

THE CAPE FEAR.

NUMBER 4.

WILMINGTON, N. C., THURSDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 19, 1876.

10 CENTS A WEEK

FAIR WOMEN AND BRAVE MEN.

MAY, 1853, OCTOBER, 1876.

An Elegant Flag Presented to the W. L. I. by the Ladies of Wilmington—Appropriate Speeches—The Company Off for the State Fair.

Ten minutes before 5 o'clock P. M., yesterday, the Wilmington Light Infantry, in full dress uniform, marched in good order up to the residence of Mrs. Thomas Meares, on Third street, where numbers of ladies were awaiting their appearance from the library, parlors and piazzas. As soon as the Company, accompanied by a considerable number of the veteran corps, formed in front of the house, Maj. John W. Dunham stepped forward and commenced the address. The flag, which has been previously described in these columns, was brought out, and, in the clear light of the delightful afternoon, we noticed that the Coat of Arms was painted in oil, with great skill, on the blue background, and that the legend, in gilt letters, was shown, in fine relief, by a border of imperial purple, as they shone upon the pure white silken side of the flag.

It was one of the most graceful and pleasing addresses we have ever heard. The theme and the occasion were enough to insure successful effort, but Maj. Dunham, especially in the latter part of his speech, was peculiarly happy in his manner of delivery and impassioned style of oratory. We can give only a short synopsis of the address, as it was entirely impromptu. Maj. Dunham said he had no sympathy with that sentiment that sneeringly condemned such organizations, but recognized in them the power to benefit the community. Young men composing these bodies often cement friendships that last, under the pleasant auspices, during a life time. He touched feelingly on the reputation the trained American citizen soldier bore throughout Christendom. Maj. Dunham said the company were the legatees of honors won by the W. L. I. of proud days gone by—a name borne without a stain since 1853, and which won imperishable laurels during the late war. They had been splendid specimens of Southern soldiery during that fearful conflict, and he added, when he said that he had exhausted the language of eulogy. In this connection, we give as nearly as we can a few striking sentences which were pronounced with the fire and vim of a true orator. "I have seen them gentlemen," said Maj. Dunham, "as they sat around their camp fires—half clad and half fed—with merry jest and song, met into tenderness as some melody, recalling home and those who dwell there, rolled through the eyes of the grand old warriors, causing them to turn aside and wipe away a tear. I have seen them under scorching suns and amid wintry snows—marking each weary mile with blood from bare feet! I have seen them go to battle as men go to banquets—with songs on their lips, and in the fire-fringed front of the fight do deeds of deathless daring which won an immortality of fame for themselves and the land of their love." These men, their fathers and brothers were the members of the Wilmington Light Infantry of 1871. This fact placed them under a heavy responsibility when they took that name upon them. The first members of the company, too, were the chivalry of the Cape Fear section. The ladies of Wilmington had presented them with an elegant token of their esteem, and it is possible the gift had a deeper meaning on account of the prestige of the name they bore, and while it was not required of them by the generous donors to bring back with them the contested plume and prize, yet they must sustain the reputation of Cape Fear gentlemen.

The flag was then handed to Captain Taylor by Major Dunham. Captain Taylor said: "MAJOR DUNHAM: In behalf of the Wilmington Light Infantry I receive this flag at your hands, which has been presented by the Ladies of Wilmington. "Sir: It is only the true Soldier and Patriot who can fully appreciate the donors of this beautiful gift, and I am sure that I do but re-echo the heart felt sentiment of every individual member of my command, when I say, God bless, protect and defend them. "Well do we know, Sir, that in their untiring efforts to procure this testimonial of their high esteem of the Citizen Soldier, that they have had many difficulties to contend with; but from the very first, they set out with the firm determination not to be daunted, but to make it a success, and with woman there is no such word as fail, and with them, too, be it justly said to their endless praise, "Where there is a will is always a way," and this flag is the result of their generous effort in our behalf. "Appreciating these difficulties, then, which they have had to contend with, the Wilmington Light Infantry will prize this flag the more highly. "During the year 1860 the Wilmington Light Infantry was the recipient of a flag nearly the fac-simile of this, which was also presented by the ladies of this good old city. That flag they carried with them during the entire four years of bloody warfare, upon many a hard-fought field, and although torn and battered by bullets and shell, and many of the gallant hands that had borne it to victory, were then sleeping their last sleep, the few who survived brought back the battered remnants of that flag to place it among the archives of the old Company, as a reminiscence of by-gone days, and as a treasure they dearly prized.

