GOLD HOLD—KEEP—SAVE OUR MEN.

Gold hold your precious men. Preserve them to the end. God hold our men. Safe in Thy arms so strong. Hold them from every wrong. To Thee they all belong. God hold our men.

God keep our dear dear men. From every stain of sin. God keep our men. When Satan would allure. When tempted, keep them pure. Be their protection sure—God keep our men.

REV. C. L. EVARTS.

God save our splendid men. Send them home safe again. God save our men. Make them victorious. Patient and chivalrous. They are so dear to us. God save our men.

The last stanza of this beautiful poem was the first to be written. Its author is unknown, but it has been sung quite extensively in Canada during the present world war. The first and second stanzas were written by Rev. C. L. Evarts at Montreat, N. C., during the summer of 1917 as the third and fourth stanzas. On account of their beauty and appropriateness, just at this time, and with due apologies to the authors, the undersigned has arranged them in their present form and is requesting that they be used as a song in the schools of our country.

Try Making Your Own Cough Remedy

You can save about $2, and have a better remedy than the ready-made kind. Easily done.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you would hardly have in them all the curative power that lies in this simple "homemade" cough syrup which takes only a few minutes to prepare.

Get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (90 cents worth), pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. The total cost is about 60 cents and gives you a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and sugar syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes that line the throat, chest and bronchial tubes, so gently and so early that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

It is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, be sure to ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

SEADLER'S CAPTAIN CAPTURED OFF FIJI

(By Associated Press.) A Pacific Post, Oct. 30.—Count von Luckner, commander of the German raider Seeadler was captured off Fiji ten days ago. The vessel was captured by a British patrol boat.

Five German members of the Seeadler's crew were taken with their commander, officers of the arriving vessel said. The Germans were in an armed launch and were pursued by the constables, who were aboard the steamer Amra. This report of the capture of the Germans confirms a message to this effect received some time ago from Australia.

Just what became of the others of the Seeadler's crew is not known. One report was that they were at sea in a commandeered vessel.

The Seeadler, wrecked on Mopha Island in the South Pacific 3 1/2 months ago, sank three American vessels during her cruise in the Pacific. Previously in the Atlantic she had sunk 16 vessels of various types.

News of the destruction of the Seeadler was announced in Washington on October 4.

Young Man Electrocuted. (By Associated Press.) Fayetteville, N. C., Oct. 30.—Robert Toiar Ray, son of Mr. H. M. Ray, of this county, was accidentally electrocuted at Columbia, S. C., Saturday morning. Mr. Ray was employed as a lineman by a power company, and while engaged in work on an arc light came in contact with a live wire, death being instantaneous. The body was brought here Sunday night for burial, and the funeral was conducted yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

North Atlantic Storm Warnings. (By Associated Press.) Washington, Oct. 30.—Northwest storm warnings were ordered displayed today on the Atlantic coast, from Norfolk to Boston, and Southeast storm warnings from Marblehead, Mass., to Eastport, Maine. Strong northwest winds probably with squalls this afternoon and tonight from Boston south, were indicated.

CAMPAIGN OPENS THIS AFTERNOON

Food Conservation Advocates Spoke at Various County Schools.

The Food Administration began its campaign today when the speakers, appointed yesterday, addressed good sized audiences at the various school houses of the county at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The speakers were heard with much interest as they sought to impress upon those present the vital importance of the practice of economy in the consumption of food at this time.

Rev. J. A. Sullivan, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, addressed the people at Carolina Beach and Oak Hill; I. C. Wright, Esq., spoke at Masonboro; Louis Goodman, Esq., at Wrightsville; C. B. Newcombe, Esq., at Seagate; Marsden Bellamy, Esq., at Myrtle Grove; South Wilmington was addressed by Mr. W. A. McGirt; Wrightsboro by Mr. D. J. Ferrus; East Wilmington by Chairman T. E. Cooper, of the Board of Education; Middle Sound by Rev. R. E. Gribbin; Acorn Branch by L. Clayton Grant, Esq.; Castle Haynes by Iredell Meares, Esq.; Scott's Hill by Mr. Roger Moore, president of the Rotary Club; Winter Park by Senator W. B. Cooper; Delgado by Rev. John Jeter Hurt, D. D.

NEED OVERCOATS TOMORROW.

Local Weather Observer Promises Cold Wave.

October is slated to go out in refrigeration style, according to information given out from the local weather bureau this afternoon by Observer Felger, who is authority for the statement that an unusually cold wave will strike this city tomorrow morning and will continue indefinitely, although with an abundance of sunshine.

Today has been one of those blustery days, threatening at times and the sunshine chasing the shadows; and the lowering clouds of early morning wafted away by the high breeze after only a few drops of rain had fallen.

OF NATIONAL CONCERN.

Flat Feet Caused Many Rejections From the Army.

(Special to The Dispatch.) Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 30.—Foot health that before the war was considered of comparatively little importance, and now become a health subject greatly to be reckoned with. Flat foot or weak foot has been found to unfit as many or more young men for army or navy service as any other one defect. It ranked second as a cause of rejection in the navy. Defective vision was first and defective teeth third. It has been said that the physical standard of the entire American army has been greatly lowered on account of the American foot. It seems that this part of the anatomy has either degenerated or has been sadly neglected in the past several years.

