PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

HAVE BEEN BROKEN OFF BECAUSE OF CHINESE SITUATION—BETTER PICKINGS

ARE PROMISED IN CHINA

Constantinople, Oct. 16.—That peace negotiations between the Continental powers and Turkey have been suddenly broken off on account of the conditions in Handow and Wuchang is manifest today. Communication has been cut off with Hankow, but it is learned that the rebel army numbers 30,000 and the officers are maintaining strict discipline. Training schools for recruits have been opened.

The Church and Temperance

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 16.—"The church and temperance" was discussed at yesterday's session of the Ecumenical Methodist Conference in this city. Encouragement was expressed by workers from several countries, including the United States and Canada, at the successes of recent concerted efforts to eradicate, or at least abate, various forms of intemperance. It was pointed out, however, that the evils wrought by drink are still so widespread and so enervating to nations as to make the temperance problem dominant in importance.

"Only the people's will can bring enforcement of liquor laws," said the Rev. J. Alfred Sharp, of London Eng. "The people must be willed and won. If they are not the laws will not be enforced when we get them."

In the multiplicity of clubs the Rev. George R. Wedgwood of Belfast, Ireland, found a great relief. "There should not be one law for the saloon and another for the club," he said. "It is the duty of governments municipalities and churches to grapple with the social cause which makes men drunkards."

He also said that according to his observation, fewer women drink now than a decade ago.

The Rev. P. S. Baker of Westerville, Ohio, superintendent of the National Anti-Saloon League said:

"Every civilized country is moving against the liquor traffic. Some people say that you cannot make men moral by law." If this kind of reasoning were allowed you would have to repeal all the laws from the Ten Commandments to the present. We need liquor legislation which can be enforced and then its enforcement."

A. & M. to Play Thursday.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 16.—On Thursday, the big day of Fair Week, the A. & M. eleven will line up against the strong team from Bucknell University. Bucknell which is better known in Pennsylvania than in the South, is rather bigger than the A. & M. having something like a hundred and fifty more students. Like A. & M. Bucknell goes in strongly for athletics. The boys from Lewisburg will be a tough proposition on the gridiron. Yet A. & M. has hopes of showing that football material grows just as big and runs to as fine quality in the land of tar and turpentine as in the land of coal and iron. As the Quaker element is strong in both Pennsylvania and North Carolina, for Quakers take to football like ducks to water, despite of peace society traditions, there will be a pretty lively tug of war.

The game will take place on the new athletic field at the college, and will begin at 4 o'clock. Tickets will be on sale at the Tucker Building Pharmacy.

Bucknell's Probable Line-Up

The husky visitors will probably line-up as follows:

Right end, Bartholomew.
Right tackle, Reading.
Right guard, Durkin.
Center, Schmidt (captain).
Quarterback, Cruikshank.
Fullback, Topham ("Tip").

How A. & M. Will Probably Line-Up

The A. & M., first string on Thursday will probably be as follows.

Stafford, (captain) quarterback.
Harris, fullback.
Seifert, right end.
Dunn, right tackle.
McIver, right guard.
Floyd, center.

Carolina Defeats Bingham.

Chapel Hill, Oct. 16.—Carolina defeated Bingham School of Asheville here Saturday by the score of 12 to 0.

Will Recover From Injuries Received When Run Over by Auto.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 16.—At last it can be stated with assurance that little Emma Hamilton the 7 year old girl run down about a month ago by an automobile driven by Mr. H. C. Bridgers of Tarboro, will recover. Her physicians discharged her as a patient today. For three weeks her life hung, as it were, by a thread and she was thought to be dying repeatedly. There were throngs of school children passing at the time of the accident and Mr. Bridgers was driving with caution, every one admitting that the accident was practically unavoidable, owing to the undue fright of the child. Mr. Bridgers has provided the medical and trained nurse attention and spared no expense in aiding in the effort to save the life of the child. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Hamilton.

A Pitcher's Battle.

(By Ty Cobb.)