"Furl it for the hands that grasped it, And the hearts that fondly clasped it, Cold and dead as lying low; And that banner it is trailing, While around it sounds of wailing, Of its people in their woe."

For though conquered, they adore it; Love the cold, dead hands that bore it; Weep for those who fell before it; Pardon those who trailed and tore it, And, Oh! wildly they deplore it Now to furl and fold it, so."

"And, Sir, I am fully warranted in saying that the present organization of the Wilmington Light Infantry will take equal good care of the one just entrusted to their keeping, and if the occasion should ever arise, we pledge our lives and our sacred honor to guard, protect and defend it, if needs be, to the very death. "And now, Ensign Cazaux, into your hands I deliver this flag for safe keeping. Let not its sacred folds, at any time, be polluted by foul hands. Stand always true to your colors, whenever the occasion presents itself, and your comrades will rally around and defend it from any and every danger. "And now, Sir, through you we return our grateful acknowledgments to the Ladies of Wilmington for their beautiful donation, at the same time thanking you for the complimentary manner in which you have been pleased to refer to my command. "Since we take up our line of march this evening for the Capitol of the State, we will there proudly spread our beautiful flag to the breeze, and will assure the good people of North Carolina there assembled, that the women of the Old Cape Fear region of to-day are actuated by the same patriotic, noble hearted motives which characterized the women of the Revolution one hundred years ago, which made them the admiration of the whole world; and that the same fires of love and affectionate regard for all that is exalted and good, are rekindled in our beloved land and will be kept burning by their children, and their children's children."

Soon after the oratory was concluded the Light Infantry—a gallant body of men, well armed, equipped and accoutred—took their departure from the city for the State Fair at Raleigh.

Accidentally Shot. Yesterday afternoon, somewhere in the city a colored boy about ten years of age was accidentally shot by a pistol in the hands of his mother. She was taking the pistol (an old rusty one) from out of a trunk when it was discharged, the ball piercing his arm a little below the elbow. The name of the boy and the immediate locality of the accident could not be ascertained by the reporter.

Circulation. The subscription list of the CAPE FEAR is increasing with a rapidity almost, we believe, unparalleled in North Carolina journalism. At the present rate we shall soon be able to put in a claim for "the largest circulation of any daily in the State." The city is undoubtedly sustaining the paper in a manner most gratifying. Soon we shall have a fine run of subscriptions in the country.

Festival. The young ladies of Front Street M. E. Church propose having a Festival to-night, at Temperance Hall, opposite the City Hall, where they will serve the best of oysters, solid ice-cream, cakes, fruit and everything calculated to please the taste. Let everybody go.

Religious Services. There will be services in the First Presbyterian Church this evening at 8 o'clock; at the First Baptist and Fifth Street Methodist Churches at 7:30. Seats free.

New Advertisements. Centennial Excursion, through fare to Philadelphia for $20, or less as the route shortens, over the W. C. & A. R. R. and W. & W. R. R. A. Pope, General Passenger Agent. Murray & Co., Card announcing that the business of the firm will be conducted by Mr. George Sloan, surviving partner. Fire Insurance, Northrop and Cumming, who represent six companies. Binford, Crow & Co., flour, sugar, etc. Parker & Taylor, stoves, scuttles, bird cages, etc., etc. S. R. Etheridge, meat, vegetables. T. S. Burbank, drugs, &c.

For this section to-day the Probabilities are clear or partly cloudy weather, with stationary or rising temperature.

THE COURTS.

Mayor's Court. Officer Eagles, for abusing Alderman Hankins, in front of the Court House, on Monday, was fined $3 and costs.

Beverly Scott was arraigned for insulting and attempting to strike Officer Cutlar with a deadly weapon. The case was continued over until to-day.

CUMULATIVE EVIDENCE.

Holden's Confession Backed by Testimony from Daniel Johnson, Colored.—The Party Must Get Rid of Stephens.—What Stephens' Brother Thinks About It.

