Maj. J. A. Byrne, agent for the "New York Life Insurance Company," has presented the Post with some very beautiful calendars and alamanes for the year 1872. As works of art they are beautiful, for daily use they are most valuable. This Company is at the head of the Life Insurance Companies in America, and shows assets over eighteen million dollars. Such a Company must be safe. With such cash assets as belong to this Company the whole world might be insured and no risk run. When a man insures his lite for the benefit of his wife and little ones, he likes to feel secure, to be totally void of fear. In order to be so, let him patroize the "New York Lite," We see by our Raleigh exchanges that and its worthy agent, Maj. There to press his claims as a suitable candidate is not an office in the gift of the governments within the United States, worth seeking. The pay is always small, the responsibilities great, the abuse awful, and, when old and helpless, one is "left to the mercy of a wide stream." No man in office can be independent. He serves many masters, pays tribute to all. And yet hu misfortune was one that often befalls singers. Many a once tuneful voice among those who belong to the "genius homo" is utterly speiled by "cold in the head," or on the lungs, or both combined. For the above mentioned "croaker" we are not aware that

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28, 1872. Last night the snow, the "beautiful snow" came softly dropping to mother earth, the light, airy flakes piling one upon another and clothing the ground and trees and housetops with a garb of purest white; and this morning the unbroken sheet of purity; the trees loaded down with this weight of winter fruit; the little snow birds hopping about in perfect bliss, and the morning chimes from the church, dancing to the ear through the flecky space. made up a glorious opening for the Sabbath day. Soon, however, "Old Sol" burst through the light, filmy clouds, and e're the hour of noon his rays, and the carriages and foot passengers had made sad havoc with "Nature's covering. The past week has not been overcharged with evente; in the same questions of amnesty, civil service reform, civil rights and tariff have been backed to pieces, re-moulded and re-backed. 'Tis the same old story-democrats want everything for their benefit and our injury; while Republicans have only the good of the country at heart and despise the narrow and contracted views of their opponents. Even liberal (!) Republicans assert that four years of democratic rule would retard the advancement of the country and seriously injure our credit abroad; and, from the tone of the European press, it is evident that democrat and disunion are considered as synonymous terms, and any event tending to disrupt the Union, or change the present policy of the government would unsettle our securities with foreign capitalists. Morton, of Indiana, on Friday, likened the democratic party to a person riding backwards in a railroad car. who never sees anything until it has passed him; in other words, has his back turned to the future, and is continually blowing his horn on "dead issues,"

Among other matters which came up in the Senate during the past week, was the APPORTIONMENT BILL;

It is the only sure way of keeping a perfect school system in the South, which cannot be overturned, and our people should let their voice be heard in its support. We know full well how the present Legislature has rendered almost inoperative the excellent school system inaugurated by the former Republican body; and going back still tar-ther, we know how the school fund of North Carolina was mis-applied and used for re bellion purposes; and it certainly seems an necessity that the national government should take the matter in hand and guard against any like attempts in the future.

THE WHARTON TRIAL has resulted in a verdict of "Not Guilty." After all the fearful stories and reports pubprejudice the public against her, the poor woman has been acquitted. But even with the acquital she will always bear a stigma from the publicity given to the matter. There is certainly a great wrong done by the press in pronouncing judgment in such cases and trying to influence public opinion, for it is bound to affect the action of the court to a greater or less extent. The trial and evidence disclosed nothing but the fimelest of pircumstantial evidence; but such is the eagerness of the reporter to weave fearful tales that he can contort any widence to suit his desire. This desire of exaggeration on the part of newspaper men, must be suppressed, or it will lead to still worse results.