The contest Saturday between New York and Philadelphia was a battle pure and simple between two masters of the art of pitching. The most sensational artist of the two went down to defeat.

The headiest and most conservative twirler, a workman, that made every ball perform its duty, a man that seemed to figure out and then execute it, for each ball, was returned victorious in this eventful battle for the supremacy in the first game of the world's series of 1911.

Matthewson's work was ideal. He seemed to have wonderful control of every ball pitched to every man who came to the bat and always held the game just where he wanted it.

To define his work would take many pages. He seemed to have every angle analyzed and he was a complete master of the Athletics at all times.

To Bender, the vanquished, I must say that his work was truly wonderful. It was glittering. From the beginning to the end of this game he was the sensation pitcher, accomplishing his ends with wonderful speed and simply over-riding the opposition by main strength alone. His flinging over-shoulder Matthewson's as you can judge from the fact that Bender struck out eleven Giants holding them down to five hits and while Matty's record was six hits and he struck out only five.

But I don't wish to detract any from the wonderful work of Matthewson, for it was he alone who decided this game against the Athletics. No other pitcher on the New York staff could have put up such wonderful work as "Matty."

To have pitched "Matty" in the second game instead of the first would have seen the Athletics winners of the first contest of this great series.

Wright's New Aeroplane.

Kitty Hawk, N. C., Oct. 16.—With the assembling today of the Wright brothers' latest development in the science of aviation, about which so much speculation has been indulged in, spectators were given their first view of the new flying device which is to be used by the famous aeroplane inventors in the solution of the problem of sustained flight with minimum power. The new glider as the Wrights call it, differs only slightly in form from the present day machine now in use by them and is not a buzzard shaped affair as has been reported. It is much lighter, however, than any machine in use by the Wrights, weighing only about 145 pounds.

There was not enough wind today to fly the new aeroplane from Kill Devil Hill and the first flight is expected to take place next Monday, as the Wrights insist upon observing the Sabbath.

When the parts of the machine were assembled today its appearance bore out the statement of Orville Wright that it was intended merely as a glider. It is a biplane, the plane measuring 32 feet across from tip to tip and 5 1-2 feet in breadth. From upper to lower plane there is a space of 5 1-2 feet. As in the case of the first Wright machine, the new glider is supported on skids. These, however, are much lighter than those of the standard machine. The central levers are arranged the same as the power driven machine. There is a double rear vertical rudder and a horizontal tail plane, exactly like the power aeroplane except that the tail frame is shorter and of lighter construction.

One noticeable change in the glider is the lifting curve of the main plane. This curve, which runs from the entering edge to the rear of the plane, is decidedly flatter than the old style.

There is no apparent reason why the glider should not be able to travel a considerable distance in a stiff wind and it is believed it will be easier to control than any machine now in use. It presents practically no radical departure from the accepted type of Wright biplane.

The hanger and camp of the Wrights is about a quarter of a mile from the summit of Kill Devil Hill, where the first Wright aviation experiments took place.

RECEPTION COMMITTEE

GENERAL CARR INVITES 200 PROMINENT CITIZENS TO MEET GOVERNOR HARMON

WILSON PEOPLE HONORED

(By W. J. Martin.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 16.—Over two hundred of three hundred prominent citizens in every part of the state invited to serve as aides in the reception and entertainment of Governor Harmon, of Ohio, when he comes to the state fair Wednesday have notified General Julian S. Carr, chairman of the reception committee that they expect to be on hand for the service. Gen. Carr has designated Commissioner of Insurance J. R. Young, as chairman of the local sub-committee. Governor Harmon is to arrive Tuesday evening in time for dinner at the Governor's mansion and to be present for the dedication exercises in the big new Raleigh auditorium. General Carr and his committee will escort Gov. Harmon to the fair grounds Wednesday morning at 11:00 o'clock and these to the Country Club for luncheon. If he remains in the city until evening he will be a guest of Col. A. B. Andrews for dinner. Those from Wilson are Messrs. Geo. D. Green and Geo. W. Connor.

