

WILSON'S RUNNING MATE FORMALLY RECEIVES NEWS

Able Democratic Governor of Great State of Indiana Officially Notified He Is His Party's Choice

Big Leaders Present and Scene of Enthusiasm Presented—Judge Alton B. Parker Spokesman for Notification Committee and Makes Powerful Speech For Democracy—Governor Marshall Responds in Forceful, Clear Cut Way—Great Parade and Other Notable Features of the Day at Indianapolis.

Wilson Wires Congratulations.
Trenton, N. J., Aug. 20.—Governor Wilson today sent the following telegram to Governor Marshall, at Indianapolis: "My heartiest, sincerest congratulations. It is a matter of deepest regret with me that I could not be present to extend my congratulations in person and to express again the warm satisfaction it gives me to be associated with you on the Democratic ticket. I should have liked to have a chance to join you in saying how confident I feel in the presence of the party's great opportunity to serve the people without fear, favor or timidity. Pray accept my warm personal regards."

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 20.—Governor Thomas R. Marshall was officially notified this afternoon that he is Woodrow Wilson's running mate in the approaching campaign. Judge Alton B. Parker, the party's Presidential candidate, in 1904 delivered the speech notifying Governor Marshall. Judge Parker took his text from Governor Wilson's notification speech, wherein is considered the partnership between the Government and privilege. He said Democracy could be relied upon to break up this partnership. "The faithful sons of Democracy," Parker said, "proud of their party's history, covering half century of Federal administration, welcomed at Baltimore the opportunity to substitute practice for preaching and performance for promise. Indeed they seized it by the nomination of Wilson and Marshall."

Thousands congratulated on University Square during the ceremony, Democratic notables from all parts of the United States attended. Thomas Taggart, Indiana's National Committeeman, invited the visiting committeemen and other leading Democrats to his hotel for luncheon at noon. An automobile parade through the downtown streets to the speaker's stands followed the luncheon. Another automobile ride was the program to come after the speeches, and was to wind up at Governor Marshall's home, where a reception will be given. Taggart is Master of Ceremonies, introduced Judge Parker. The set program ends with a reception at the Marshall home. Most of the party leaders expect to depart from the city before midnight, several going to Chicago, where central-west headquarters will be opened tomorrow. William G. McAdoo, acting National chairman of the Democratic National Committee, owing to the illness of Chairman McComb, attended the ceremonies as Governor Wilson's representative.

Governor Marshall's Speech.
Gov. Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, in his formal speech of acceptance of the Democratic Vice Presidential nomination delivered to the notification committee here today, attacked the Republican party on the grounds that it had fostered special privilege to the point of making men everywhere socialistic in theory if not in conduct.

In this connection he said: "It is idle for a thoughtful man in America, whether millionaire or pauper, to longer play the ostrich. Safety does not consist in hiding one's head in the sands of either sentiment or hope. It is foolish for the vastly rich to keep on insisting that more and more shall be added to their riches through a specious system of special legislation ostensibly enacted to run the government, in reality enacted to loot the people. "It is worse than ignorance for them to smile at the large body of intelligent Americans who regard themselves as fortunate if the debit and credit accounts of life balance at the end of the year; and to assume that the mighty many, who are becoming convinced that that social system that we call Democracy is but a glittering generality, will long endure the industrial slavery being produced. "Whether voting the ticket or not, men everywhere looking upon the awful injustice of this economic system are becoming socialistic in theory if not in conduct.

"And shall any fair-minded man say that it remains to the interests of the people of this country that a hundred men shall control its business to the good of everyone, that there is anything fallacious in the theory that government instead of transferring business to a favored few for the benefit of all should itself discharge that business for the benefit of all.

"I do not hesitate to say that if it be impossible to restore this Republic to its ancient ideals, which I do not believe, and I must make the ultimate choice between the paternalism of the few and the socialism of the many, count me and my house with the throbbing heart of humanity.

