WAR POPULAR WITH ITALIANS

King Leaves to Bid Fare- well to Troops

People of Italy Give Him Big Demonstration and Congregations Asked to Pray For the Success of the Italian Arms—Powers Will Make Representations to Turkey.

Rome, Oct. 9.—Friends of Rehid Pasha explain that his refusal to accept the Portfolio of Foreign Affairs in the new Turkish cabinet is due to a disagreement with his colleagues over the program he submitted as the basis for a settlement with Italy. He was convinced that the only possible way Turkey could save anything was to cede Tripoli to Italy now.

Demonstrations in honor of King Victor Emmanuel, as he proceeded from San Rossore to Naples, for his farewell to the troops embarking for Tripoli indicate that the war continues popular. Crowds filled the railway station and lined the route of the Royal train. Most of the Bishops have directed the clergy to urge the congregations to pray for the success of the Italian army. It is understood the powers will make representations at Constantinople, notifying Turkey that Italy, with a view to avoiding very grave complications has agreed to limit the war to Tripoli.

ANTI-TYPHOID VACCINATION

United States Public Health Service Issues Report Reproducing Favorable Findings of French Commission on New Virus.
Washington, Oct. 9.—The prevalence of typhoid fever in practically every section of the United States has inspired the public health and marine hospital service to press publicly its belief in the artificial immunity, with certain limitations, afforded by anti-typhoid vaccination, already compulsory in the American army for soldiers under 45 years of age.

In a report just issued the public health service reproduces the summary of the findings of a commission of the Academy of Medicine of Paris which investigated the subject. "Anti-typhoid vaccination," the French commission declares, "does not accomplish the complete disappearance of this infectious disease in the communities where it is practiced, but it diminishes very notably its frequency. Moreover, such of the vaccinated who contract typhoid fever notwithstanding have much milder attacks than non-vaccinated subjects. The percentage of deaths supervening among the former is one-half that of the non-vaccinated typhoid patients." In the judgment of the commission the vaccination should be practiced only upon healthy subjects, free from all organic or other defects and from local or general affection, on matter what their nature, especially tuberculosis.

GETTING READY FOR THE TRIAL

First Venire for Dynamite Case Assembles

One Hundred and Twenty Five Citizens, From Whose Ranks Jury May Be Obtained to Try the McNamara, Reported to Court Today—Something of the Two Accused Brothers..

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 9.—One hundred and twenty five citizens, from whom twelve may pass on the guilt or innocence of John J. and James B. McNamara, in Los Angeles Times dynamiting case, gathered in Judge Bornwell's court room today. The men constituted the first venire summoned as jurors in the McNamara trial, set to begin Wednesday.

The McNamaras.

This morning sitting in a corridor just outside his cell in the county jail, John J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, briefly sketched what he termed the uneventful lives of himself and his brother, James B. McNamara.

"I was born in Cincinnati December 23, 1876," he said, "and I am the oldest of six children living, although there were ten children originally. I attended the common schools in Cincinnati until I was twelve years old and then took a three-year course in a business college.

"Nothing of any importance happened to me until the panic began in 1892, when I turned my hand to anything and everything to keep the pot boiling, as they say. "I did my first bridgework at Cincinnati in 1898, joining the union the next year. Between 1898 and 1904, I visited various sections of the Middle West, following my trade and working on steel bridges, viaducts and similar structures.

"I have held all of the offices in local unions, particularly in those of Cleveland, and have attended all the conventions of the international association since 1902. I was elected secretary and president at the convention at Kansas City in 1903 and was chosen secretary-treasurer at Toronto in 1904. I have held that office ever since. "The last building I worked on was the Rockefeller structure in Cleveland. I left that job to go to Toronto, and it was held open for me if I wanted to go back, but I didn't, as I had been made secretary-treasurer and had my time fully taken up with the duties of that office.

"The offices of the international association were in New York when I was first elected. Later, for sentimental reasons, I was instrumental in having them moved to Cleveland. Two years after the offices were removed there, another change was made to Indianapolis, for the reason that so many labor organizations had their international headquarters there.

"I never planned my life far ahead. The work of an ironworker probably precludes such planning, for such a man does not know when he leaves home in the morning that he will return at night. It probably tends towards fatalism.

"I wanted to learn of the organization in which I held office, particularly the legal end of it, and so I attended the Indianapolis College of Law and was admitted to practice in 1909.

"There is little else about my life except my arrest. I am an inveterate reader, and always have been, of books treating with economics and industrial matters." James B. McNamara, who sat quietly by while his brother talked, also was born in Cincinnati. His birthday was June 2, 1882. He attended the common schools and then learned the printer's trade, which he has followed almost continuously ever since, working in job offices in Chicago, Cleveland, Cincinnati and other cities.

"Unlike me," said John J. McNamara, "my brother has never been especially active in trades union affairs."

Came Near Getting Away With Clothing From Down Town Store Today.

A "near robbery" occurred this morning at the clothing store of Mr. George W. Penny, on South Front street, when an unknown negro came within an ace of getting safely away with about $50 worth of clothing. Just after opening time this morning Mr. Williams, who is a clerk in the establishment, went to the rear of the store and found things to be in great confusion. He correctly surmised that something amiss had happened only a few moments previous as the store had been opened only 10 minutes. He called Mr. Mincle, who also clerks in the store. They peered out in the alleyway and discovered a negro making off with a package. Mr. Mincle chased the negro for about a block, when the miscreant became so hard pressed that he threw down the clothing. Mr. Mincle gave up the chase and returned with the suits. The police are working on the case.