From the Milton Chronicle, Oct. 11: Gov. Holden is out in a long card in which he denies every material point set forth in the card of the Rev. Mr. Bailey. This springs a question of veracity between those two gentlemen. And now the question with the "jury" is, which one is to be believed? Mr. Bailey is a Baptist minister of as high character as can be found in the United States; he has no political aspirations; no motive on God's earth to misrepresent Gov. Holden; never gets drunk and never goes crazy. Would such a man deliberately belie Mr. Holden? Would he slander his brother and friend in the same church? Would he make up a lie on Mr. Holden? Would he aver that Mr. Holden told him this and that when he did not? The idea that he would is preposterous and absurd. And then do it without a motive? for none—none had he, on earth. And now let us consider Gov. Holden:

Let it not be forgotten that his confession of the facts as stated by Mr. Bailey would ruin him and damn his party, and hence no one supposed that he would admit the charges. When a man is arraigned at the bar for high crimes he enters the plea of not guilty, and Gov. Holden may be availing himself of the criminal's plea or he may not. Be this as it may, he is known as a political partizan and a cunning trader and trafficker in political perdition, and has much to lose by "confessing."

While on the subject of "who killed Stephens," we will remark in this connection that Daniel Johnson, a colored man and a leading Radical at Yanceyville, will testify that about two weeks prior to the murder of Stephens he held an interview with Gov. Holden in Raleigh—that the Governor complained to him of Stephens, and told Daniel "the party must get rid of Stephens." Daniel mentioned this to several persons in Yanceyville, on his return to his home from Raleigh, and if proof be wanting it can be had.

In addition, Stephens has two brothers living in Durham who (the Tobacco Plant) says have always thought their brother was assassinated by Radicals. We do not make this charge but the Plant says that Stephens' brothers at Durham have been, and are now, of the opinion that the Radical party assassinated their brother and for this opinion they have their reasons.

The Yellow Fever Wearing Out in Savannah.

From the Savannah News, Tuesday. The mortality report (published elsewhere) for the past twenty-four hours, ending at 6 o'clock P. M. yesterday, is of the most favorable character, and indicates the speedy abatement of the disease, if the favorable weather of the past two days continues. The interments were eight yesterday, of which three were of yellow fever, and of the total four were colored.

We think that the material has given out, as there is, perhaps, but a few in the city who have not had the disease in some of its modifications during the prevalence of the epidemic. We sincerely hope that the end has been reached, and that we may now be able to report a clean bill of health.

Weldon had snow and hail last Sunday.

WAR INEVITABLE.

MUTTERINGS OF THUNDER.

Russia's Military Movements—Three Powers Accept the Five Month's Armistice—Austria Not Decided—England's Interest—Bismarck Bidding His Time—Austria's Policy Like Russia's.

VIENNA, Oct. 18.—Courier just arrived with second letter from Czar to Francis Joseph with letters from Odessa report that 5,000 men have arrived from the interior of Russia to work on fortifications there.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The Times correspondent at Vienna learns that England, France and Italy have accepted five months armistice. Austria has not yet made her declaration.

The Times' review of the situation concludes: "England's interest is less immediate than that of Germany, Austria and France, and we may await with equanimity over the outbreak of war. But there may be a point at which regard for the well being and reputation of the British Empire would necessitate a resolute attitude."

A Times Belgrade dispatch says: Germany's attitude is, not understood by diplomats. Bismarck is supposed to be biding his time with a view of assisting if opportunity offers in a disruption of Austrian Empire.

At this hour the Stock Exchange is greatly excited and it is almost impossible to give accurate quotations. Russian securities have declined 7, making a fall of nearly twenty within a week.

War between Russia and Turkey is considered as already begun, and it is generally believed that other powers will become involved. Commercial and financial crisis in Russia and consequent heavy fall in Russian exchange adds to confusion.

A special dispatch to the Daily News from Pesth says: "Intelligence received here from Vienna states that England considers all diplomatic action at Constantinople at an end. This statement has produced a very gloomy feeling and war is considered unavoidable." The same journal has a dispatch from Vienna reporting that advices from Bucharest state that an agreement has been concluded between Rumania and Russia for placing Rumanian troops under Russian officers in case of war.

The Paris correspondent of the Times says he learns that all Russians in Paris under for years of age have been ordered to return home.

A special from Berlin to the Times announces that the Russian iron-clad Peter the Great is to leave Cronstadt immediately for the Mediterranean.