"The discontent in Republican ranks is Democratic discontent. How much of it has reached the point where wearied with the bad workings of a good system, it is willing to topple that system over and try something new, I cannot prophesy.

"But I am quite sure that whatever badges men may wear in America this year, whatever ballots they may cast, whatever battle cries they may utter, there are but three grades of citizens.

"The first grade is made up of the favored few, their hangers-on and their beneficiaries, who think this eagle is upon the dollar, not as an emblem of liberty but as an emblem of power and who look upon government as an annex to their business affairs; these are they who in the past years of Republican misrule have turned the temple of constitutional freedom into a money-changers mart and have made of the colored man's branches of the government obsequious lackeys of the jingling guinea.

"The second grade consists of those whose outlook upon life has been enlarged by the civilization under which we live, who have been taught by the school and the college, by the press and the magazine, who appreciate the good things of life, whose horizon has been enlarged and whose capacity for joy and sorrow has been increased.

"Conditions have become unbearable to them. They have reached the point where, in the struggle for that which they believe to be right, they are willing to destroy the ideals of the Republic. How many of these, there are, I do not know, but I do know that special privilege in the Republic is breeding them day by day like rabbits in a warren.

"The third grade of citizens it pleases me to call old-fashioned constitutional Democrats. These are they who believe that the equality of mankind does not consist in an equality of brain and brawn but in an equality whereby every man, native and foreign born, has an inalienable right to exercise all of his ability in getting on in the world just so he realizes that in getting on he owes it to himself, to his family, and to the Republic to see to it that he gets on honestly and that he does not prevent any other man from obtaining the reward of his honesty and enterprise.

"The old-fashioned Democrats believe in making money but they believe every dollar made should be so clean that an infant may cut its teeth upon it. And they hold that it is no part of government to boost one man and boot another."

TAFT CONFERS ON CANAL BILL

Great Britain Raises No More Objection

Representative From the British Embassy Holds Conference Today with President—Believes Taft Will Sign Bill Even if Congress Does Not Declare it No Abrogation of the Treaty.

Washington, Aug. 20.—President Taft held a brief conference today with A. Mitchell Innes, in charge of the British Embassy, who recently presented his Government's protest against certain features of the pending Panama Canal bill. Innes said he had not lodged any further protest against the bill. Visitors who talked with President Taft today said they believed he would sign the Panama bill, with the assurances were given that a resolution explaining that it was not passed to abrogate the present treaty could be put through Congress. The President discussed the question of the bill's approval at the regular cabinet meeting today, the third session this week. The Senate inter-ocean canal committee today debated the proposed resolution over in the House without action.

WHERE CATS NEED ALL THEIR NINE LIVES.

Washington, Aug. 20.—At the rate of fifteen a day cats of the District of Columbia are being killed off by the capital police force. More than 2,500 have been slain within a month and a half. The slaughter was ordered by the District Commissioners.

It is estimated that Washington has more cats than any other city in the world. Cats eat the song birds on the Capitol grounds and the squirrels in the parks. They wall in the back yards of statesmen and make them nervous. They fight on Pennsylvania avenue at night and attract crowds that block street cars.

BITTER WAR OF EPITHETS

Waged in House Today by Two Members

Democrat and Republican Go For Each Other With Gloves Off—Representatives Rainey and Austin Have Trouble Over Water Power Privileges.

Washington, Aug. 20.—For nearly two hours today the House listened to a surprising acrimonious debate between Representative Rainey, of Illinois, Democrat, and Representative Austin, of Tennessee, Republican, in which each charged the other with consorting with the "water power trusts" with being lobbyists and misrepresenting facts. So bitter was the feeling between them that the Sergeant-at-Arms occupied a strategic position near the legislators. Certain water power legislation, passed by Austin, Rainey intimated, was drawn in the interest of the "water power trusts." He previously had announced his intention to block it. Rainey read from carefully prepared manuscript, seeking to connect Austin directly with the trusts. Austin replied with bitter emphasis, banding the charges made against him as "untruthful statements." The House listened but took no action.
