

NEWSY GLEANINGS.

WHERE PEOPLE GO AND WHAT WE KNOW

And Little Tittle Tattle About Wilson's Busy Rattle.

The gripe still holds its grip in Wilson. A good snow fell in Whitakers on Saturday night, but none in Wilson.

Dark, rainy skies and cold chilling winds have brooded over Wilson this week.

Mr. Silas Lucas has bought Mr. Frank Farmer's residence on Barnes Street.

The Gregory Hotel in Goldsboro was sold last week to W. T. Faircloth for $19,000.

Mr. Jeff Carraway has bought the residence of Mr. W. P. Simpson on Greene Street.

G. W. Blount is attending the Grand Lodge of Masons which is in session in Raleigh.

Judge Connor, the pure and incorruptible jurist, is holding Wake county Superior Court this week.

Maj. T. D. Love, a very prominent and most useful citizen of Wilmington, died last Wednesday after an illness of ten days.

The outlook is a little brighter, and the people are beginning to feel more hopeful and confident.

Prof. Foust, the able and efficient Superintendent of the Graded School, has made a fine impression upon all of our people.

Braswell Winstead is now Superintendent of the colored Graded School. He is an excellent teacher, and is worthy of the promotion.

That popular and admirable gentleman James E. Rountree has withdrawn from the old and reliable and well known firm of M. Rountree & Co.

The Atlantic Coast Line has begun to lay the track on the branch road they are building from the Albemarle and Raleigh road to Washington, N. C.

If you wish good papers with thrilling stories, call on George Stallings, the prompt and reliable news dealer, and he will supply you with greatest dispatch.

The Rev. Dr. Cordon and his highly interesting family reached Wilson on Saturday, and received a heartfelt welcome from their host of friends and admirers.

The brilliant and talented John E. Woodard, the able and zealous Solicitor of this district, left on Saturday for Pitt County which is now being held in Greenville.

In Green county on the 6th of January, Mr. J. D. Thorne led to the altar Miss Susan Harper, the fair and lovely daughter of Mr. Wm. Harper of that county.

T. R. Lawther, a well-known locomotive engineer, an Englishman by birth, died in Wilmington Saturday. He was one of the oldest engineers in the South.

The Public Ledger of Oxford, one of the very best and newest papers in the State, has entered upon its fifth volume. It is always bright and crisp and brim full of interest.

Our esteemed friend W. A. Dunn, a brilliant and talented lawyer of Scotland Neck, has been appointed Receiver of the suspended Clinton Bank. He will make an honest and efficient official.

Dr. T. H. Clark, of Halifax county, was killed in Weldon one day last week. He tried to jump upon a moving train, and missing his step, he fell upon the track and was run over and cut entirely in two.

The Tarboro Southerner has begun its seventieth volume. It is a bold, aggressive, outspoken paper, and speaks its convictions without fear, favor, reward or the hope of reward. Our best wishes attend it.

We acknowledge the reception of an invitation to the marriage of E. Chambers Smith, a very able and prominent lawyer of Raleigh, to Miss Annie, the lovely and beautiful daughter of Col. Paul Faison, of that city.

The Newbern people are making great preparations for the oyster and fish fair that will take place there next month. Their hearts are in the work, and the rewards will be substantial no doubt. It is a North Carolina enterprise and the people are glad of it.

That good and reliable dentist Dr. Joyner, who knows all about teeth and how to treat them, asked us the other day if we knew when a tooth was like a king, and when we told him we did not, he gave a sad, sweet, pensive smile, and said, "when it was aching. A by-stander said, "tooth in," and then we bowed our head and wept, and the Doctor into his office crept.

Our excellent host Turner B. Sugg has moved his fine dairy near town, and can now more conveniently serve that nice, rich milk which he is selling to a host of patrons. The milk is of finest quality, and is as good as we ever drank, and we know whereof we speak, for we grow fat and jolly and happy over it every day.

