

THE WILSON MIRROR.

"Our Aim will be, the People's Right Maintain, Unawed by Power, and Unbribed by Gain."

VOL VII.

WILSON, NORTH CAROLINA, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 23, 1889.

NO. 45

GOVERNOR FOWLE.

THE BRILLIANT INAUGURATION OF THE ELOQUENT GOVERNOR.

A Happy Concourse of People Turned Out to Witness the Imposing Ceremonies.

The News-Observer says that at an hour the city presented a scene of the most gay and gorgeous holiday attire. Handsome men in uniforms crowded the streets, while the gay music of bands was heard at frequent intervals. Soon the numerous balconies and windows on Fayetteville street were crowded with ladies, and the street from the Yarboro House to the Capitol was lined with dense crowds of people expectantly awaiting the exercises of the day. Gallant marshals dashed back and forth on gorgeous steeds, and military companies formed in ranks and manoeuvred here and there preparatory to falling into line for the grand parade. At 11 o'clock Governor-elect Fowle was escorted to the Executive Mansion by the committee of arrangements, when both houses of the General Assembly were notified of the readiness of the procession to proceed to Stronach's warehouse, where the imposing inaugural ceremony was to take place. Both houses of the Legislature then proceeded down Fayetteville street to the warehouse, being followed by the procession. The procession was formed as follows: Platoon of police, Charlotte, Wilmington and Goldsboro bands, military escort, carriages. In the first carriage rode Governor-elect Fowle, Gov. Scales, Senator King, chairman of the inaugural committee, and Capt. Anthony, chief of the staff. In the second carriage were Mrs. Governor Scales, Miss Helen Fowle, Col. T. W. Strange and Mr. Bryan Grimes. In carriages following were Lieut.-Gov. Stedman, Lieut.-Gov.-elect Holt, Speaker Leazar, the chairman of the House branch of the inaugural committee, Senator Ransom, Col. Thomas S. Kenan, Colonel John S. Cunningham, Mr. S. F. Telfair, members of the committees, State officers, Justices of the Supreme Court, ladies, distinguished citizens and others. The procession moved down Fayetteville to the music of the bands, proceeding to the Stronach warehouse. The mammoth building was profusely decorated with State and National flags, interspersed with colors of all nations. A large and commodious elevated platform, holding one hundred chairs, had been erected for the convenience of specially-invited guests, Congressmen and officers. Immediately in front of the platform were seated the General Assembly of North Carolina, while the remainder of the large warehouse was densely thronged with citizens, visitors and the attending companies of the State Guard. Fully 10,000 people were present in and around the building. At 12:30 o'clock Governor-elect Daniel G. Fowle, with the committee of inauguration and escort, entered the hall and took seats on the platform, when a sound of applause was given by the audience. The place presented a magnificent scene. The members of both houses of the Legislature, as above stated, were seated in front of the rostrum. The faculties and young ladies of both St. Mary's and Peace Institute were present, while hundreds of the fairest ladies and most distinguished citizens of North Carolina crowded the vast hall to its utmost. Prayer was then offered, after which the oath of office was administered by Chief Justice Smith. Governor Scales then advanced, with Governor Fowle leaning on his arm, and said: "Ladies and gentlemen, I have the honor and the satisfaction of introducing to you the Governor of North Carolina." Immediately a prolonged and resounding round of applause and shouts went up from the vast assembled multitude as a greeting to Carolina's new Governor. As Governor Fowle advanced to the front of the rostrum the applause grew louder and louder, and the mammoth building shook from its foundations. When quiet had been restored, Governor Fowle, in his own rich, magnetic and eloquent tones, began his inaugural address, which we publish elsewhere in full. He proceeded with his eloquent address, there were frequent outbursts of applause. At his reference to Scales, Jarvis and the audience cheered enthusiastically, and again at his reference to the necessity of increasing the efficiency of the State Guard.

the address one of the greatest efforts of Judge Fowle's life. It was eloquent, manly and conservative, patriotic and statesman-like, and the thousands of North Carolinians who were present were prouder of Governor Fowle after hearing his inaugural address than ever before. At the close of the address the band played "The Old North State Forever," while deafening applause and shouts of "Long Live Governor Fowle" filled the hall.

