DANIEL WILL LIKLEY RUN FOR CONGRESS

Effort Being Made to Get South Carolina's Quota of Physicians

(Special to The Dispatch.) Columbia, S. C., May 18.—It is generally believed in Columbia that Dr. D. W. Daniel, of Clemson college, will enter the race for congress from the third district against Congressman Fred H. Dominick. Dr. Daniel is well known in the two Carolinas and in Georgia as one of the best after-dinner speakers in this section of the country.

W. S. Smith, state warehouse commissioner, has appointed the following committee to formulate the principles and to perfect the plans for the organization of the South Carolina cotton marketing organization: W. W. Long, Clemson college; T. O. Lawton, Garnett; David R. Coker, Hartsville; N. C. Folk, Bamberg; Bright Williamson, Darlington; Donald McQueen, Dunbar, and D. Morris, Pendleton. This committee will meet in the offices of the state warehouse, commissioner in Columbia at 8 o'clock on Monday afternoon. They will discuss tentative form of the organization. Later it is planned to launch a campaign among the cotton growers of the state for members.

In order to secure South Carolina's quota of 150 physicians for the United States army, recently called for the names of 300 physicians throughout the state, carefully selected with a view to getting those best able to enter the military service, will be listed by the South Carolina committee of the national council of defense, medical section, according to a statement of the general plan to be followed, made Thursday by Dr. James A. Hayne, secretary of the state board of health.

In response to a request from Governor Manning, the attorney general has rendered an opinion in which he holds that the governor cannot make appointment to fill a vacancy in the office of sheriff for a longer period than until the next general election for state and county officers in the county affected. Under this construction the governor cannot make an appointment to fill the entire unexpired term in cases where the term runs beyond the next succeeding election.

Ginners, buyers, agents, dealers and all other handlers of cotton seed not already licensed, provided they handle yearly, between September 1 and August 31, more than 20 tons of cotton seed, are brought under supervision and control of the food administration by a proclamation signed May 14 by President Wilson, and are required to secure licenses on or before June 1.

This order of the president will have a far-reaching effect. While it affects persons, firms, corporations and associations engaged in several branches of business, so far as South Carolina is concerned it is of greater importance because it mainly affects the cottonseed business.

To reduce consumption of raw and manufactured materials essential to the conduct of the war and to make available to help meet the nation's war expenses money spent for non-essentials, the council of national defense and the South Carolina council of defense urge the people to refrain from unnecessary expenditures of all kinds.

This call upon the American people, for mobilization of the moneypower of the nation as well as manpower, emphasizes the importance of a realization on the part of the public that in the present national emergency the winning of the war is the one thing of real importance.
