"Lilac Domino" Pleased Two Big Audiences Yesterday at The Academy.

The "Lilac Domino" has come and gone and it has left a host of satisfied people. While the press critics of the country over have been favorable and have helped the show on no partiality has been shown and every word said has been deserved. The "Lilac Domino" is one of the real good shows Wilmington has had the pleasure of seeing and the wonder is how such a high-class production was ever allowed to stray so far from New York. Perhaps the company performing here was not so good as the one that played to New York audiences, but it was good enough and the crowds were satisfied and when such a happy condition obtains where can a kick be expected? Good crowds saw both the afternoon and evening performances and all went home satisfied. The "Lilac Domino" would draw handsomely were it to play a return engagement here.

There was enough comedy to keep the audience in a good humor at all times and the singing and dancing was of a very high order. The chorus was made up of a bunch of comely young women—something very unusual of late and all of them knew how to sing and dance. The airs were not of the kind that one will whistle today, but they were catchy and timely and left everyone in a happy frame of mind.

Miss Yvonne Dasle as Georgine or the Lilac Domino, captivated the audience from the start and she was ably supported by Bradford Kirkham as the Count Andre de St. Amant. However, Miss Marie Hamilton as Leonie D'Andorect was highly entertaining and much of the applause was meant for the work of this young artist. Joseph Carey and Edward Crawford as Prosper and Casimir, friends of the Count, furnished plenty of comedy which was of the very highest order and kept the crowd in a good humor at all times. Especially was this true of Mr. Carey, who bore all the earmarks of an old-timer. His lines were gotten off in a manner that was irresistible. The love affair of the Count and Miss Dasle was highly interesting, but all's well that ends well, and certainly this ended to the satisfaction of the audience.

Too much cannot be said of the dances of Miss Julia Pontane and Mr. Louis Fitcher and the crowd appeared determined to wear them out, but while the lady and gentleman

Senator W. B. Cooper Invited as General Carr's Chief Lieutenant.

It is expected that a number of prominent Democrats of North Carolina will attend the Wilson luncheon to be given at the Waldorf Hotel in New York City Thursday afternoon of next week by the Wilson Business Men's National League. Wilmington very probably will be represented.

Senator W. B. Cooper has been invited by General Julian S. Carr, of Durham, in charge of the North Carolina table, to be his first lieutenant, in a telegram received yesterday. Owing to the press of business matters Senator Cooper will be unable to attend. He telegraphed his regrets to General Carr and stated that he hoped to get a number of others to attend from this section.

Following is a copy of the telegram received by Senator Cooper: "New York, N. Y., Oct. 27, 1916. "W. B. Cooper, Wilmington, N. C. "The success of the North Carolina table at the Wilson luncheon to be given at the Waldorf Hotel, New York, Thursday, November 2, at 1 p. m., is in my hands. I have constituted you my first lieutenant. Be sure and come and bring a full delegation. I promise you and friends a corner seat.

"JULIAN S. CARR, "Wilson Business Men's National League."

GEORGIA TECHS GOT TIE OUT OF THE GAME

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 28.—Five thousand football enthusiasts this afternoon saw Georgia Tech and Washington & Lee battle to a 7 to 7 tie. Neither side scored after the first quarter and it was one of the hardest games ever seen here. Washington & Lee were enabled to score by blocking a punt followed by line plunges. Techs score came as the result of a 15-yard forward pass across goal line.

threw hundreds of kisses to their admirers they refused to dance themselves to death for the mere pleasure of the crowd.

The show was elaborately staged, the scenery being appropriate and of a nature to lend success to the show. Altogether "The Lilac Domino" is one production that would be given a warm welcome were it to play a return engagement.

Will Deliver Address in The Court House Next Saturday Night.

At the conclusion of the "Woodrow Wilson Day" celebration held in the Court House here last night Mr. Thomas W. Cooper announced that on next Saturday night at 8 o'clock, Hon. Ed. Travis, chairman of the corporation commission, of North Carolina, would make an address.

Mr. Cooper stated that Mr. Travis' address would be both along political lines and a discussion of the tax laws and systems of this State, which should prove of interest to almost every Wilmingtonian.

The chairman of the Corporation Commission has never spoke in this city before and it is hoped that quite a number of people will be present to hear him next Saturday night as he is a speaker of rare ability and one who can thoroughly interest his audience on most any subject and one who is thoroughly familiar with the political situation of North Carolina and who is well versed in the tax laws.

Harvard and Yale, Cornell and Pennsylvania and other intercollegiate football games are quite big affairs, yet no gridiron contest in this country has quite the zest of the annual meeting between the eleven of the military and naval academies. When these two meet on neutral territory, there is usually "something doing." With the victory of last year behind them, the West Pointers feel that they will again sink the sailors. The two teams meet in New York on November 25.

CAMPAIGN FOR NEW MEMBERS

Local Y. M. C. A. Will Start Spirited Race Monday. Twelve Hundred Goal.

A spirited race between two rival automobiles is to start Monday morning, both fortified with the material that will furnish the power to speed over the course of 1,200 miles to win the goal, which will be 1,200 members. Which will be victorious in the race largely depends upon the champions and the friends of the autos engaged in the contest.

Twelve hundred miles, representing 1,200 members, each mile covered in the race means a member gained. The friends of the association are loathe to lose a single member now on its books, because every member is held as a friend and any organization is dependent upon its friends not only for support from the contributions, but because a real friend gained is of more value through the interest and sympathy manifested in the cause than the money contributed.

The association is firmly established in our midst. Its numerous activities are real factors in the social service development of the community.
