WARSAW.

Warsaw, Dec. 23.—The Little Confederates Chapter, Children of the Confederacy, was entertained by Miss Annie Lee Adkins at her home on last Friday afternoon. The regular monthly historical program, supplemented by a reading by Miss Julia Ricks and one by the leader, Mrs. Chas Carroll, was rendered, after which, the young hostess, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Anderson, served hot chocolate and wafers, followed by fruit.

The young men of the town gave a very enjoyable oyster roast, at a local cafe last Friday evening, complimentary to the teachers of the city schools, and other friends.

The Literary department of the Woman's Club was entertained by Mesdames Will Owen and Robert Browder at their home on last Wednesday afternoon. The program for the afternoon included a study of Boston and Women's Colleges and Their Student Life. The latter subject was handled very interestingly by Mrs. J. C. Russ. Mrs. C. A. Womack gave a reading, "The New Method Learning by Doing" after which Mrs. W. L. Hill spoke of Christmas Customs of the Germans, and Mrs. Chas. Carroll told of the Origin of St. Nicholas. Roll call was answered with responses from American poets. A new member, Mrs. W. O. Singletary, was added to the Club's lists. At the close of the meeting, the hostesses served an enjoyable salad course.

The third attraction of the Piedmont Lyceum course appeared here Tuesday night in the school auditorium. It was a concert given by The Westminster Concert Entertainers, consisting of Miss Dorothy Cole, Reader and Pianist; Miss Iras Wilson, Soprano, and Mr. Larry Ball, Singer and story-teller. They gave a varied and enjoyable program, in which each performer displayed rare talent in their respective numbers. Miss Cole, as an impersonator was equally good in her pathetic or humorous selections. Miss Wilson possesses a voice of high range and sweet expression, and delighted her audience with her singing, being especially pleasing in the number from "Madame Butterfly," sung in Japanese costume. Mr. Ball was at his best in Scotch songs and stories.

HOW DOES IT LOOK TO YOU?

(By W. C. Galloway.)

"It was many and many a year ago,"
In a garden, I believe,
A woman there lived whom you may know
By the name of Mrs. Eve,
Who sported the most dapper fig-leaf gowns—
The only style she'd weave.

It was all the rage in that far-off time,
They were made without any sleeve;

For fair summer reigned in that glorious clime,
In the garden of Mrs. Eve;
And every man went wild in all that land,
Over the gowns of Mrs. Eve.

But little by little from that purple day,
'Till twice ten years that have sped,
They lengthened the dresses in most every way,
Clear to the feet and up to the head,
And they covered the arms to the pretty white hands,
At which no Caesars bled.

But ever since then to the days of Mother Eve,
They've travelled fast and free;
For the low-cut gowns, they make one grieve—
With skirts only down to the knee,
Show they are drifting straight back to the fig-leaf gowns
With alarming alacrity;
But what will they do when old winter frowns,
With "nary" fig-leaf on the tree?
