COLLECTIVE BARGAINING

Strikes and Lockouts Deplored By Members of the Committee

REPRESENTING PUBLIC

Washington, Oct. 10.—Opposition to collective bargaining and the closed shop were among the twelve principles reported by capital and presented to the Industrial Conference here this morning.

Sympathetic strikes, boycotts and blacklists were declared unpardonable, unsocial and should be illegal. While deploring strikes and lockouts, the right of strikes or lockouts should not be denounced after all possible means of adjustment had been exhausted.

The right of hours, wages, etc., should only be applied to privately owned industries, but in the case of public utilities which must be operated in the interest of the public such regulation must be applied as will insure continuous operation as well as provide the machinery for the prompt settlement of disputes.

Opposition to strikes on the part of government employees was also expressed, but that the right to strike in order to safeguard their interests should be obviated by making the machinery to prevent strikes more elastic and applicable to such situations.

For the settlement of disputes arising from individual differences it was asserted that each plant should arrange its own rules for the adjustment of these differences.

Other suggestions dealt with the hours of work and wages and the right to association and it was declared that the right of association either of employers or employees should be subject to the conduct and assembling of its agents.

After an hour recess the conference decided to adjourn to meet on Tuesday next, when the general heads of the 15 delegations will consider the proposals submitted by the three groups representing capital, labor and the public.

DAUGHTERS OF CONFEDERACY

Endorse League of Nations. Mrs. Harvey of Kinston Re-Elected President

MRS. WOODARD CHAPLAIN

High Point, Oct. 9.—Perhaps it can be stated very truly that more significant business has been crowded into today's sessions of the convention of the Daughters of the Confederacy than any one day of previous conventions could record. During the afternoon resolutions endorsing the League of Nations were adopted, officers for the ensuing year were elected, $1,200 was raised on the floor to provide a nurse for sick inmates at the Confederate women's home at Fayetteville and much other business of importance transacted.

Every officer was elected without an opposing candidate. Those who will form the new cabinet are Mrs. J. F. Harvey, of Kinston, president; Mrs. J. F. Hayden, of High Point, first vice president; Mrs. J. M. Guder, of Asheville, second vice president; Mrs. L. R. Barnwell, of Hendersonville, third vice president; Mrs. John Huske Anderson of Fayetteville, recording secretary; Mrs. J. F. Taylor, of Kinston, corresponding secretary; Mrs. L. F. Long, of Newton, treasurer; Mrs. S. W. Harrell, of Tarboro, recorder of crosses; Mrs. L. E. Fisher, of Asheville, registrar; Miss Lowery Shuford, of Gastonia, historian; Mrs. Fred Woodard of Wilson, chaplain and Mrs. H. G. Strayhorn, of Thomasville, director of children's chapter.

The resolution endorsing the League of Nations was presented by Mrs. M. O. Winstead of Rocky Mount and was as follows:

"Whereas, the war, now brought to a victorious close by the associated power of the free nations of the world, was above all else a war to end war and protect human rights; therefore,

"Be it further resolved that we favor the establishment of a League of Nations. We believe that such a league should aim at promoting the liberty, progress and orderly development of the world.

"Be it further resolved that we favor the entrance of the United States into such a league as may be adequate to safeguard the peace that has been won by the joint forces of the allied nations.

"Be it further resolved, that copies of these resolutions be sent to the President of the United States, and Senators representing the state of North Carolina at Washington, and to the Hon. William H. Taft, President of the League to Enforce Peace."

An interesting feature of the afternoon was an address by Col. A. H. Boyden, of Salisbury, showing the immense advantage of North Carolina troops at Gettysburg and other important battles and bringing in strong review the small appreciation of the state for such service.

"I am never going to Raleigh again to ask an appropriation for the benefit of the men who wore the gray," said Col. Boyden. "The next time I go to present a need, I am going to state facts and demand the appropriation."

Mr. R. B. House, of Raleigh, representing the State Historical Commission, appeared on the floor this morning asking the Daughters' cooperation in the erection of a memorial building at the State's capitol to preserve State records and relics of the revolutionary period, the war between the States and the great world war.

In a resolution, which was carried assistance was assured Mr. House and a committee will be appointed in every chapter of the State for this purpose. Data of the service of North Carolina soldiers in the recent great conflict will be sought of both whites and negroes.