On the conclusion of Governor Fowle's address, Lieutenant-Governor Stedman dismissed both branches of the General Assembly, whereupon Senator King, the chairman of the inaugural committee, announced that Governor Fowle would hold an informal reception on the rostrum. Immediately Governor Fowle was besieged by hundreds of friends, eager to shake his hand. The members of the General Assembly and ladies and gentlemen came forward in crowds to tender their congratulations to the new Governor. One of the most charming features of the whole day was seen when the crowd had somewhat cleared away and the young ladies of both Peace Institute and St. Mary's marched up on the rostrum and filed by the Governor, each one giving him a squeeze by the hand, and Governor Fowle never looked happier in his life, and we dare say never was happier than while thus the object of this myriad of smiling, blushing, charming and winsome girls. It was a most charming wind-up of the happy occasion.

How to Escape Sorrow.

We often spend a great deal of time bewailing grievances, which might be employed to much better advantage. There is a luxury of the woe' in which people indulge which rarely benefits others or themselves. We do not mean sourness, grumbling or melancholly. It is not that; it is of those secret thoughts of the heart that we speak, which, like the dark outlines of a rock in the depth of a pool, lie only on the bottom and are entirely unseen on the surface. We ponder on our many trials, when it would be much better, figuratively, or even literally to be on our knees thanking God. If we but stop to think what he has done for us we can hardly help smiling even in the midst of tears—it is too much. Nothing is so certain to bring genuine, happy smiles to our faces as to watch them glow in those of others, as the result of our sympathy, our gentle words or hopeful deeds. Who ever did a real kindness for another without feeling a warm glow of satisfaction creep into some shady corner of the heart and fill it with sweetness and peace? It is like tying a not of violets, and mignonnet into the button, hole, just where their perfume may rise deliciously to our sense all day. And what a pleasure it will be when the present trouble is over, to remember even in darkest days we found time and inclination to give to others some portion of that tenderness or practical helpfulness which was the overflow of that generous spirit which finally bore us through it all to a happy and peaceful ending! "Rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep."

The Vote.

Harrison received 233 electoral votes and Cleveland 168—majority for Harrison 65. If New York had voted as it should have done Cleveland would have received 206 and Harrison 197. The Northern States that voted for Cleveland were Connecticut and Delaware. But there is one comfort. Cleveland received fully a million majority of the white votes cast. The negroes elected Harrison. He ought to give them a Cabinet appointment and other high places if he is grateful. Cleveland would have been elected but for the needless machinery of the electoral college.

Queen Victoria intends to place an equestrian statue of the late Emperor Frederick in Windsor Great Park, in close proximity to the statue of the Prince Consort.

Consumption Surely Cured.

To the Editor—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their express and post office address. Respectfully,
T. A. SLOCUM, M. C.,
81 Pearl St., N. Y.

A MIXTURE.

EDITORIAL ETCHINGS EUPHONIOUSLY ELUCIDATED.

Numerous Newsy Notes and Many Merry Howls Paragraphically Packed and Pithily Pointed.

Flattery is sugar-coated lies.
It is good to be merry at meat.
Got the stuff in him—an effigy.
Sweet meat must have sour sauce.
It is the police who man-nip-u-late.
Healing is nature's knitting work.
Babes in the wood—wooden dolls.
A machine shop—the dressmakers.
Potomac flats—Washington dudes.
Makes tracks—the railway conductor.
All poets have trouble with their feet.
Cuts a good figure—an expert sculptor.
A race across the Atlantic—the English.
A race for the large stakes—Holdstein cattle.

It is easy so make light of a pound of candles.

The still alarm—an overwound American clock.

Be fit for more than the thing you are now doing.

Faithfulness and sincerity are the highest things.

The time is never lost that is devoted good works.

The tender passion—the antipathy against tough steaks.

Duties fulfilled are always pleasures to the memory.

The old fashioned school teacher was rather pro-licks.

The Port of London—Logwood and currant wines.

We respect ourselves more if we have succeeded in life.

The crop of cotton in 1888, for the world is 5,201,040 bales.

The immediate delivery system—your money or your life.

The wheat crop of the United States is 400,000,000 bushels.