Rev. A. J. Moncrief and family left today for Barnesville, Ga., where Mr. Moncrief will take up the pastorate of the First Baptist church, he delivered yesterday his fairwell sermon as pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church in this city, closing quite a successful pastorate of five years.

The railroad companies have made complete preparation for the handling of immense crowds for the state fair this week. Wednesday and Friday are expected to be the extra special days. Gov. Harmon, of Ohio, will be the bright and particular star for Wednesday when he delivers an address at the fair grounds and the great Barnum & Bailey Circus is to come on Friday and will be with the fair in attracting the crowds. However the fair will have the benefit of the railroad fair tickets for all who come in by rail that day, whether they take in the fair or devote their attention to the circus.

With fair weather conditions this week the state fair gives every assurance of being a record breaker in every respect. There are exceptionally strong attractions in addition to the exceptionally extensive and attractive exhibits. There will be Judge Harmon as the star attraction Wednesday. There will be three flights daily by a Curtiss aeroplane, a big wild west show with three hundred people and horses, a remarkable high wire man, midway features in exceptionally large numbers and high type, an automobile exhibit that has never been equaled in this state, and a racing program for horses that is exceptionally well filled.

Mr. Gaston Stafford, who has been for many years in charge of the North Carolina State fair grounds here, was stricken with paralysis last night, and is in a precarious condition. He is about seventy years old.

There was a fifteen thousand dollar real estate deal here today in which Marsh & Co., wholesale grocers, purchased from the estate of Job P. Wyatt, deceased the four story brick building fronting 17 feet on Martin street and running through to Market street it is now occupied by the Wilson Cafe. Marsh & Co. have not indicated whether they will occupy it with their wholesale business or continue to rent it.

Announcement is made that the annual meeting of the North Carolina Division United Confederate Veterans will be held in the hall of the house of Representatives on Wednesday night, next, Major W. A. Graham, presiding. He is president of the association and Capt. S. Ashe is secretary.

Numbers of the marshals for the State Fair are already arriving and the indications are for the largest attendance of marshals in the history of the State Fair. Among those who have promised to serve are: L. J. Sears, Apex; T. Kinston; Rufus M. Williams, A. Allen; Robert N. Gannt; Johnson, Charlotte; William Hill, Jr., W. A. Blair; J. Hanes, Phillip Williams, Beverly Stras, Winston-Salem; J. C. Cooper, Fayetteville; M. C. Owen, Warsaw; Jno. S. Cunningham, L. Watt Norton, Durham; C. B. Jordan, Carrie; Deland C. McRae, Thomasville; Walton B. Wilson, Jr., Greenville; B. W. Parham, Thomasville; R. P. Boykin, Wilson; J. J. Farriss, High Point; W. H. Hamilton, Plymouth; Hunt Hunter, Greensboro; Thos. F. Cheatham, Roxboro; Jno. A. Parker, Charlotte; E. S. W. Daniels, Burlington; P. G. Sawyer, Elizabeth City; R. J. Britt, Lumberton; J. L. Springs, Lake Maccamaw; David Clark, Charlotte; J. S. DIVISION OF A. T. CO.

THE DISTRIBUTION WILL BE MADE INTO FOUR SEPARATE COMPANIES

THE MODUS OPERANDI

New York, Oct. 16.—The plan for the dissolution of the American Tobacco Company in compliance with the decision of the United States Supreme Court decreeing it an illegal combination was officially made public last night. It will be submitted to the United States circuit court of the Southern district of New York for approval Monday. It was decided to make the plan public prematurely owing to the publication today of a summary purporting to be official but which, according to Delancy Nicholl, counsel for the American Tobacco Company, was incorrect.

The official plan provides for division of the American Tobacco Company into four companies, no one of which, it is stated, will have a controlling influence in the tobacco business.