Incorrect standing and walking are said to be the chief causes of fallen arches, flat feet and many other feet troubles, while unhygienic foot wear has in no way aided the situation. Excessive weight combined with lack of exercise, and prolonged standing are other important factors causing foot trouble. Correct posture in walking and standing and correct shoes are recommended as the only cure for flat feet. The Life Extension Institute says:

"The proper posture in walking and standing is to toe straight ahead or even slightly inward, rather than outward. In standing the feet should form two sides of a square. By practicing walking on a straight chalk line drawn on the floor, the habit of toeing straight forward can be acquired."

WASHINGTON "DRY" AFTER WEDNESDAY

Sheppard Prohibition Law Effective With Coming of November 1.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 30.—At midnight tomorrow night the bars of Washington will close, probably never to be re-opened. At that hour the so-called Sheppard law, providing that prohibition of the liquor traffic shall prevail in the District of Columbia, will come into operation. Wholesale and retail liquor stores will be closed, local breweries shut down, and thirsty residents left dependent upon the private importation of liquors from beyond the confines of the District. Even that last hope of the alcoholical inclined is likely to be destroyed when the courts decide whether the Reed bone dry amendment prohibits the importation of liquor into the District of Columbia as into a dry State. Before long the national capital, without saloons. That was many years ago, when a spasm of sentiment in favor of prohibition swept over certain sections of the country, leaving Washington among the arid sections in its wake. Within a few years, however, the prohibition law was repealed and the saloons permitted to resume business. The present abolition of the liquor traffic is the result of a vigorous agitation extending over a period of several years. Prohibition has long been strong in Congress, partly through the personal attitude of members who dared not vote against it because of a moral sentiment in their districts which they feared would be transmuted into hostile votes.

The Hobson constitutional amendment for national prohibition actually carried the House in the Sixty-third Congress, 187 to 139, with 41 not voting, but as a two-thirds vote was necessary to carry the amendment through, the measure failed. The same Congress, however, passed a drastic restrictive liquor law for the District of Columbia and in the Senate technicalities only prevented the enactment of a prohibition law for the District.

When the present Congress assembled it was soon evident that the majority sentiment in both Houses was favorably disposed toward prohibition for the District. The action of one State after another in abolishing the saloons had left no doubt as to where the nation stood on the prohibition question. Consequently the supporters of the measure encountered comparatively little difficulty in securing its adoption, although the "wet" still kept up a fight, setting forth as their principal argument that Washington should be the last city in the country that should have the rigors of prohibition forces upon it, if for no other reason than that its citizens are helpless against all legislation by Congress affecting their interests or convenience.

The barring of the saloons from the District of Columbia will complete a dry belt from Maryland south to Florida on the east and as far as New Orleans on the westward.

The anti-saloon forces naturally are jubilant over their success in converting the national capital into a dry city, because of the effect it may have on the sentiment of the entire country. A request has been issued to ministers of all denominations through out the United States asking them to set aside next Sunday as a day of observance for this latest prohibition victory and to preach prohibition sermons on that day.

Confident That They Will Win.

There was little or nothing in the atmosphere about the general offices of the company this morning and early this afternoon to denote that the unusual is transpiring and that perhaps a walk-out and tie-up threaten. The work of the clerks is still being conducted in that quiet efficient manner which characterizes the entire working of the Atlantic Coast Line system.

Discussion of the meeting last night and this morning continued to be on one side, many clerks contending that a crisis was rapidly approaching while others were confident that the company was merely sitting tight, ready to throw its ace into the balance should the critical period expected by many arrive.

American people drank 19.40 gallons of intoxicating liquors per capita, at an expenditure of over $2,000,000,000 while the consumption per capita has gone as high as $2.75 a gallon since the Civil War. But the universal trend for prohibition is irresistible, and the liquor traffic is doomed.

Another important piece of news that will be heard with interest along the Brunswick county coast is the phone message sent here last night from Cape Fear Coast Guard station that quantities of molasses were coming around the cape. Fishermen along the shores of this county have been watching for a run of molasses in order to lay up a stock for shipment, besides many farmers living near the sea have been anxious for this molasses along in order that they might use it as high as $2.75 a gallon since the Civil War. But the universal trend for prohibition is irresistible, and the liquor traffic is doomed.

FISHING BUSINESS IS GROWING BRISK

Menhaden More Plentiful and a Run of Mulletlets Reported.

(Special to The Dispatch.) Southport, Oct. 30.—It looks as though the menhaden factories in lower Cape Fear were soon to come into a season of good-sized catches after the weeks of delay and expense they have been put in to erect ready. The three big factories, just below Oat Brunswick, Taylor's, the Lina Products, and the Neptune ones, are splendidly equipped for business. The Carolina has had some fairly good catches within the past week. The Neptune has done some business, while Taylor's has had no steamers, but some are on the way from the North and will likely be here by tomorrow, they having left Norfolk Monday with orders to be on the lookout for pogies, so that they may come here with full loads of fish.

That there must be plenty of menhaden coming down the coast, can be judged from the fact that a steamer reports having passed a school of these fish that was 35 miles in length. The fish are now very scarce and the recent catches yielding only a few such a yield, with the price of molasses as high as it is at present, every barrel of fish means a gross value of about $5.
