PASSED TEN MILLION.

Wilson Tobacco Market in Three Mouths-Good Prices Rule,

The report of the sales of tobacco for the past month is in and again Wilson makes a month's record that tells the story of her imprtance as a tobacco market. The buyers here pay the top market prices for the weed and the farmers are pleased with the big money they get and the agreeable people who sell the crop.

Up to October 1 the sales were 7,444,613 pounds, and during the month of October these figures were increased by 3,300,283 and adding

7,444,613 3,300,283 10,744,806

How does that look to a market reaching out for fifteen million? Unless all signs fail Wilson will pass that mark.

VICE-PRESIDENT VERY SICK.

His Whole Family\Sat Up Last Night-Grave Fears Are Expressed.

Paterson, N. J., October 30.—President Hobart passed a restless night and reports were flying that the patient could not live more than a few hours. This was denied at the home of Hobart. The family admitted that his condition was such last night as caused the whole family to sit at his bedside throughout the night. Immediate friends also were there, including Brigadier General Congdon. He said this morning that Hobart's condition was such as to cause grave fears to his family.

ARRESTS AT PANAMA.

Trying to End the Revolution-An Army Corps Dispatched.

Washington, October 30.—United States Consul General Gudger, at Panama, yesterday cabled the State Department that many arrests of Liberals are being made in this vicinity. Unrest prevails, but so far there have been no open disorders. News from Colon, Columbia, says the revolution is confined to the departments of Bolivar and Santander. The government has dispatched an army corps against both departments. Troops are being sent to Panama and Bolivar via that port.

WRECKED IN A STORM.

The Gordon L. Caldwell Goes Down-They Could Not Hold to The Raft.

Charleston, November 1.-The steamship Navahoe from New York has arrived, bringing Capt. Gaskill, of the steamship Gordon L. Caldwell, of Fernandina, wrecked in the storm of Monday night. The Captain and twelve of the crew hugged · a raft but it turned over. Seven were drowned at once and the five others drifted away and are supposed also to be lost.

Many a tear of wounded pride, Many a fault of human blindness, Has been soothed, or turned aside, By a quiet voice of kindness. Time to me this truth hath taught, 'Tis a truth that's worth revealing-More offend from want of thought Than from any want of feeling.

-Charles Swain.

All the dread and nameless aching, All the bitterness awaking In a sad heart slowly breaking I have read, alas! erewhile; Not alone in books deploring, Darkly o'er life's lessons poring, But in glances upward soaring, And on lips that tried to smile,

Eyes unconsciously revealing, Inward smart of keenest feeling, All the heart's sore need of healing, Shining with a wistful light; Smiles which others' gloom dispelling, Speak of wee too deep for telling; Speak of grief beyond rebelling-How they haunt me in the night!

Called from loved one to dissever, Called to joyless, vain endeavor, Hope and gladness fled forever, "Tis not theirs to fate revile; Living all for others' gaining, Coward tears and plaints disdaining, Steadfast they and uncomplaining, And the brave lips bravely smile. -Beatrice Clayton.

SINS OF THOUGHTLESSNESS

Brief Sermon On the Wickedness Carelessness-Stop to Think.

Says Thomas Hood: "But evil is wrought by want of thought as well as want of heart." The New York papers tell of an accident that happened to a boy while bathing at Coney Island that may prove fatal. Upon going into the water the boy steppted upon a broken bottle and severed the poster lior tibia artery the main one in the leg. As artery, the main one in the leg. As the only chance of saving the boy's life, the leg was amputated, but it was not expected that he would survive.

The person who threw that bottle into the water could never have suppesed that a serious and possibly fatal accident would result from his thoughtpesed that a serious and possibly fatal accident would result from his thought-lessness, but he is not therefore freed from the responsibility of the outcome of his act. It is his fault that this boy dies or lives to move about upon a gingle leg. The fact is that hundreds of persons are killed or injured by other persons' carelessness where there is one killed or injured by his own lack of care or by unpreventable causes. It is therefore worth while to reflect upon the lives that might be saved and the suffering that might be prevented if people would take a little more thought in the common acts of life.

Here somebody threw a broken bottle into the water, never stopping to think of the possible consequences of his act; and in the same absence of thought stones, glass and and other missiles are thrown into the street or through the windows of houses, regardless of where they fall; pistols are fired, pointed anywhere, as it happens; and fireworks are sent off at random. People do not stop to think. How much of meaning there is in this little sentence! It means that because people do not keep their wits about them thousands of their fellow-beings are made to suffer annually; it means death for other thousands; it means that no one can hope to avoid injuring others unless he thinks before he acts. Man's inhumanity to man is not all the result of thinks before he acts. Man's inhumanity to man is not all the result of malice or of cruelty; a great deal of it is due to thoughtlessness.

They Got In!

Two ladies visiting in Washington recently went to the capitol to hear the proceedings in the United States Senate. Most of the galleries being filled, they approached the doorkeeper of the senators' gallery, where admission is by card. As they did not possess this passport, the doorkeeper suggested that they procure one from any senator they might be acquainted with.

"But we do not know any senator,"

"Well, it is very much to your credit," said the doorkeeper. "Pass right in, ladies."—The Argonaut.
