RAPIDLY BECOMING

DEMOCRATIC The answer of the German government to President Wilson this afternoon shows the forces of democracy are at work in that country.

MR. A. L. DICKENS

The death of Mr. A. L. Dickens, Chief Police of the city of Wilson, which occurred yesterday at twelve o'clock noon at the residence of his brother, Mr. W. R. Dickens in this city following an attack of influenza was heard with profound sorrow for he has, during his brief career as an officer and later succeeding Chief Wings, endeared himself to the people of Wilson and by his management of his office demonstrated rare powers of diplomacy and a method of securing results along the line of least resistance.

Handsome, courteous, obliging, with manners deferential but not cringing, stern in the enforcement of the law, and uncompromising in principle where it was involved the Chief made himself felt in all circles where the government of the city was involved.

He will be greatly missed and our people mourn.

He was 32 years of age and single. His remains were taken on 80 to Kaffield where the interment occurred this afternoon in the family cemetery. The services were conducted by the Baptist minister there, assisted by the Odd Fellows of which organization has was a devoted member. He leaves a mother and brothers to mourn his departure. One of them, Captain Dickens, is in France and the readers of the Times have read interesting letters from his pen.

EVIDENCE OF ILL-TREATMENT OF PRISONERS BY GERMANS

An Atlantic Post, Oct. 21.—Escaping after ten months' confinement in German prison camps by a daring leap from a moving train and a 125-mile pilgrimage at night across Westphalia into Holland, Private Herbert Hatcher of the 14th Canadian Trenchers, arrived here last night on his way to his home in Vancouver, B. C.

During his entire confinement in Germany he declared, he did not see a piece of meat, vegetables or bread, bread, corn coffee and "soup that was wouldn't eat." Many of the other prisoners died from hunger and over work, he said, and he had remained from 150 to 175 pounds when he finally escaped.

WILL NOT OPEN WAREHOUSES

The decision not to open the tobacco warehouses this week, which was reached after a conference of the proprietors of the warehouses in eastern North Carolina after conference here Saturday night will be applauded by all right thinking citizens whether they are peculiarly interested or not. The fact that the affected more than anyone else, viewed from a financial standpoint shows that they realize the danger of the situation and are not complaining still but are meeting the situation in a generous and broad-minded way.

The situation, according to Dr. Smith of the health board today, is that conditions in the country especially in those sections where there has been very little, is that they are bad. This means that the epidemic is simply finding new material on which to feed.

The heroic work of our health department and of our noble women, has kept the disease from doing as much damage here as it otherwise would, as is evidenced by the publications in other papers.

The decision to continue to close the cotton mills which was agreed to by the proprietors is a good thing. All recognize that the conditions which have obtained at the cotton mills and obtain now, while improving, would not be conducive to the health of that section if the mills remain open.

The decision to open the stores during the entire day is also commendable for the reason that all the people and all the trade is engaged and the people are thrown together without being waited on. The showing of help in the stores quite honestly throws the people together more than if it was handled during a private lunch of time.

The decision to continue the closing of the tobacco market is in the opinion of the Times also a wise decision. The conditions in the town are improving but in the sections of the county where the has been none of the trouble it is spreading, seeking new material. It would, therefore, spread the disease around.