The genial and jolly and very clever and warm hearted John Morgan of Nashville has been appointed by the Hon. B. H. Bunn clerk to the committee on claims of which he is the chairman. A good appointment, and we congratulate our esteemed friend upon his good fortune in securing this fine position.

The painful intelligence has reached here that Dr. Eugene Grissom, late of Raleigh, but now of Denver, Colorado, is an inmate under treatment in the Insane Asylum in the latter city. This is indeed sad news to the many friends of Dr. Grissom in North Carolina, who most sincerely hope that his affliction may be of temporary character.

Miss Agnes Cotten, the accomplished daughter of R. R. Cotten of Pitt county, was married on last Wednesday to Mr. Julian Timbelake, a well known and most popular young gentleman of Raleigh. The bride is well known in Wilson, and is most justly esteemed and admired for those fine social qualities and resplendent virtues which emblazon the coronet of her shining worth.

Our prompt, energetic and reliable young townsmen L. R. Jordan and W. L. Cantwell have formed a copartnership, under the firm name of L. R. Jordan & Co., and will do a general fire insurance and real estate business. They have bought out the interest of Mr. Sid A. Woodard in the insurance business, and will represent the same companies he did. A large and attractive "ad" fully setting forth their advantages and facilities for the transaction of such business will appear next week, when we will have something more to say about these meritorious gentlemen.

People love novelties and will be carried away with almost anything that looks like something new. For instance a traveling dentist puts up at the hotel, advertises that he will pull out teeth without pain; hundreds flock to his chair and submit to the pulling process, when Dr. E. K. Wright with a nice office, well appointed, provided with the appliances and drugs necessary, can do the same thing and extract teeth without pain, or as near so as it is possible for such an operation to be done, and with no loungers gazing at you. Try him.

"A Social Session" was held in Mamona Hall last night and it throbbed with fun from beginning to end. It sparkled with wit and humor, and beamed all through with brightest cheer and good spirits. The plot is interesting and consistent, the characters are all well drawn, the dialogue is bright and funny, and the whole is a swift moving succession of ludicrous situations and incidents. It kept the audience last night in a roar. The company presents it in first class shape. The musical features of the organization are strong. Not only is the play full of taking songs, which were finely sung last night but the orchestra came in for its share of applause while the curtain was down.

We hear it on all hands that cotton is a failure. It certainly now looks like those, who have been making it, are experiencing that fact. With short crop, caused by excessive rains last year, and with prices down to half the cost of production, it surely looks as if king cotton is dethroned. But relief seems to be at hand. Tobacco is now supplying the needed refuge; and Jones and Anderson of the Planters Warehouse, and Pace and Woodard of the Wilson Tobacco Warehouse will, with pleasure, explain how the weed may be cultivated, cured and marketed at the least possible cost, and at the very highest prices. The sales for the past several months have been large and prices the most satisfactory to all parties. No more honorable dealers can be found than the managers of our Warehouses right here in Wilson.

There are no cleverer men in the world than the affable and courteous and gentlemanly engineers that run on the Wilmington and Weldon Road. For efficiency, reliability, trust-worthiness and fine department where will you find better men than Tom McMillan, Winfield Taylor, Gullford Horne, Billie McSween, Dave Pearsall, Louis Waxsmith, Billie Petway, Charlie Divine, John Neymeier, Stephen Meredith, and the other noble boys who pull the throttle on those noisy beauties that dash by Wilson to the thundering music of rushing civilization. And by the way we saw the dear familiar face the other day of our esteemed friend John Hesser, one of the best hearted fellows in the world, and it made our heart glad to see him again at the throttle. God bless these brave, heroic boys as they stand at their post of duty and of danger, and hold in their hands the lives of the passengers so confidently entrusted to their keeping.

Love.

It is love that builds the earthly home; it is love that builds the heavenly home. And the highest conception we can form of Heaven is not glorified material pomp, or glorified intellectual triumph, but glorified affection. The sympathies and affections are the primal and the most indestructible elements of our nature, that we live nearest God and likest God. God is love and love is love forever.
