SATURDAY AFTERNOON AT "Y."
Members of the Y. W. C. A. acted as hostesses to the men in the service yesterday afternoon at the local "Y." Between 75 and 100 men accepted their hospitality and were informally entertained throughout the afternoon.
The lobby of the "Y" was attractively decorated with the flags of the allies, these also were used as a table decoration, together with nasturtium and daisies.
The music, which was lovely, catchy, varied and continuous, was most enjoyable. It was arranged for by Miss Jesse Harper. Mr. Harry McGowan, an artist and a master of the violin, gave selections which delighted his hearers. He was accompanied on the piano by Miss Meseick and Miss Hoffler, from the fort, charmed his hearers with a number of catchy songs, sung in his inimitable style.
The duet, "The Rosary," sung by Mr. Waller and Miss Harper, was especially worthy of mention.
Among the guests was Mr. West, one of the "Y" secretaries at the post. The committee in charge of the entertainment was composed of Mrs. M. L. Stover, chairman; W. H. Pemberton, F. M. Jolly, D. W.