A correspondent of the Standard at Belgrade telegraphs as follows: "I have just received information that Russia has issued a circular note announcing that, in the interest of humanity, she feels bound to march troops into Bulgaria and Armenia. I cannot vouch for the truth of this, but it is not improbable. There are 82,000 men at the camps of Bender and 64,000 around Tiflis."

A dispatch to Renter's telegraph company from an official source gives the statement that Austria's eastern policy will conform to that of Russia and Germany.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—The Bien Public's Semliu correspondent telegraphs that he has had an interview with M. Risties, the Serbian Prime Minister, in which the latter stated that the resumption of hostilities, in which Russia will participate, is certain.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—This afternoon's Globe, in the financial article, says there is a complete panic on Stock Exchange. The news of Russia's apparent determination to make war upon Turkey has confirmed the fears which for several days have depressed the market and culminated to-day in an indiscriminate pressure of sales of all descriptions of stock, not only by speculators stimulating panic bears, but by bona fide holders of securities, especially foreigners. There was at the opening further serious declines in quotations, and it was difficult to obtain prices at which bargains could be effected, fluctuations being so great, and the frequent changes include a reduction of 5 in Hungarian, 14 in Turkish, 2 in Egyptian, 3 in Italian, and less, but a considerable reduction in all stocks. The Times article says: "The hopes we fear so anxiously cherished must, we fear, at length be abandoned, and we must recognize the fact that negotiations are practically at an end, and that the two belligerents, now face to face in European Turkey, must be left to the consequences of their acts. Another twenty-four hours has brought no relief to the tension under which we have been laboring, and events are evidently moving too fast on the Danube to be arrested by the slow progress of even telegraphic diplomacy."

The Daily Telegraph, in a leading article, says: "England, much as she loves and desires peace, must wage war from end to end of the world, rather than permit the Russian flag to be hoisted at Constantinople, &c."

VIENNA, Oct. 18.—It is stated that a Convention has been concluded by Russia with the Rumanian railway companies by which the latter engages to make preparations for transporting, altogether, 250,000 troops, at the rate of 25,000 daily.

The official vote in Indiana is complete except Starke county, estimating which Williams' majority for Governor is 5,119. This is a Democratic gain of 4,000 over 1872.

The civil government of Bilbao has been suspended. Great uneasiness caused by arrests made by Spanish government.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Chamberlain Breaks the Law and Grant Backs Him in It.

WASHINGTON/Oct. 18.—An examination of the laws of South Carolina shows that rifle clubs, which Governor Chamberlain denounces as illegal and strictly forbidden by the laws of the State, are regularly chartered by the Legislature under the name of rifle clubs. There are a large number of colored companies chartered in the same way.

FORT MONROE, Oct. 18.—Gen. Barry received telegraphic instruction from Washington this morning to send four companies of artillery from this post at once to Columbia, S. C., to report to Maj. Gen. Ruger, commanding the department. Company I, Fourth Artillery, Capt. P. Loder; Company G, Tenth Artillery, Capt. Samuel S. Elder; Company A, Third Artillery, Capt. L. Lorraine, and Company C, Fifth Artillery, Capt. Wallace F. Randolph, were designated, to leave for that place to-morrow morning. This leaves only one company for duty.

SAVANNAH.

Fever Rapidly Abating, but not safe to return.

SAVANNAH, Oct. 18.—The following is published this morning:

OFFICE HEALTH OFFICER. Savannah, Ga., Oct. 18, 1876.

Absent citizens are cautioned and warned against returning to the city until official notice is given that it will be safe to do so. The decrease in the mortality report is encouraging and indicates an early termination of the epidemic, but I desire to say that it is far from safe for absentees to return.

(Signed) J. T. McFARLAND, M. D., Health Officer.

CONDENSED TELEGRAMS.

The Spanish pilgrims at Rome cheered for Don Carlos.

Tea statue of Gen. McPherson was unveiled yesterday, at Washington, amid fine military display.

A two days' reunion of the Army of the Tennessee commenced at Washington yesterday.

Mrs. House, who killed her husband, the divorce lawyer, has been acquitted at Trenton, N. J.

The Archbishop of Canterbury recently said that he did not think the controversy of the present day was with superstition, but with a growing infidelity, and if the clergy were not equal to the emergency, some great catastrophe might befall, not only the church, but the nation.

The religious papers are discussing the propriety of using ale in the communion service, when wine cannot be had, as was done by a Baptist congregation in Burma.
