

THEATRE

"The Power of the Cross."
This noted and powerful bill, reaching a great lesson and yet one filled with wholesome comedy, will be presented tonight by the Mason and Street Company at the Academy. Tonight is the regular change night for the summer stock engagement and "The Power of the Cross" will indeed be a feature offering. A splendid cast will be seen in the play. A big new program of moving pictures will be presented, and new numbers by the full orchestra will hold merry sway. So it can readily be seen that a great treat is on tap for those who go to the Academy tonight. Last night's audience was one of the largest yet and thoroughly enjoyed the performance.

The same small prices, 10 and 20 cents, hold for the night. The matinee prices are 5 and 10 cents, and a matinee will be given tomorrow afternoon, the curtain going up promptly at 3:35 o'clock.

At The Grand.
The Grand has two swell and costly feature films on today. One is the New Orleans Mardi Gras, which will prove a brilliant offering.

The other is Pathe's Weekly, showing among other things:
New York, N. Y.—A tablet to the memory of the late Lieutenant-General Henry C. Corbin is placed in Corbin Hall on Governor's Island.
New York, N. Y.—The corner-stone of the Maine Memorial Monument is laid with Army and Navy officers presiding.

Washington, D. C.—The Arizona Delegation at the White House awaiting the signing of the proclamation making their Territory a State, and President Taft at his desk in the Executive Offices signing the proclamation admitting Arizona to Statehood.

London, England—A farmer in the suburbs uses camels and elephants to plow his land.

Special for the Ladies.
Paris, France—Advance spring styles in walking suits and afternoon house gowns.

FASHIONS

Accordion plaiting is introduced on some of the new gowns. The model illustrated here is of chiffon with a plaited tunic, which is looped up with fancy bows of ribbon. The bodice is made with a surplice effect and set in sleeves, which are edged with tiny ribbon flowers.

PLAID CHIFFON GOWN

Junior Reception.
The reception which will be tendered the graduating class of the Wilmington High School by the Junior class tonight is expected to be one of the most brilliant affairs of its kind ever conducted at the local High School. Both classes are large. All preparations are complete for the occasion, and all that remains now is the assembling of the young people tonight at 9 o'clock. The reception will last until 12 o'clock. The Class Day exercises will be held Friday afternoon, May 31st. Governor Kitchin will make the address of the occasion at the exercises, June 1st.

ALL YOU NEED IS A CASCARET TONIGHT

No Sick Headache, Bileous Stomach, Coated Tongue or Constipated Bowels by Meritine or Cascaret.
Turn the rascals out the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.
Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.
Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver; an dcarry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.
A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

An Engine of Torture.

The pillory was done away with by act of parliament in the year 1837, and it is amazing that it should have endured until that date, for it was a mode of punishment which could be made so extremely barbarous as to be a crying scandal to any nation. This engine of torture seems to have been known before the conquest under the name of "stretch neck," which is pleasantly suggestive of its functions. Edward I. enacted that all stretch necks should be made of a proper size so that the life of the occupant should not be endangered, and a print of the reign of Henry III. shows very clearly what the pillory was like in those days. The culprit was mounted upon a stool, at one side of which was fixed a pole, supporting a pair of boards hinged together and with holes cut in them large enough to admit the wrists and neck.

The hands and arms were thus held on a level with the face, and the appalling stiffness which this must have caused can well be imagined. Thus confined and powerless, the offender was placed in some public spot, where the ruffian employed themselves hurling dirt, sticks and stones at him until they were tired or until the object of their sport succumbed as not infrequently came to pass.

It would seem that primarily the pillory was intended for cheats of all kinds, such as mountebanks, fraudulent dealers in horses, coal, corn, etc., and we read in Fabian that the mayor of London in 1287 "did sharp correction upon bakers for making bread of light weight." He caused divers of them to be put in the pillory, as also one Agnes Daintie for "selling of mingled butter." Spoothesaying and other magic arts were also punished with the pillory.

It would appear that famous men did not appear in the pillory until after 1637, when a star chamber decree forbade the printing of any book or pamphlet without permission from the archbishop of Canterbury, the bishop of London or the university authorities and also made an order that any printer who did not conform to this an set up a printing press should not only be pilloried but also whipped through the city of London. Stafford is told by Garrard the way in which three men underwent their pillorying. "They stood two hours in the pillory. The place was full of people, who cried and howled terribly, especially when Barton was cropped. Dr. Bastwick was very merry. His wife, Dr. Boe's daughter, got on a stool and kissed him."

LIGHT THE CHANNEL

Bill Passed House to Mark Cape Fear Channel Properly.
Mr. James Sprunt, chairman of the Board of Navigation and Pilotage, has received the following letter from Congressman H. L. Godwin relative to an appropriation to provide proper lighting facilities on the lower Cape Fear River:
"James Sprunt, Wilmington, N. C.
The bill authorizing the Secretary of Commerce and Labor to complete the lighting and marking with aids to navigation of the Cape Fear river, at a cost not to exceed $30,000, has passed the House of Representatives. The bill has had my attention."
"H. L. GODWIN."

SAVIVATED BY DANGEROUS CALOMEL

If You Ever Saw a Man Salvivated, You Don't Want Any More Calomel Yourself.
There's no real reason why a person should take calomel anyway, when fifty cents will buy a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic, a perfect substitute for calomel. It is a pleasant tasting vegetable liquid which will start the liver just as surely as calomel, and which has absolutely no bad after-effects. Children and grown people can take Dodson's Liver Tonic without any restriction of habit, or diet. F. R. Bellamy's drug store sells it and guarantees it to take the place of calomel and will refund your money if it fails in your case.
