SATURDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1916.

The esteemed Durham Herald comes to hand with a bulky Fair Edition, which is decidedly entertaining and interesting. It is a good contribution to boosterism, and the folks of Durham county should appreciate it.

Who is going to win the world baseball series is by far more fascinating and nerve-quivering just now than who is going to be the next President of the United States. Perhaps, too, the country needs a respite of this kind, as exciting as may be the vacation.

The management of the Wilmington corn show should also not overlook a wood exhibit. This would be a most interesting feature, and can be easily obtained. There is plenty of wood hereabouts and Mr. W. H. Croker has some pulp that will make a most interesting, in fact profitable display.

Wilmington is going to observe "Fire Prevention Day" in the very possible way. It is going to allow the observance to center around the school, thereby instilling into the youngsters the caution that is so necessary these days in preventing fire, which not only causes needless loss of property but of life.

As it appears just impossible to conduct a Presidential campaign without money, for what may be termed "actual necessities," and as Wall Street is not going to give to the Democratic cause, and the Democratic cause wouldn't want it anyway, why it is up to the masses to donate the necessary coin for the Woodrow Wilson campaign.

The Republican campaign committee of Virginia has stretched a Hughes-Fairbanks banner across one of Richmond's streets. This is an utter waste of material, though it may not be of effort on the part of Virginia Reps., who will want to show up big at the distribution of "pie," should Hughes and Fairbanks get elected.

Today President Wilson will include among the coterie of voters who will listen to him a large number of Progressives. This is well, and for two reasons. First, the Democratic party is the one that stands for the real Progressive principles, and, second, it shows that there are many Progressives who hold principle dearer than greed. This latter, too, is a very gratifying trend of affairs so far as the Democratic party is concerned.

A press dispatch says that the President has received many telegrams congratulating him upon the personnel of the commission to investigate the eight-hour day operations. To the unbiased man there is nothing surprising in this, though Mr. Hughes may be expected to denounce the action. Probably will do so, unless the Republican "bosses" can get his ear soon enough to admonish him to go slow.

The next legislator from the Senatorial district, Hon. E. H. Cranmer, of Southport, is making a decidedly favorable impression upon the people of New Hanover. Mr. Cranmer is to be felicitated, too, in not remaining in his shell, but in coming to New Hanover so as to get acquainted with the people and become better acquainted with their wants. This shows a breadth of mind that augurs well for Mr. Cranmer making the district a good Senator. New Hanover, of course, is going to roll-up a whopping big majority for Mr. Cranmer, and he knows it. This very fact may have been calculated to make him inattentive, but it has not, which is very pleasing. Democratic Nominee Cranmer is preaching good doctrine, too.

HENRY FORD'S CONTRIBUTION.

The most valuable contribution to the Democratic cause has been made by Henry Ford. Not in dollars and cents, but in his support, and reasons therefor, of Woodrow Wilson. No other contribution is necessary from Mr. Ford. The fact that he has been a lifelong Republican, the further fact that he has not insisted on making it all, at the expense of the laboring man and the consumers, and his reasons for changing his politics, at this late day, are sufficient. The news that he brings that he has talked with many former Republicans and they intend to vote for Wilson is also a boon, as no one will question Mr. Ford's veracity or deem him such a politician as to "throw a bluff."

The Henry Ford reasons for supporting Wilson are worth remembering. Here they are: "I believe that President Wilson has solidified the independent vote of the country in his support as a result of the remarkable speech which he delivered on Saturday. It was a trenchant rallying cry to the men of conscience who are going to put aside titles and vote their own convictions on election day.

"The nation will be surprised by the number of these independents. I am convinced that the November election will witness an upsetting of party lines unprecedented in the history of American politics. I was born a Republican, you know, and voted the Republican ticket for many years, but I shall vote for Mr. Wilson in November.

"I have talked with many other Republicans who have resolved to do likewise. Mr. Wilson is assured of the undivided support of the real progressives of the nation.

"The President's speech on Saturday accomplished one important thing: it restored the campaign to its normal phase. By that I mean the contest is returned to the vital issues which are before the National to be passed upon—the record of the Wilson Administration in domestic legislation and in conducting the foreign relations of the Government.

