A WOMAN'S TRUST.
If there is one person who will stand by a man when the world has branded him, that person will be a woman. With the understanding of woman, Rose Lockley, the heroine of love, Rose Lockley, the heroine of love, "Berlin via America," realized that Phil Kelly had a reason for the action through which he sacrificed his honor—and she believed in him.

How her trust was vindicated will be shown at the Grand theatre Monday and Tuesday, where "Berlin via America" will be the featured attraction. Throughout the story runs a sweet love theme and a thread of mystery—but over all hovers a spirit which today has reached every heart and home—the spirit of patriotism.

Francis Ford directed the production and also enacts the leading role—Phil Kelly, aviator; Edna Emerson, as Rose Lockley, an American girl "doing her bit" supports him and a capable cast includes Jack Newton, William Canfield, Lois Scott, Dell Coyne and Emma Warren.

"THE EAGLE'S EYE"
The first episode of the serial photodrama, "The Eagle's Eye," presented by the Whartons, noted as producers of great serials, in which Chief Flynn reveals the unwritten history of the Imperial German government's spy plots in America, is called "The Hidden Death" and will be presented at the Bijou theatre tomorrow.

This episode shows how the leaders of Imperial Germany's spy system in America operated in contributing to the plans of the German naval staff to destroy the Lusitania. Ambassador von Bernstorff was so sure of her destruction he inserted an advertisement in the New York Times May 1, 1915, in effect warning Americans not to sail on her.

The German naval staff, it would appear, had an exact date set for this great tragedy of the sea to occur, but owing to the fact that the sailing of the vessel was delayed, she did not reach the point where the submarines lay in wait for her until two days later than had been calculated. This was the first blow in a war of frightfulness that was intended to strike terror into the heart of the world and especially to warn America of the consequences of war.

LEAD THEATRES
HIGHLY RECOMMENDED.
Virgil Downard and his Roseland Maids, the attraction booked for the Royal the coming week, comes to Wilmington the most highly recommended company of the season. The following appeared in the Billboard, published in Cincinnati, last week's date:

"Virg. Downard's Roseland Maids is playing a return date at the Paris theatre, Camp Sevier, S. C., and was held over for the second week and all play in Greenville after its engagement at the camp, making three solid weeks here.

"This is the best show that has played here this season, and Mr. Downard has a company of ladies and gentlemen. Mr. Downard and his quartette entertained the drafted boys from New York, and it certainly was a treat for them, as they had been in quarantine for two weeks."

The company will present three original new tabloid musical comedy hits during the coming week with special scenery and elaborate wardrobe.

A new and big serial is coming, beginning Wednesday and Thursday, when Ruth Roland, one of the greatest favorites on the screen and one of the most beautiful of actresses, will appear in an enthralling Pathe serial, "The Price of Folly," to run eight weeks, a two-reel episode each week, on Wednesdays and Thursdays.

BRAZIL BUYING MUCH SHIPPING
Buenos Aires, June 22.—The Lloyd Brazilian Steamship company has established another new line of boats between Buenos Aires and Belem, Brazil, with callings at Montevideo, Rio Grande, Santos, Bahia, Maceio, Recife (Pernambuco) and Ceara.

This new service was inaugurated by the steamship Rio Janeiro, which sailed from this port recently with passengers, mail and cargo.

In a short time thereafter other boats were placed on this run. It is believed that the new enterprise has been well planned and that its success is assured. The greater part of the ships which once carried the traffic between these ports belonged to European companies and have since the war been placed on trans-Atlantic routes.

The Lloyd Brazilian company already has established several lines between Buenos Aires, Montevideo and Chile. This company instead of liquidating its boats at the high prices brought about by the war, has bought all the available tonnage in South American waters for the purpose of enlarging its formerly small fleet.

Since the war began Argentina has been selling off her boats, until today she is practically without the semblance of a merchant marine. Brazil, on the other hand, has been buying boats as fast as Argentina sold them and now possesses several regular lines of steamers with callings between the principal Argentine and Brazilian ports.

The sailing of an Argentine boat from Buenos Aires has become an uncommon sight. The few ships that remain under the Argentine flag are destined at an early date to be sold to foreign countries.