THE THIN GRAY LINE Is Growing Ever Thinner, but the Same Indomitable Spirit Shone in

THE ATLANTA PARADE

Atlanta, Oct. 10.—Veterans of the army of the Confederacy more than 8000 strong paraded here today and thus spent the closing hours of their 29th reunion. The line of march was more than a mile long, and was lined with thousands who cheered and wept and laughed as the heroes of the 60's filed past, many of them on their last march.

Many of these soldiers of the Confederate war are between 70 and 80 years of age, and several of them were compelled to drop out and sit on the curbing. Few calls however were made for the ambulances that stood waiting for emergencies.

Unveiling Monument to Jackson

Richmond, Va., Oct. 10.—The Virginia National guard and the cadets from the various schools of the state are here to participate in the unveiling of the equestrian statue of General Stonewall Jackson.

Miss Annie Christian Preston, great Confederate leader unveiled the statue.

JEWISH CHILDREN IN EUROPE DREAD THE COMING WINTER

New York, Oct. 10.—More than a million Jewish children throughout eastern Europe are looking forward with dread to the coming of the winter, according to reports received lately by the American Jewish Relief Committee from relief workers abroad.

Children do not ordinarily look forward even a few weeks, but hardships have taught these little ones a sad maturity, the investigators say. At eight or ten years old, their wizened faces are those of premature age. Their conversation when they talk at all, which is not often, is like that of grown-ups, having to do solely with their chances of getting food, and their fear of the suffering entailed by inclement weather. They almost never cry, for they have learned already that it does no good.

Vice President Stops Applause

Washington, Oct. 9.—A quick barking command from Vice-President Marshall at the conclusion late today of a dramatic appeal by Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Massachusetts for League of Nations that would do justice to oppressed nations of the world and for reservations to the pending League covenant broke up in its very beginning a demonstration that threatened for a moment to sweep through the Senate galleries.

For more than an hour Senators and visitors had listened intently to the address and as Senator Walsh laid down the last page of his manuscript, and with arms raised high, pleaded against approval of the Shantung settlement "and the dangers lurking in Article Ten" of the League covenant, a faint ripple of applause was instantly followed by a more pronounced outburst.

PRESIDENT WILSON IMPROVING RIGHT ALONG

Let Us Have Your Name Please.

We have received an unsigned communication regarding a public hospital for Wilson which was unsigned. Please let us have your name. There is nothing objectionable in the communication, neither do we desire to publish the name, but merely desire to get our folks in the habit of signing their names to articles and thus assuming responsibility for same. If you desire your name left off, just sign, subscriber, reader, citizen or anything, and at the bottom say, do not print my name to the article, and then give your name, and your wishes will be respected. It is very seldom that any one comes in and requests the name of authors of articles, but when they do we desire to be in a position to give them. We don't want the impression to get out that we are writing articles and are endeavoring to hide behind some plume.

ARTHUR LAMM SHOT HIMSELF.

Arthur Lamm shot himself last evening about seven o'clock in his store on Goldsboro street, but the wound is not serious and he was able to leave the local hospital into which he was rushed right after the attempt to take his own life. About ten o'clock he was able to be removed to his home the physicians in attendance pronouncing the wound as not dangerous.

Those who were standing by when the shot was fired, state that Lamm asked some one to drink with him asserting that this would be the last drink that he would ever take. After taking the drink he drew a pistol of the Smith and Wesson variety and with his right hand fired the bullet just below the shoulder blade. It ranged downward, and coming out on the other side gave Mr. J. W. Vick who was standing near a scarce, since it struck him a slanting blow that grazed the skin and dropped on the floor.

As related above Lamm was taken to the hospital bleeding profusely and finding the wound not dangerous he was later sent home.

Lamm who is a notorious blind tiger and has been up before Mayor Hill and the courts a number of times, and has been paying fines, was yesterday bound over to the Federal Court by Commissioner Knott for having six pints of liquor and several cocoa cola bottles also full.

He gave bond in the sum of $500 for his appearance at court, but when he learned that Judge Connor was sending them to Atlanta, with prison terms of from one to three years he decided to either kill himself or to place himself in such condition as to not be able to appear at this term of court.