"For several weeks the Republican candidate has been permitted to place a distorted emphasis upon the eight-hour day issue. I believe unreservedly that President Wilson and his Administration are on the right side of this issue, both in the sense of justice and popularity, but I do not regard the issue as vital in this campaign.

"The paramount issue is the issue of peace or war. It is for the Nation to decide whether it prefers peace and the maintenance of the high and noble policy of the President or a truculent policy which is certain to drag us sooner or later into the embroilments of war, wherein it is our duty to remain neutral so that our influence may be asserted in behalf of peace and the permanent welfare of Humanity.

"It remains to the Republican candidate to affirm his purposes with regard to our European policy and our policy toward Mexico. Whether he intends to or not, the implication of his criticisms of these existing policies points directly to our embroilment in Europe and an armed intervention in Mexico, designed to serve no higher purpose than to insure American investments at the cost of Mexico's aspirations toward freedom.

"The stamp of Wall Street, of the interests which see through dollar marked spectacles and can think only in terms of selfishness is upon the opposition of Mr. Wilson. People may rest assured if they defeat Mr. Wilson these men of Wall Street will make the people pay back the money with interest and may be with their lives.

"It is revolting to observe the leadership of a once great party contending that everything that the President has done was poorly done and wrongly done. That is demagoguery.

"The country is too prosperous and too confident of future prosperity to listen seriously when you say we are living in a fool's paradise of temporary prosperity. That is demagoguery again.

"It has been a real inspiration for me to talk with Mr. Wilson for several hours at his summer home today. I am more than ever convinced that the remarkable record of achievements which lies behind him is but the normal expression of a character truly great."

A SENSATIONAL SHOW.

Like the risqué show the Godwin-McCaskill joint debate is bound to draw the crowds. If they desire amusement in this way Wilmington people have much to look forward to, for, unless the steam is exhausted, the debate will indeed be fiery when it is staged in Wilmington the latter part of the month. The plans upon which it is being conducted, however, does not appear to be very elevating. The view outside the district does not appear very pleased. The Raleigh Times looks at the procedure of this particular joint debate in this way: "Judging from the reports of the Godwin-McCaskill debate, the Sixth District is going to have a monster

Congressman whoever is elected." The Greensboro Daily News is about of the same opinion. And it is a fact that discussion of National issues, save in a most lurid and muddy way, has been entirely lacking, according to reports. Still it may be so that Mr. Godwin finds it necessary "to fight the devil with fire."

Twenty-five Years Ago Today. 1891—An equestrian statue of General Grant was unveiled in Chicago.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY IN WAR.

October 7, 1915.—Russians turned on Germans and stopped drive toward Dvinsky; M. Zaimis became premier in Greece; Russian cruisers bombarded Bulgarian port of Varna; Greece's protest to Entente Powers against landing at Salonica made public; Bulgaria rejected demands and sent ultimatum to Serbia demanding the immediate settlement of Macedonian controversy.

TASKER POLK'S VISIT CANCELLED

Carolina Speaker Could Not Speak in New Bern—Water Traffic Heavy.

New Bern, Oct. 7.—Owing to the fact that he was taken ill yesterday at Kingston, Hon. Tasker Polk, of Warrenton, who was to have made an address before local Democrats in this city tonight, was unable to come to New Bern at this time and the address was cancelled. Mr. Polk will, however, pay New Bern a visit at a later date.

Tomorrow there will be Democratic speeches made at Dover, Cove City and Vanceboro and it is expected that these will be largely attended. Mr. D. E. Henderson, of this city, who has charge of the arrangements for these addresses by the Democrats, states that from now on the campaign will be spirited and that there will be a number of speeches made each day in the week.

Mrs. I. C. Churchill, of No. 921 Carrollton avenue, New Orleans, and her daughter, Miss Ida, are spending a few days in the city looking up records in regard to their ancestors who were residents of this section many years ago.

Mrs. Churchill has located the grave of the late Charles Churchill and has secured other information of interest to her. She is a descendant of the Lothrop family, who were prominent here years ago, and for whom the old Lothrop hall was named. She expects to return home within a few days.

