

THEATRICAL GOSSIP FROM NEW YORK CITY

New York, Nov. 17.—William Faverham's production of Shaw's "Getting Married," at the Booth theatre has proved one of the most important events of the season. The exception of cast includes Henrietta Crossman, Hilda Spong, Charles Cherry, Arleen Hackett, Edwin Cushman, Mrs. Edmond Gurney and Virginia Fox Brooks.

A New York theatre finally has been obtained for Laurette Taylor. Before the end of the month she will be seen here in "The Harp of Life," written, of course, by her husband, J. Martley Manners. It will be a decided contrast to "Peg O' My Herat" for Miss Taylor will play a woman of thirty. Among those in her supporting company will be Philip Merrivale, Frank Kemble Cooper, Dion Titheradge, Lynn Fontaine and Ffoliot Paget.

After completing his tour in "Nothing But the Truth" William Collier will appear next spring as Bob Acres in "The Rivals." Next season he is to tour again in his present farce, and perhaps take it to London.

Minor items of news concerning the speaking stage are that Cohan and Harris will present "Under Pressure," by Sydney Rosenfeld, next month; John Cope is planning to appear in a dramatization of Churchill's "Constantin;" Miss Josephine Victor has secured the American rights of "The Red Robe," by Brieux; under the aus-ices of the Stage Society Mrs. Nazimova is to present Tagore's "Chitra." Sam Sothern is to be presented by the Shuberts in a character comedy called "Such Is Life," by Harold Owen.

A photoplay adaptation of "Oliver Twist" is to be released by the Lasky Company next month. Marie Doro will play Oliver, the role in which she was so delightful in the all-star revival a few seasons ago. Miss Doro is one of the few actresses who enjoy appearing on the screen in her dramatic successes. She was starred in "The Morals of Marcus" and in "Diplomacy." In "Oliver Twist" Tully Marshall will appear as Fagin. Hubert Bosworth will play Bill Sikes.

William Fox releases "Jealousy," starring Valeska Surratt, next Monday. Will S. Davis wrote the story and directed the picture. Miss Surratt's supporting cast includes Walter Law, Charlie Mayfield, Curtis Benton, Joseph Granby and George M. Adams.

Selig's feature released for the coming week will be "Hedge of Heart's Desire," a drama written by Mary E.

Jones, Eugenie Forde and Robyn Adair have the principal roles.

From a production standpoint, the most important announcement emanating from the Triangle-Kay Bee studios is that Director Raymond B. West has commenced work on the filming of the new play by J. G. Hawks, in which Thomas H. Ince will present Dorothy Dalton and Howard Hickman. This is a story of the stage, and Miss Dalton is seen in the part of an actress. The other two principal parts are those of a dramatic critic and an author, which are portrayed respectively by Hickman and Charles Gunn.

Earle Foxe, a popular leading man recently seen in several notable motion picture productions, has been engaged to play the role opposite Norma Talmadge in her new offering of "Panthea."

Director Herbert Brenon has commenced work on the big film production of "The Queen Mother." Florence Reed has been selected for the stellar role of this huge photodrama of medieval Italy. William E. Shay, who has played leading roles in a great number of successes, will have an important part. The costumes and settings for the piece, according to announcement, will be among the most elaborate possible.

Clara Kimball Young is soon to be seen in a film version of the novel by Thomas Dixon, "The Foolish Virgin." Miss Young has also begun work on "The Price She Paid," a widely read novel by the late David Graham Phillips.