The four companies are the present American Tobacco Company in which will continue its corporate existence the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., which is to be organized; the P. Lorillard Company, also to be organized and the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, an existing corporation. Disintegration is to be brought about by selling $115,000,000 of the property of the American Tobacco Company consisting of factories, brands, businesses and capital stock of tobacco manufacturing companies now owned and controlled by it to the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., and the P. Lorillard Company for cash and securities of the two vendee companies and by distributing to common stockholders of the American Tobacco Company two thirds of the securities of the various subsidiary companies controlled by it to the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., and the P. Lorillard Company for cash and securities of the two vendee companies, and by distributing to common stockholders of the American Tobacco Company two thirds of the stock of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company now owned by the American Tobacco Company.

The plan also provides for distribution in the form of dividends of the securities of the various subsidiary companies controlled by it to the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., and the P. Lorillard Company for cash and securities of the two vendee companies, and by distributing to common stockholders of the American Tobacco Company two thirds of the stock of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company now owned by the American Tobacco Company.

The plan also provides for distribution in the form of dividends of the securities of the various subsidiary companies controlled by it to the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., and the P. Lorillard Company for cash and securities of the two vendee companies, and by distributing to common stockholders of the American Tobacco Company two thirds of the stock of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company now owned by the American Tobacco Company.

The plan also provides for distribution in the form of dividends of the securities of the various subsidiary companies controlled by it to the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., and the P. Lorillard Company for cash and securities of the two vendee companies, and by distributing to common stockholders of the American Tobacco Company two thirds of the stock of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company now owned by the American Tobacco Company.

It provides further for radical changes in the voting power of the stock so that the twenty nine individual defendants who formerly controlled the American Tobacco Company through the ownership of fifty six per cent of the common stock, will surrender this control.

The principal financial feature of the plan is an assessment on the $40,260,400 common stock of the American Tobacco Company amounting to $36,641,215 or about 91 per cent which will be used toward the proposed retirement and cancellation of the company's existing bonds. For this assessment, however, the common stockholders will receive stock of the Liggett & Myers and P. Lorillard companies.

It is set forth that the 80 per cent of the production of cigarettes in the United States, now controlled by the American Tobacco Company, will be divided practically 37 per cent to the American Tobacco Company, 28 per cent to Liggett & Myers Co. and 15 per cent to P. Lorillard Company.

The 77 per cent of smoking tobacco Company; 20 per cent to the Liggett & Myers Co., and 22 per cent to the P. Lorillard Company and 2 to the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company.

The 80 per cent of plug tobacco will be divided practically 25 per cent to the American Tobacco Company, 34 per cent to Liggett & Myers and 3 per cent to the Lorillard Company and 18 per cent to the Reynolds nolds company.

The 79 per cent of fine cuts tobacco will be divided about 10 per cent to the American Tobacco Company 41 per cent to Liggett & Myers and 28 per cent to Lorillard company. The per cent of cigar manufacturing controlled will be divided about 10 per cent to the American Cigar Company, 6 to the Lorillard Company and 1 to the American Stogie Company.

The 93 per cent control of "little cigars" will be divided about 15 to the American Tobacco Company, 44 to Liggett & Myers and 34 to the Lorillard Company. The ninety per cent of the snuff business will be divided practically 32 per cent to the present American Snuff Company, 30 per cent to the George W. Helms Company and 28 per cent to Weyman & Bruton Co., the latter two companies to be organized.

Each preferred stockholder of the American Tobacco Company will be offered the right to exchange one third of his holdings at par into seven per cent preferred stock of the Liggett & Myers and Lorillard companies.

The effect of these changes when made will be to pay off the entire bonded debt of the American Tobacco Company, amounting to $104,236,750 and to reduce its assets correspondingly. It will be left with $52,459,500 of the preferred stock and $40,260,100 of common stock as its only outstanding securities.

The preferred stock will be given full voting rights and the control of the American Tobacco Company will thus pass from the 29 individual defendants to the holders of the $92,719,800 preferred and common stock.

Both the preferred stock of Liggett & Myers and Lorillard companies will also have full voting rights and the twenty nine defendants will control neither of these companies. The same will be true of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company. None of the four companies will have any interest in or relation to the other, although at the outset they will of necessity have many stockholders in common.

No small group of men, not even of twenty nine individual defendants in the aggregate will own the control of any of the principal, accessory or subsidiary companies, the plan states.

