

UNITED STATES IS AWAITING TO HEAR

Government Will Take No Action Pending Full Report From Consul.

SINKING OF THE MARINA INVESTIGATED

All Americans Aboard Torpedoed Ship Not Yet Accounted For—Affidavits of Survivors Being Taken For Washington.

Washington, Oct. 31.—Further reports from Consul Frost, at Queenstown, were awaited at the state department to show definitely whether the Marina, whose crew contained a number of Americans, was sunk without warning by a German submarine as reported "provisionally" by the consul yesterday.

Mr. Frost was expected to secure affidavits from the American survivors either today or tomorrow and to forward them immediately.

London, Oct. 31.—Capt. Browne and 50 members of the crew of the Marina are reported by the Press Association to have been drowned when the vessel sank off the Irish coast.

Americans Landed. London, Oct. 31.—A private telegram from Crockshaven from Robert P. Skinner, American consul general, says that among the survivors of the Marina are 16 Americans.

Number of Missing Reduced. London, Oct. 31.—The number of missing from the British steamship, Marina, which was torpedoed by a German submarine off the Irish coast yesterday, has been reduced to 13, according to a telegram received at the American embassy today from American Consul Frost, at Queenstown.

Mr. Frost's telegram to the embassy follows: "Fifty-two more survivors of the Marina landed at Castletown pier. Only 13 now missing—believed dead. No less than 36 Americans aboard, of whom 16 were saved at Crockshaven. There will probably be American fatalities. Survivors state that the vessel was torpedoed by a German submarine in a heavy sea without warning and that the vessel sank within ten minutes."

Mr. Frost is obtaining affidavits from the survivors and is ascertaining how many Americans are among the Castletown survivors.

The American embassy today received a telegram from the American consul at Glasgow, stating that the Marina left Glasgow October 25 for Baltimore and Newport News with 50 Americans aboard.

There were 45 Americans in the crew of the Marina. First reports of the sinking stated that only 34 members of the crew had been brought to land. Mr. Frost sent word yesterday to the American embassy at London that the Marina had been torpedoed, but the British officials admit it has not been ascertained whether warning was given or not.

There were 45 Americans in the crew of the Marina. First reports of the sinking stated that only 34 members of the crew had been brought to land. Mr. Frost sent word yesterday to the American embassy at London that the Marina had been torpedoed, but the British officials admit it has not been ascertained whether warning was given or not.

There were 45 Americans in the crew of the Marina. First reports of the sinking stated that only 34 members of the crew had been brought to land. Mr. Frost sent word yesterday to the American embassy at London that the Marina had been torpedoed, but the British officials admit it has not been ascertained whether warning was given or not.

There were 45 Americans in the crew of the Marina. First reports of the sinking stated that only 34 members of the crew had been brought to land. Mr. Frost sent word yesterday to the American embassy at London that the Marina had been torpedoed, but the British officials admit it has not been ascertained whether warning was given or not.

VIRGINIA GOES DRY AT MIDNIGHT

Nearly Thousand Saloons Will Go Out of Business By The Change.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 31.—This was the last day on which intoxicating beverages could be sold in Virginia. At midnight the new prohibition law goes into effect and 800 saloons in this state will close their doors for the last time.

Reports from all parts of the state told of large quantities being stored in private homes of citizens, in anticipation of a dry state. In this city thousands of gallons have been delivered to private homes.

The law stipulates that a person may order one quart of liquor per month, three gallons of beer, or one gallon of wine. This right remains to be tested in the courts.

A NOTED MURDER TRIAL HAS OPENED IN NASHVILLE

Prominent Man In Court Charged With Killing Lawyer.

CHARLES TRABUE TO FACE JURY

Tragedy The Outcome of The Famed Taxpayers' Suit—Killing Startled The State.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 31.—The case of Charles A. Trabue, who killed Harry S. Stokes, opposing counsel in the so-called taxpayers' suit, on April 26, last, was called for trial today. Mr. Trabue is charged with murder in the first degree and since the preliminary hearing has been under a bond of $25,000.

The tragedy which started not only Nashville, but all of Tennessee, by reason of the prominence of both parties, occurred in the private office of Harry Stokes at 11:30 a. m.

The evening of the tragedy Mr. Trabue made a statement in which he said that he had gone into the office to seek a signed statement withdrawing and apologizing for insulting things that he had said, and that Stokes made a violent attempt to assault him and that he shot to save his own life. What the insults were has not been made public.

Mr. Trabue is obtaining affidavits from the survivors and is ascertaining how many Americans are among the Castletown survivors.

SHALL CONVICTS GO TO TRENCHES?

Question is Much Discussed in French Republic—Arguments Both Ways.

