MONEY ON THE TRACK

HELD UP A TRAIN

Bisop, Cal., Sept. 12.-Because a large monkey belonging to Miss Katherine Smith was not served breakpage and bit a young lady in the ankle, but could not make a meal of it; climbed all over a man he disliked, and finally held up a passenger train.

The Southern Pacific through its engineer and fireman, was astonished and frightened when the monkey, half standing in the middle of the narrow-gauge track and grimacing horribly, confronted the locomotive. The face was too much for the company and the engineer shut the throttle and threw on the brakes.

The started passengers got off and helped chase the chattering monkey away. The conductor delivered himself of an oration that wouldn't have served as an eulogium at the monkey's funeral.

As a climax he got mixed up, scramble-egged fashion, with a man named Mr. Monk, and scratched his face severely. The two-leaged Mr. Monk objected, and when he could find a gun he pumped shot into the fourlegged monk until he resembled a sieve and ceased to breathe. His mistress is disconsolate.

"Rented"--Which?

The best known and most successful Real Estate Concerns and Renting Agencies in Wilmington are those which avail themselves of modern means and methods of projecting themselves into prominence.

The question that must be answered by those who assume the responsibility of finding tenants for apartments and houses is: "What kind of a sign makes the best impression on property owners—'For Rent'-or-'Rented'?''

Liberal use of The Wilmington Dispatch's Business Special columns will bring the "For Rent" and "For Sale" signs down and put "Rented" and "Sold" signs in their places. This result is the natural sequence of intelligent publicity applied to all problems of selling and renting. Hundreds of people have not yet definitely decided upon another residence place for this season. The desire to buy their own homes is being born in the minds of hundreds more. Mental attitudes regarding domestic environments are changing constantly. Enterprising Real Estate men who realize this and display enterprise that is measured by aggressive advertising will keep themselves in the foreground of the development and progress of Wilmington.

An this is a big cashing-in season—an important period for the proper exploitation of apartments and houses to rent, and real estate for sale.

A desire for change must be appeased by new surroundings, and the right kind of advertising RIGHT NOW will be productive of paying results.

A profitable clientele awaits your cultivation among The Dispatch's big family of homeseekers. An aggressive advertising campaign will score an unusual business triumph for you.
