Peplac Expert Hears of Remarkable Gains Made by Users of the Peerless Tonic

In commenting on what Peplac had done for her Mrs. M. L. Hugel said: "Yes indeed, Peplac has helped me. Why do you know that I am again able to eat vegetables and after all these years of suffering from indigestion. And I am not only able to eat vegetables but meats and other solid foods that for years have been unknown pleasures to me."

Mrs. Hugel further said, "I seldom enjoyed a full night's sleep because of indigestion and other troubles which claimed me for their victim. I was extremely nervous and run down generally and dreaded my household duties. "Every other remedy that I tried failed to help me or give me any relief, but Peplac has certainly proved a boon to me. Never have I felt better than since I started taking it. My restored appetite has enabled me to increase my weight and I have already gained seven pounds. Just think of it and in such a short time, too."

"My friends say that they hardly know me for I have changed so, not only in appearance but in spirit. My appreciation for what Peplac has done for me prompts me to gladly offer my happy experience with it in order that others who have suffered as I may find the glorious relief that I have. I can't say too much in praise of Peplac," said Mrs. Hugel in conclusion.

Such evidence as the above is of daily occurrence in the work of the Peplac Expert, time and time again has he heard the tale from mouths from those who have suffered as did Mrs. Hugel. Persons who have tried every means without any relief have been benefited by Peplac. Truly, it is rightly named the Peerless Tonic.

If you suffer from nervousness, indigestion, sleeplessness, kidney or liver trouble, such as the Bellamy Drug Store where the merits of Peplac will be explained to you. Peplac may also be obtained at all other leading drug stores in Wilmington and neighboring towns.—Advertisement.

THEATRE

The versatility of Mme. Petrova is severely taxed in the five-act Metro wonderplay, "To the Death," directed by Burton L. King, to be seen at the Grand Theatre tomorrow. This colorful story of Corsica by the star and L. Case Russell calls upon the heroine to show her ability as a sculptress.

Mme. Petrova is well-known as a singer and a dancer, but that she also could breathe life into dead clay with her deft hands was heretofore unknown to the director of the play.

Mme. Petrova admitted blushingly that she was guilty of having "dabbled" in the art, as she called it. When put to the test she showed herself mistress of the sculptor's art. The star studied in Europe, before she ever came to this country. This new proof of the almost unlimited talents of the celebrated star forms quite a feature of the play in itself. In the story of Bianca, the young Corsican lace-maker, is the budding artist whose bloom by the famous Parisian sculptor, Manatelli. The part is one which suits Mme. Petrova admirably.

IT'S HERE AT LAST.

It's here at last. "The Fighting Trail," the Vitagraph master-serial that has been so widely advertised, will come to the Bijou for 15 weeks beginning next Monday.

It is a story of mystery, intrigue, love and adventure—with accent on the latter—set in the vast reaches of the American mountains. Of the 32,000 feet of film which make up the 15 episodes of the play, only a few feet, it is declared, show interiors. All the rest of it is outdoor photography and for this reason it has been labelled "the first all-outdoor serial ever made."

Most of the scenes were taken in the Yosemite Valley and other sections of the Sierra Nevada and the picture is said to contain some of the finest mountain photography ever registered by the camera. William Duncan, remembered for his splendid work in "Through the Wall," and other big Vitagraph features, directed the picture and played the leading role. The heroine is Carol Holloway. Others in the cast are George Holt, Joe Ryan, one of the greatest riders in the world, and Walter Rodgers.

An unique feature of the big serial is that Miss Holloway is the only woman character in the picture, and with the exception of a few crowd scenes, the only one who appears in it.

The picture was eight months in the making and more than 1,000 persons were used in one scene—the burning of a town. For this a modern town with more than 200 buildings was built just to have the torch applied to it.

A SUPERB ATTRACTION.

It will only be necessary to tell the title of the superb attraction coming to the Grand for next Monday and

THE HERO IN VITAGRAPH'S STUPENDOUS SERIAL, "THE FIGHTING TRAIL," AT THE BIJOU TODAY.

Tuesday, to insure capacity crowds. The most marvelous motion picture production of five years, a stupendous film version of Jules Verne's masterpiece, "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," filmed at the bottom of the sea, by means of the Williamson Brothers' great submarine tube invention, is the attraction.

Present day thrilling submarine events were foretold 50 years ago by Jules Verne. Today they are pictured down to the minute in the Universal's startling photoplay based on "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea."

When you see this epoch-making drama you will have seen the most daring, the most sensational and most revolutionary achievement in cinema history.

You will see Jules Verne's "monster" that terrorized the seven seas. You will see the mighty commander, Captain Nemo, who followed the path of vessels 20,000 leagues on his voyage of vengeance.

You will see the torpedo fired and speeding on its deadly mission, and then see a full-rigged ship blown to atoms.

Through the magic window in the submarine "Nautilus" you will see the victims sinking to the silent depths. Through this window you are shown all the amazing wonders of the deep. You see the "Nautilus" in a tropic ocean dive to mysterious depths, and human beings emerge exactly as Jules Verne wrote.

Hunters descend to the floor of the ocean among man-eating sharks. They require neither life lines nor air pipes to connect them with the surface. With a supply of oxygen in condensed air tanks they visit the wonderful marine gardens and coral caverns where human feet never ventured before.

Century old wrecks are found and searched for lost treasures. There is a terrifying combat fathoms deep, between Captain Nemo and a giant octopus crushing a pearl diver in its monster tentacles.

BISHOP KILGO QUILTS TRINITY'S TRUSTEES

(By Associated Press.)
Durham, N. C., Nov. 22.—The resignation of Bishop John C. Kilgo, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, as president emeritus, chairman of the board of trustees and chairman of the executive committee of Trinity College, was accepted at an extraordinary session of Trinity trustees here yesterday. Joseph G. Brown, a banker of Raleigh, was elected chairman of the board of trustees.

Bishop Kilgo offered his resignation last June. Members of the graduating class of 1917 had taken offense at remarks he made about their having attached a class banner to the American flag. The students declared no desecration had been thought of at the time.

Kathleen Clifford's Ambition Is Realized; She Can Smash Windows to Heart's Content

Kathleen Clifford Starring in Paramount's Serial WHO IS "NUMBER ONE"?

When Kathleen Clifford—starring in Paramount's "Who Is Number One?" for which Anna Katharine Green wrote the story—was a little girl she used to play baseball with the boys. One day she threw a ball wilder than usual, and it went through the plate glass window of a drug store. All the other kids scooted away, but Kathleen was rooted to the spot, petrified with pleasure. Never before had she realized the joy of smashing a window pane.

The druggist caught her and she had to pay for the window. So she didn't indulge in window breaking again. But ever since, her one big ambition has been to smash another window pane.

Her ambition at last has been realized. In "Who Is Number One?" she was trapped in a room. The only exit was a big door in which was a costly window.

"Smash that window and get out!" the director ordered. Kathleen, delighted, did, with joyous abandon, and when she had finished she wanted to do it over again. The director wouldn't let her, but in her next contract Kathleen says she will insist that she be allowed to break windows in every picture she makes. She's a windowmaniac now, and the incidence of the crash of the breaking glass is in her blood. People who live in glass houses had better watch out for her.