Paris, Oct. 31.—The protection from German shells enjoyed by convicts through their own misdeeds, while the law-abiding men of France able to bear arms are making such heavy sacrifices, has raised a discussion as to the propriety of sending to the front of all able-bodied men now in prison.

"Jail-bird slackers," is the name given to men sentenced in 1914 or previously to periods of confinement that have carried them over the first two years of the war. A law recently introduced in the Chamber of Deputies by Pierre Ramel and Andre Hesse contemplates the incorporation of certain categories of these men.

The proposition was received with considerable satisfaction until a study of the question developed forcible objections. A great many people held that it would be according too much honor to allow convicts to fight at the front alongside the gallant soldier of the republic. Others held that the results would scarcely justify the experiment, while the number of recruits that could be obtained this way, estimated at the Ministry of Justice between 3,000 and 4,000, would furnish too small an effort to justify the risk. It would be necessary to provide an organization absolutely separate and distinct from any other arm of the service to prevent contact between convicts and the soldiers of the regular army.

A great many prisoners have begged for the privilege of a suspension of their sentence to permit them to go to the front, and have thus appealed with some force to the sentiment of charitably minded people. There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

HUGHES DODGES VITAL QUERIES AIMED AT HIM

Won't Answer Whether He Would Stop Shipments of Munitions.

INDULGES ONLY IN GENERALITIES

Interrupted by Heckler He Listens and Then Answers Only In A Round About Way.

Columbus, Ind., Oct. 31.—Charles E. Hughes today told a heckler that he was in favor of maintaining American rights in rights of travel and in shipping.

Mr. Hughes had been asked if he favored an embargo on munitions or a passage of a resolution by Congress warning Americans off merchant-ships flying the flag of belligerent nations.

Mr. Hughes was speaking of the competition that American interests will have to meet from Europe after peace was declared when a man said: "Mr. Hughes, as a personal admirer, may I ask a question?"

The nominee asked the crowd for quiet so the question might be propounded.

"In the event of your election," the man asked, "will you or will you not favor placing an embargo on the shipment of munitions to Europe or a passage of a war measure warning Americans not to travel on ships owned by nations at war?"

"I, sir," said the nominee, "am in favor of maintaining every American right, including the rights of travel and the rights of shipping. It is very important that we, as a neutral, at this time when the great war is raging, should vindicate our neutral rights and maintain the integrity of international law. To my mind it is a very thoughtful policy that would surrender important rights because of the sentiment which is concerned when we have the vast importance of the rights of neutrals to consider with regard to the furtherance of the United States.

"The foundation of American prosperity," Mr. Hughes was saying when interrupted, "is to be founded not simply in patriotic sentiment of a united citizenship. The foundation must be founded in sound governmental policies. We have in the world great opposition and great dangers. It is a new world we must face. The nations of the other side, after the war, are going to have efficiency, they are going to have great power, great discipline, alert manhood. They have had wastes, but the war has been a great driving power, perfecting organization and increasing the efficiency of the men and women. They have learned to cooperate, to work together. It is not time to tell American citizens that America is safe. It is not, unless it uses power to protect its citizens."

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

BAD WEATHER IS NOW BARRING THE WAR'S PROGRESS

Only Artillery Activity at Verdun and Along the Somme.

GERMANS REPULSED RUSSIAN TROOPS

Teutons Start Reprisals On Prisoners of War—Rumanians' Attacks Prove Failure.

Military operations in the entire war areas are being hampered by weather conditions. On the Somme front in Northern France the recent entente defeat in attacks in the Cerna only artillery fighting is reported. Similar conditions prevail before Verdun.

In Macedonia further progress for the French and Serbians, southwest of the Monastir region, is reported by Paris. The Bulgarians announce an entente defeat in attacks in the Cerna region, southeast of Monastir.

Russian troops, who yesterday attacked the German lines, near Krashin, met with sanguinary repulses according to today's official statement from German headquarters. Engagements on the Lemberg front in Galicia resulted favorably to Germany.

Efforts of the Rumanians to recapture positions along the Transylvania front yesterday were without success, the German office declares.

Germany has started reprisals on Russian prisoners because of Russia's non-compliance with Germany's demand for improved treatment of German prisoners, according to a semi-official announcement in Berlin. Certain Russian officers have been placed in camps where the discipline is especially severe.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

PRESIDENT IS WITHOUT FACTS ON THE SINKING

Gives Orders For Definite News to be Forwarded to Him.

STATE DEPARTMENT REPORTS INCOMPLETE.

British Admiralty Not Prepared State Marina Was Torpedoed—Most Serious Problem Since Sussex.