Water traffic in this section just at this time is unusually heavy and a greater number of boats of all types from river steamers down to gas launches are tied up at local docks today taking on and unloading cargoes of merchandise.

During the past few weeks much of the shipping done in this section has been done by the water route and this is increasing each week. The shortage of freight cars has had a tendency to increase this, and during the past week several schooner loads of merchandise have been brought into New Bern from the North.

Shippers say that the water transportation by the water route is cheaper than by rail and that they are using this when shipments are not needed in a hurry.

Clear, Peachy Skin Awaits Anyone Who Drinks Hot Water

Says an inside bath, before breakfast helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Sparkling and vivacious—merry, bright, alert—a good, clear skin and a natural, rosy, healthy complexion are assured only by pure blood. If only every man and woman could be induced to adopt the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls, with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nervous breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance, awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.—Adv't.

Health and Hygiene

TO GROW PHYSICALLY PERFECT BOYS AND GIRLS.

Dr. B. H. Greenwood Says Animal Called Man, Has Been Neglected for Other Animals.

"What we need in this State," said Dr. B. H. Greenwood, of Waynesville, recently, "is not so much how to raise fine pigs and cows, apples and pumpkins, but physical men and women. At the various fairs," said he, "you find premiums offered for the finest horse, mule, calf, chicken, and for the best corn, wheat, peas and potatoes, in fact, for everything that a man can raise except his children."

"We have too long neglected the animal called man," says Dr. Greenwood. "In my own county we raise fine horses, cows, and pigs and get premiums on them, but little or no attention is given to raising the best physically of human beings. And this is not true of my county alone, but of the whole State. There is no society, club or organization in the State, with the probable exception of the Better Babies Contest, that has for its purpose the growing of fine physical manhood, and womanhood. No organization offers a premium for the strongest man, the most perfect woman, healthiest boy, and it's no wonder," says Dr. Greenwood, "that there are so many hollow-chested boys and girls, anaemic children and deficient men and women in the world today."

"People's attention has never been called to the importance of raising

FORECLOSURE SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain deed of mortgage executed by Robert Tucker, Junior, on the 26th day of May, 1915, and registered in the records of New Hanover County in Book Number 85, at Page 346, default having been made in the payment of the debt in said mortgage named, and the power of sale therein given having become absolute, the undersigned mortgagee, on Monday the 9th day of October, 1916, at 12 o'clock noon, at the Court House door, in the city of Wilmington, N. C., will offer for sale to the highest bidder for cash, the following described land and premises:

Lying and being in the city of Wilmington, North Carolina. Beginning at a point where the western line of Seventeenth street intersects the northern line of Grace street, and running thence northwardly along the said western line of Seventeenth street 188 feet to a 20-foot alley; thence westwardly, parallel with Grace street, 47 feet; thence southwardly parallel with Seventeenth street, 188 feet to the northern line of Grace street; thence eastwardly, along said northern line of Grace street, 47 feet to the beginning, the same being the eastern end of Lots 4, 5 and 6, in Block Number 473, according to the present plan of the said city of Wilmington, subject to a mortgage registered in the records of New Hanover County aforesaid, in Book Number 78, at Page Number 560. This the 8th day of September, 1916.

WINSLOW W. SMITH, Mortgagee. WILLIAM E. SMITH, Attorney. Sept. 8-16-23-30. Oct. 7.

physically perfect boys and girls. There are no charts nor exhibits, no instructions nor information given the people as to what constitutes a perfect man or woman from a physical standpoint. Yet we are taught all about how to raise pigs, cows and chickens. I want to live to see the day," says Dr. Greenwood, "when perfect boys and girls will be raised with as much pride as other animals."

"Well, you see, sir," replied the foreman, "it was this way. Bill went into the powder mixing room, probably thinking of something else, and struck a match in mistake. He—"

"Struck a match!" exclaimed the proprietor in amazement. "I should have thought that would have been the last thing on earth he'd do!"

"It was, sir," was the calm rejoinder.—EX.

Mike—"I did an extraordinary thing today. I had the last word with a woman."

Ike—"That so?" How'd it occur?" Mike—"Coming home on the car I said, 'Won't you have my seat, madam?' and of course they never say 'thank you'."—Exchange.
