dozen points from lowest on cover-

The market ruled fairly steady at noon but with a lessened trade, prices showing net losses of about 17 to 20 points. Increased offerings of new eron cotton were reported from Texas Reports that the Allies had agreed to the principle of international ocean reight regulations caused slight ralhes in the early afternoon, but on the idea that such agreement would not necessarily add to the supply of tonnage available, the market turned weak again and sold down to new low levels, October touching 23.94 and December 23.92, or practically $3 a bale under Saturday's close.

Used successfully a whole year all over the South

UCKEYE Lintless Hulls have been fed by farmers, dairymen and stockmen throughout the South for the past year. Reports

from these feeders indicate that these lintless hulls when properly fed, are a great improvement over the old style

By actual use, these feeders have found the following advantages of using Every pound of the Buckeye Hulls contains much more food value because the lint on the old style hulls has no food value. The price per pound of real roughage in the form of Buckeye Hulls is very much less than in the form of the old style hulls. Buckeye Hulls do not clog or flux the digestive tract. Other foods mixed with them are readily assimilated.

They are free of trash and dusta They are sacked and easy to handle. They take half as much space in the barn.

If you have not tried Buckeye Hulls, please remember that thousands of feeders are using them and will use no other roughage. If you have not given Buckeye Hulls a fair trial, let the experience of these successful feeders guide you in using them as they should be used.

Mr. Olwey Yarber, Booneville, Ark., has fed a carload of Buckeye Hulls to cows and calves to get them ready for the range. He had been feed-ing hay and he finds that they did much better on Buckeye Hulls as roughage. He has another car of Buckeye Hulls bought.

To secure the best results and to develop the ensilage odor, wet the hulls thoroughly twelve hours before feeding. It is easy to do this by wetting them down night and morning for the next feeding. If at any time this cannot be done, wet down at least thirty minutes. If you prefer to feed the hulls dry, use only half as much by bulk as of old style hulls.

Book of Mixed Feeds Free Gives the right formula for every combination of feeds used in the South. Tells how much to feed for maintenance, for milk, for fattening, for work. Describes Buckeye Hulls and gives directions for using them properly. Send for your copy to the nearest mill.