Long Branch, Oct. 31.—President Wilson was still today without definite information concerning the submarine attack on vessels carrying Americans to enable him to reach a conclusion.

It was said here that he had given directions that as soon as concrete facts could be gathered by the State Department they should be forwarded to him.

Dispatches Incomplete. Washington, Oct. 31.—Secretary Lansing said today that his reports on the destruction of the Marina, with probable loss of American lives, still were too incomplete to permit any discussion of the case.

Fuller reports with the affidavits of American survivors have been ordered by cable.

This morning's news dispatches said that some of the survivors had seen the wake of a torpedo and that the ship was struck but it added gravely to the situation.

Officials noted that the British admiralty was not prepared to say that the ship was torpedoed and Consul Frost yesterday said she was destroyed by gun fire.

Entirely aside from the first aspects of the case officials made it clear that no conclusions could be drawn until all circumstances had been made clear and evidence gathered in legal form.

Admittedly the case was viewed as more serious than any other since the destruction of the Sussex, since it is the only one involving American life, but the State Department gave no evidence of intentions, but has set about gathering the facts.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

THE DEUTSCHLAND IS ON THE WAY OVER

THIEVES SECURE MANY CIGARETTES

A. B. Croom & Co., The Latest Victim Reported—Attempts Investigated.

Six thousand Piedmont cigarettes were stolen from the wholesale grocery warehouse of A. B. Croom & Co., No. 228 North Water street, Sunday night, or early Monday morning, according to a report made to the police yesterday afternoon, about 5 p. m.

It is stated in the report, which was made by Policeman J. R. Minshew, that the theft was committed by some person who was concealed in the warehouse when it was closed in the afternoon as the thief or thieves left the building by drawing the staple from the inside of the rear entrance. When the store was vacated the door was closed by the guilty parties.

As there are 60 packages, each containing 10 cigarettes, to the carton, 6,000 "coffin tacks" means that there were an even dozen cartons taken off and as this is more than one person can well handle the officers are led to believe several persons were implicated.

Mr. B. G. Green, No. 620 South Seventh street, reported to the police last night that someone entered his home by removing a sash of one of the front windows. However, it was stated by Mr. Green that nothing was taken. Officer J. O. Bullard made an investigation of the matter.

On the strength of a message from Mrs. Katie Roach, No. 303 South Seventh street, about 12 o'clock last night, to the effect that some one was trying to enter her home through one of the windows, Sergeant J. S. Lane and Policeman W. H. Kermon, took the city's bloodhounds to the scene, but they failed to take a trail.

An effort was made by thieves to enter the grocery store of J. H. Sexton, No. 624 South Front street, Sunday night, but persons living next door heard the noise as the thieves were forcing an entrance through a rear door and loosed a dog into the yard where the would-be thieves were at work.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

That is The Belief in Quarters Among Folks in Washington Who Should Know.

WOULD LIKELY NOT MAKE NEWPORT NEWS

Danger Too Great There, But Nets Could Not Be Used Further Up The Atlantic Seaboard—They Would Endanger American Subs.

Washington, Oct. 31.—The Deutschland, the German submarine merchantman, is believed in quarters here that should know to be on her second voyage to this country. Knowledge of the date on which the vessel started is disclaimed.

It was said today that in future all German submarines coming to the United States, whether naval or merchantmen, will make New London or Newport their port of call. No more submarines will enter Hampton Roads because of the danger of nets being dropped to trap them off the Virginia capes.

American submarines are usually operating off Newport and New London at all times of the year. British nets dropped there might endanger American vessels and German officials do not believe the British would take a chance of netting an American vessel.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

WILL IMPROVE SEASHORE HOTEL

Directors Elected and Building Committee Named at Meeting This Morning.

At a meeting of the directors and officers of the Seashore Hotel Company, held in the Murchison Bank building this morning at 11 o'clock, directors for the ensuing year were elected and a building committee appointed with the idea of improving the Seashore Hotel wonderfully before the opening of next season.

The amount of money that is to be expended in improvements was not made public, but it was announced that the dining room capacity of the hotel is to be increased, a number of baths are to be added, the building is to be re-painted both inside and out, and the grounds improved. In fact, the Seashore Hotel will present a very changed and improved appearance when it opens its 1917 season for business.

The following were elected directors of the company for the coming year: Messrs. Joe Hinton, Edgar Hinton, S. M. Boatwright, Dan Penton and H. C. Bear. The following were named as a building committee to have active charge of the proposed improvements: J. H. Hinton, E. L. Hinton, E. H. Penton, H. C. Bear and James Owen Rellly.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.

There are precedents, however, showing that the men who have gone to the front to clear themselves of stains upon their record have not in every case justified the hope that was entertained.