Don't Envy Beautiful Hair. Have It!

Don't envy the woman whose hair falls in soft, shimmering ripples that seem to take years from her age. Hair of this beautiful kind is possible for nearly every woman. Treat your hair the Pompeian way and your friends will immediately remark, "How soft and beautiful your hair looks!"

Pompeian HAIR Massage is a pure amber liquid. Not oily. Not sticky. Will stop Dandruff and Scalp Itching. To get quick results, roll the scalp the Pompeian way (carefully described in booklet enclosed with every bottle). The massaging of the scalp wakes up the roots of the hair to new life. This massaging also opens the pores of the scalp to the wonderfully stimulating liquids in Pompeian HAIR Massage. Dandruff and Scalp Itching disappear. Your hair will become and stay healthy, vigorous and attractive.

Pompeian HAIR Massage cannot discolor the hair. Delightful and dainty to use.

Get a 25c, 50c or $1 bottle TODAY at the store, and prove to yourself the quick results possible.

Heavy Sentences on Manager McGraw.

(By Associated Press.)
New York, June 14.—The punishment of Manager John J. McGraw, of the New York National League Club, for striking Umpire Byron at Cincinnati, June 8, was yesterday fixed by President Tener at 16 days suspension and a fine of $500. McGraw will be eligible to play again June 26.

NEW YORK—DAY-BY-DAY.

(O. O. McIntyre).
(Special Correspondent of The Dispatch.)
New York, June 14.—The Smock Colony in Washington Square is trying to minimize the number of fancy dress dances in the square every week. They think one is enough. For the past four weeks there has been one every night.

Many of the younger set simply paint themselves over with gold paint like a steam radiator and then buy ten cents worth of cheese cloth for drapery. So many of them adopt this form of dress that it was rather startling at the "Masses" ball to see one lady in silver paint.

At about 5 in the morning Charles Hanson Towne, the magazine wag, turned to the silver-painted lady and with a yawn, said: "Darling, I am growing old; silver legs among the gold." And the lady giggled right out loud.

But do not think for a moment that all is frivolity in The Square. There are dozens, yes, scores, of the Little Groups of Serious Thinkers. When they are not going to fancy dress balls they are discussing Renoir's influence over Willy Glackens and knocking magazine editors who have no appreciation of an ounce of art.

Give the average one of these groups of black coffee and two dozen cigarettes and they can solve every one of the world's problems at one sitting. But they are all workers in the crowded vineyard of art. They laugh at the man and woman who arise at 7 a. m., work hard all day and bank bank accounts. What, says Washington Square, do these poor souls know about life?

The Pocket Playhouses have come to stay. At first they were laughed at by the Broadway managers and now they are shouting in the newspapers that they are a menace and weeds in the theatrical garden that need uprooting.

The truth is that the little theatres have brought fresh air into the drama and opened a field of dramatic literature that Broadway never would have entered. The little playhouses lack the crass commercialism that is the real menace to the Broadway theater.

When Louis H. Chalif erected a temporary studio building—costing a half million—to be devoted to the artistic dances, the gilded dancette proprietors laughed and tapped their heads significantly. Yet this quiet little Russian—ten years in America—with one fell stroke has practically killed the dances of shrugs and shirks and bunnyhugs and made the interpretive dance a part of social life.

New York is suffeted just now with charity and war bazaars. Formerly these affairs has Maurice and Walton and the Castles and the modern dancers as the star attractions. Now they have Greek, folk interpretive and other artistic dances to lure the crowds.

I have never played golf but I heard two men laugh so heartily over this joke stop a Fifth Avenue bus that I pass it on so that it may be appreciated by golfists.

"That was a fine drive made this afternoon" said the First Man.

"Which do you mean?" asked the Second Man.

"Why that time you hit the ball?" Seen around the town: A moving van owned by a man named Bumpus. A Broadway snake dancer knitting for soldiers at a Red Cross tea. A crippled woman with tiny flage pinned on her crutches. A man with a blood red silk shirt and light checkered suit trimmed in black braid. A girl elevator operator in an office building. A woman in a riding habit wearing a monocle. A club bear advertising a toothpaste in a Broadway drug store.