A touching sight—a small boy investigating a newly painted door.

Pulling carpet tacks is a lowly work, yet it may be done with eclat.

The sweetest of sweet girls who wait for you is worth her wait gold.

It looks like McPherson again, Senatorially speaking, in New Jersey.

When the political cauldron boils the scum quite naturally rises to the top.

A woman should be able to do more than a man—she has a slighter hand.

A neighbor had so natural a picture of a hen that it laid in his drawer for a week.

The decline of American humor is most forcibly illustrated by the editors' waste basket.

The girl who seeks to marry for the sake of a bank account is quite likely to be check mated.

Senator Harris has been nominated in Tennessee. The nomination is equivalent to an election.

Vestibule trains will soon be running between New Orleans and the City of Mexico in 72 hours.

We do not suppose Mr. Harrison will hereafter pay much attention to the North Carolina Republicans.

Pretty steep! Strawberries sell in New York city for $11 a quart, and you must furnish your own cream and sugar at that.

Londau is agitated over the possibility of a rupture between Germany and the United States, growing out of the Samoan affair.

According to the views of the Baltimore Manufacturer's Record the South is to be the "future centre of the world's iron and steel trade."

Since the close of the last European war, the nations of Europe have spent $7,500,000,000 on preparations for war that has not yet come.

The Senate refuses to put cotton bagging on the free list. We hope to see most of next year's cotton baled in pine straw bagging.

William Holloway, of Indianapolis, who is a shrewd politician, is authority for the statement that Blaine and Platt will have places in the new Cabinet.

Capt. Henry Jackson, a Georgia lawyer, has declined an offer of $20,000 a year to go to New York city and become council for an insurance company. It is gratifying

A report comes that White Caps have shown their hands at Bridgeport, Conn., and warned prominent club men in that city to spend evenings at home once in a while.

The Charlotte Chronicle speaks in great praise of the Cleveland reform which has given a "backset to the bustle." It was always our impression heretofore that the bustle had a bascet when first introduced.

"I don't say marriage is a failure," said Adam candidly, as he sat down on a log just outside the Garden of Eden and looking hungrily at the fruit on the other side of the wall, "but if I had remained single this wouldn't have happened.

Editor McClure of the Philadelphia Times, says that the Scotchirish Congress to assemble in Columbia Tennessee, next May, will be a gathering of the race that has done more in propotion to its numbers than any other for civilization.

In the opinion of ex-Chief Justice McClure of the Arkansas Sapreme Court, an able Republican, the true solution of the race problem is found in continuing the ballot to the negro but not to permit him to hold office.

A Frenchman says he has discovered how to make pure gold by combining silver and copper under sunlight. With $30 he can make $720. The philosopher's stone has at last been discovered—may be. The Frenchmans name is Tiffereau.

Evidently the Duchess of Malboro finds her title expensive. She has applied to a New York Court for $300,000 out of her allowance. She wants to buy a London home and maintain the dignity of her position and all these things come high.

The New York World is to send its own "commissioner," Thomas A. Stevens, to Africa, to find Stanly and Emin. He is a bycycolist and circled the globe on an iron steed. In a few months it will be the Herald's turn to send some one to find Stevens.

There were 245 railroad companies organized in the South during 1888. North Carolina is credited with five of these. Alabama leads with thirty-nine. Then comes Georgia with thirty eight, Tennessee with thirty-one, Texas with twenty-eight, Kentucky nineteen, Virginia sixteen, South Carolina six &c.

The Governor of Michigan, in his last message, recommended the system of indeterminate prison sentences. In other words he proposed that no convict be sentenced for a definite period, but that the length of all sentences should depend upon the behavior of the prisoner and the evidences which he gave of repentance and reform.

We congratulate Col. Cowles very heartily on his success in probably securing a prompt report of his internal revenue bill to the House and action thereon by the members individually and collectively. We shall be enabled to see again the hollowness of Republican pretences with respect to repeal of the law maintaining the odious system.

Dr. Lyman Abbot, who is Ward Beecher's successor in Plymouth Church does not "draw." The receipts for 1888, were $20,783.01. Beecher once raised $68,000. Its average in his time was $40,000. There are no many Beechers. Dr. Abbot, however, is an exceptionally able and scholarly Divine. He is a sort of free-thinker—or a disciple of the so-called New Theology.

