christmas Tree" and expect to find each succeeding one more laden with presents to their taste, so also do our good wives expect to find their new homes supplied with some convenience in which their former one was deficient. May their fondest hopes in this respect always be realized. We will remind the "lords of creation" that they must bear in mind, however, that to-day, like wash-day, is the occasion when you are not to imagine yourselves masters of the situation. Cold dinner of no dinner at all, must not be taken into consideration, and if you want to prove yourself worthy in the eyes of your better half, of the confidence reposed in you "Auld Lang Syne," go home, doff your coat, and help put up bedsteads and tack down carpets, etc., etc.

RENTS.—We have been a little surprised, taking into consideration the tightness of the times, the depression in all mercantile and mechanical pursuits and the fall in wages for all kinds of labor, that the prices charged by landlords for their tenements are not in accordance therewith. When mercantile business is sluggish, and when it is all that our merchants can do to make both "ends meet," as a natural sequence the rent of their stores and places of business should come down in a like degree, and when the prices paid for labor decline, so also, should the rent of the houses in which these laborers live, but it seems to us that in this city, such is not the case. Our merchants are now called on by the owners of the property they occupy to pay quite as much now as they did when their business was lucrative and their prospects bright and encouraging. The same prices are also being charged by the owners of residences occupied by mechanics and laboring men, this coming year that have been charged in the past, when labor was remunerative and readily obtained. Not only have the wages of the clerks, mechanics and laborers generally been reduced, but the officials of the city also have been subjected to a reduction of the salaries paid. And our most prominent merchants feeling the necessity of retrenchment, in order to meet the various demands upon them, have acquiesced in the general curtailment and are retrenching their own personal expenses in every manner possible to enable them to weather the coming season. We notice that in the large cities of the north the rents of both stores and residences, for the coming year, is from 25 to 50 per cent. less than last year. Stores in New York city that commanded $1,200 last year are now rented for $700, and residences that were occupied at $1,000 are now rented at $400, and says the New York Herald: "These are but few instances that might be given of decrease of rents." When rents in such business centres as New York, Baltimore and Philadelphia are down within a living margin, we cannot see what inducement is offered the property owners of this city to endeavor to keep up the rents on their stores and residences. We know that when approached on this subject, say taxes and insurance are the same, but this argument will not hold good, as we are assured that, while taxes and the insurance may be the same, somebody's property in this city has been lessened in valuation $100,000 by the assessors for the coming year. We hear a good deal of talk in regard to revival of trade, large crops made and a hopeful future, which all looks magnificent on paper, and upon this, we presume, our landlords predicate an ability on the part of the renter of their property to pay up promptly, all of which we devoutly hope may be realized, but we think it would be much more magnanimous and business-like to meet the issue as they now find it, and regulate their terms accordingly; it would be much more agreeable at the end of the year to find their tenants a few thousand dollars ahead of their calculations than the same amount behind. Our motto is to "play for what you see" and never "go it blind."

THE GREATEST OF THEM ALL.—A GIGANTIC EXHIBITION SOON TO BE HERE.—As will be seen by the immense show bills posted in our city, we are soon to have one of the largest and most complete shows that is at present on the road. We have been disappointed and deceived until it is a real source of gratification that to feel assured that at last we will have an exhibition worthy of patronage. The Great New York and New Orleans Zoological and Equestrian Exposition, will appear on our principal streets on Tuesday, October 5th. In speaking of the great show, we can do no better than quote the following from the Buffalo (N. Y.) Courier:

"The Great New York and New Orleans Zoological and Equestrian Exposition made its appearance in the city yesterday morning, and its procession commanded universal admiration. The dromedaries, the musk-ox, the numerous dens of wild animals, the brilliant cavalcade, and the new famous Parisian calliope, these and the other features which make up the cortege, presented a highly attractive appearance and to make our streets take on a gala appearance.

"Although the weather was threatening, in the afternoon, the attendance was very large, but it remained to the evening to put the monster circus pavilion to the test. Such an assemblage we have not seen together since Barnum paid us a visit last summer, and hundreds had to content themselves with an occasional glimpse of the performance in the ring. So great was the crowd, and so close the pressure upon the ring, that the performance did not commence until some time after the appointed time. In order to relieve the canvass as far as possible, the manager authorized his representatives to state that those who wished, could have their tickets returned to them, which would be good this afternoon or evening. About nine hundred persons availed themselves of the opportunity, but the great mass seemed disposed to take their chances. As it is probable that the attendance this evening will be very large and we advise families to go in the afternoon.

"Everybody seems bound to see all that is to be seen in this great establishment, and those who take time by the forelock and give up part of the afternoon to the great show, will find it to their advantage. Of the menagerie, it is enough to say that the claims of this great concern have been before the public for several weeks; that it is in all respects what it has been represented to be. The collection of animals and birds is unusually good; the Alaska Sea Lion is a veritable wonder. He can be seen at San Francisco in all his glory, but every body has not the time to go so far, or to the further Alaska to see the sea lion of the Pacific, and so the proprietors have bought them one and show the public how he conducts himself in his native haunts. A huge living Giraffe is among the features of this gigantic exhibition.

"But the most interesting feature of this Great Show, and that exciting the curiosity of the vast throng, was that marviel of mechanical ingenuity, THE WONDERFUL STEAM MAN. The most intricate and marvelous piece of mechanism in the world.

"The arenic department is simply complete and mediocre talent is conscientiously barred out of the rings. Miss Minnie Marks, M'lle Rosina Cook, and M'lle Adeline Rosalina, are all graceful and brilliant in their equestrianism. VanZandt, the French jockey, is a decided novelty in bareback horsemanship, and his performances are highly exciting. The other riders are fully up to the mark, while the acrobatic gymnastic and pantomimic performances are all fine. The leaping, vaulting and trapeze performances are unusually interesting, and the parts taken by the clowns and George Adams, are more varied and important than generally falls to the lot of these arenic appendages. M'lle Jessie, Young Leon, Mr. Batcheller, the VanZandt Brothers, the Bensley Brothers, the Austin Bros., Messrs. Holland, Murray, McIntyre, Long, Hart, Davis, and Rice, are all capital in their specialties, and Harry Cook's troupe of performing dogs please alike the old and the young.

"This great show has fully met its obligations to the public and crowded pavillions will be the order this afternoon and evening."

The Mississippi White Leaguers protested against Federal interference with the affairs of that State, and insisted that the State militia was quite capable of suppressing disorders. Acting upon the suggestion of the President and the Attorney General, Governor Ames set about organizing the militia, and proposed to equip two regiments, one white and the other black. This did not accord with confederate notions, and in order to prevent the formation of colored companies the white liners have obtained an injunction prohibiting the State Auditor from issuing his warrant for the payment of any claims arising out of such organization. Upon the heels of this intelligence comes the news that a company of 100 Louisiana leaguers, armed and equipped, have arrived in Mississippi Or the purpose of assisting in the delightful occupation of hunting and murdering the helpless blacks.