The total cost to the common stockholders of putting the plan into effect it is set forth including the increased interest and preferred dividend charges capitalized on a five per cent basis, the payment of bonds at above par, the expenses of the disintegration itself and the organization of the new companies will amount at least to $22,000,000, this in addition to $36,651,925 in cash to be used toward paying the bonds of the company.

Whitney Is $250,000 Loser.

New York, Oct. 16.—English turf experts compute that Harry Payne Whitney's activity on the English turf this year has cost him $250,000. Whitney's luck since March has been so bad that it has been a byword on the race track. He has had more than 40 horses in training, but he has won only 13 races, and they were mostly small events.

Few English turfmen, even Leopold Rothschild, Sir Ernest Cassel, or the Joel brothers, maintain racing stables on such a scale of magnificence as Whitney. His trainer, Andrew Jackson Joyner, says that they cost $50,000 a year in forfeits alone, that is, in sums paid to release horses from their engagements to run in events for which they have been entered.

Views of Asheville to Be Shown in Motion Pictures.

Asheville, Oct. 16.—Asheville, with other cities of the South, is to be represented in moving pictures on the circuits covered by one of the largest moving picture houses in the country. The Vitagraph Motion Picture Company has sent here C. L. Fuller to secure views in and around Asheville, including the Sunset drive and Vance monument. The idea is to have the views of ten cities in the South on one film 1,000 feet long, giving 100 feet for each city. The film will be sent over the circuit covered by the company and this has some 8,000 moving picture theatres throughout the country.

Wake Forest 53. Roanoke 6.

Wake Forest, N. C., Oct. 16.—In the second college game of the season played here Saturday afternoon, Wake Forest trampled upon the team from Roanoke College for a resulting score of 53 to 6. From the very kick-off it was evident that the visitors would not have a look-in. Not for a moment was the Wake Forest goal in danger while the Roanoke line was hurled back for gains varying from five yards to twenty five, it would be difficult to designate any one as a particular star, though it was pretty well agreed upon that the honors belong to Singlettery for Wake Forest, he making three of the touchdowns himself. Savage showed splendid form in plowing in the line opened gaps at will. Utley kicked six out of nine chances at goal. The third quarter was almost a farce. A continuous series of penalties kept the Wake Forest boys from making but one touchdown and that came in the last few seconds of play.

THE SECOND BATTLE

BETWEEN THE ATHLETICS AND THE GIANTS—MARQUAARD AND COOMBS

WILL TWIRL THE SPHERE

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—With fair weather prevailing and both teams on edge the battle ground between the Giants and Athletics in their struggle for the baseball championship was shifted here today. Although the Giants have tasted first blood, the Quaker fans are confident the world title will remain here.

However the Giants are the favorites waging they will win the series by odds of 5 to 3.

There was a large crowd about the entrance at 8 o'clock. It is believed that McGraw will send Marquard to the box while Mack will select Coombs. It is thought the result will be another pitcher's battle. The Giant left New York at nine o'clock on a special train getting here at eleven. Both managers are silent yet direct in the prediction as to the outcome of the game. The batting order will be the same with the exception of the batteries.

The game opened with the batteries for New York, Marquard and Meyers for Philadelphia Plank and Thomas. Umpires, Kelm, Dineen, Brennan and Connelly.

CAREER OF JUSTICE HARLAN.

The career of Justice Harlan was unique in the development of an ordinary country politician into one of the greatest legal intellects of the day.

Harlan was often acclaimed the greatest constitutional authority of his day. It was the late Justice Brewer who said of him: "I believe he retires at night with one hand on the constitution and the other on the Bible, safe and happy in a perfect faith in justice and righteousness."

STOCKS

New York, Oct. 16.—Although prices were irregular at the opening of the stock market the railroads and industrials made substantial gain. Southern Ry. preferred was one of the features in the initial transaction advancing over a point. Fractional gains were also made in the common. Union and Southern Pacific opened 1-2 higher. The curb was irregular. Americans in London were buyabout.