A mysterious German nobleman died in Washington last week and left a will bequeathing $90,000 to three gentlemen in Tennessee. The will is in proper form duly signed and attested, but the legatees have been unable to locate the $90,000. It is a very exasperating situation. They are entitled to $90,000—unless the mysterious German nobleman was a practical joker.

McClure, of the Philadelphia Times, thinks that Mr. Cleveland will be a strong Presidential possibility for 1892 if the next fight is on the tariff. He says he does not share the popular impression that Hill is the strongest Democrat in the party. If New York is to determine the matter of who shall be the Democratic candidate, and the democracy mean to make an honest, square fight for principle, Mr. Cleveland will necessarily be a strong man in the Convention to nominate.

STATE NEWS.

FROM THE DEEP BLUE SEA TO THE GRAND OLD MOUNTAIN.

An Hour Pleasantly Spent With Our Delightful Exchanges.

There is talk of the establishment of a daily independent newspaper in Raleigh.

Rev. N. B. Cobb has become financial agent of Judson College, Hendersonville.

Charlotte voted on a big railroad subscription last Thursday, and lost it by only 44 votes.

The city of Durham will get in a bid for Trinity College, of that institution is to be removed.

The next session of the Teachers Assembly will be held at Morehead City June 18th to July 2d.

Durham's Blackwell's factory shipped 274,125 pounds of tobacco in four days. Stamps cost $21,930.

The exact number of Farmers Alliances in the State, up to this date, is fourteen hundred and sixty-one.

There are fifteen Farmers' Alliances in Cabarrus county, and they will in a short time open an Alliance store at Concord.

There were started in North Carolina in 1888 no less than fifty-one cotton factories, eight more than any other Southern State.

The choice of Mrs. J. S. Carr to preside over the Confederate Pensioners' Convention was a handsome and deserved compliment.

There are fifty one different railroads in the State making 2,549½ miles. Total taxation value $6,106,635. Twenty-five of these roads have been built in the last five years.

Auburn Alliance, Wake county, asks that the tax on fertilizers be repealed, and that the Agricultural department be supported from the general tax fund, or else be abolished.

M. H. S. Nunn, of the Newbern Journal, has been appointed collector of customs in the Pamlico district. It is rare that a plum like this drops into the mouth of a newspaper man.

Thirty-six inches from tip to tip is the measurement of a chicken hawk killed last week on the farm of Mr. J. A. Warrick, in the Hobbleton section, by a young man named Evana Ganey.

Centre Point Alliance, Iredell county, has determined not to buy nor use any guano made by a company which refuses to sell their goods through regular Alliance business agents.

Cleveland Mills Alliance, situated in Cleveland county, have resolved to raise their own supplies and let cotton be a surplus crop, and to build a factory for the manufacture of wagons, &c.

The Electoral College of North Carolina met at Raleigh on Monday and cast the vote of the State for Cleveland and Thurman. Mr. E. W. Pou, Jr., of the 4th district, was elected Messenger to take the returns to Washington.

Dr. T. F. Wood, Secretary of the State Board of Health, has issued a call for a meeting of the Superintendents of Health of the various counties to meet in Raleigh on Ebebruary 6th for the purpose of forming a sanitary convention.

In the Democratic caucus for United States Senator the vote on first ballot stood—Ransom, 60; Alexander, 25; Waddel, 21; Jarvis, 13; Clingman, 1; W. H. Kitchen, 1. Second ballot—Ransom, 69; Alexander, 26; Waddel, 15; Jarvis, 9; Clingman, 1; Kitchen, 1.

President Stephen D. Lee has invited Col. L. L. Polk to deliver the annual address on the 19th of next June before the Mississippi Agricultural College. Colonel Polk is very highly complimented by President Lee, who is the head of that flourishing and very largely attended institution.

Prominent Republicans met at Raleigh last week, and it is said endorsed General Mahone for a Cabinet position and Colonel Dockery for the Consul-Generalship at London. It was engineered by Col. Canaday, and is supposed to be a hit at Blaine. What becomes of Richmond Pearson, of Richmond Hill?

State News