WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11, 1894.

The action of Gov. Tillman, of South Carolina, in seizing the telegraph and rail road lines in his State and in suppressing press dispatches has led to a resolution being introduced into Congress to look into the matter. Tillman seems to have put his foot in it with vengeance.

THERE has been a letter received by Secretary Morton from a prominent citizen of Nebraska, a veteran who did highly honorable service during the war, stating that he has a list of sixty names in one Nebraska company who are drawing from six to twenty-four dollars per month, in pensions and that not one of them ever saw an enemy, or even fired a gun at an enemy, or contracted any disability during the eleven months they served for the Union. There is no doubt that there are many drawing undeservedly and the vast amount of fraud connected with pensions should be probed to the bottom.

LETTER FROM BERKLEY.

I like good wholesome plain talk; but by all means don't allow it to border on brag, brass or abuse. I am not in sympathy with Mr. Freeman's wrong, nor with Mr. Stokes' wrong, but I do love the righteousness of Mr. Freeman and also the righteous of Mr. Stokes. I believe that the "third boy in the fracas" has not added anything towards the Golden Rule plan of thinking, writing and speaking or settlement of the difficulty.

We saw the biggest fire on the 23, that eyes ever beheld. Money Point situated on the Southern branch of the Elizabeth river, containing one large creosote plant, one box factory and a large saw and planing mills, together with forty or fifty dwellings, seventy-five or fifty thousand dollar's worth of lumber covering about an acre of land, 18 of the N. & W. freight cars and any amount of property belonging to the creosote plant, was totally consumed by the fire. It happened at noon—the people were eating dinner, some had just commenced cooking their's; those eating left before finishing; those who were cooking were compelled to take their bread from the ovens with scarcely the first crust upon it, and go to the rescue of their own little children as they stood crying and homeless in the wide open field. Women rung their hands as they asked for their husbands and other dear ones. Some men prayed; some cursed, I am sorry to state. Thieves were there and stole what they could. No lives were destroyed by the fire.

John Saunders family of North Carolina, but lately employed in the Elizabeth knitting mills of this place, was fatally cut in the abdomen a few days ago by his fellow workman, E. S. Harrell. Saunders died at the Retreat for the sick in Norfolk today. Both were young men. One has gone to the eternal world and the other now lies in the jail. A word, a blow, and death is the result. Young men watch your passions. Run, yes a thousand miles if you can, rather than get in an altercation and take the life of another. The Lord Almighty console the bereaved ones of the dead young man. And, O God have mercy on the poor young man now awaiting trial, and perhaps execution at the gallows. Let us all learn a lesson.

Moody and Sanky, of world wide fame, have been to Norfolk. They came, they saw, more than that, they worked, they conquered. But not all, they left some sin and Satan still in Norfolk. But a great victory was gained for righteousness. The great Armory building in Norfolk with its seating capacity of five or six thousand was filled at almost ever service. Possibly three or four hundred stood up for prayers and said "I will accept Christ." The different churches of Norfolk, Portsmouth and Berkley are reaping some of the fruits of the great meetings. But, perhaps, all who stood up were not clear conversions. It was recently reported by Mr. Moody, that there is now in this country, a religious awakening such as has never been seen before. There was nothing like it he said, in the great revival of 1857.

My wife was confined to her bed for over two months with a very severe attack of rheumatism. We could get nothing that would afford her any relief, and as a last resort gave Chamberlain's Pain Balm a trial. To our great surprise she began to improve after the first application, and by using it regularly she was soon able to be up and attend to her house. E. H. Johnson, of C. J. OBITUARY

At Powellsville, Bertie county March 27, 1894, Mrs. Annie Holloman, wife of R. W. Holloman, departed this life in her 23rd year. Her illness was brief, she being confined to her room for three weeks. Her suffering was severe, but she seemed to exercised patience and resignation all through her afflictions. She professed faith in Christ, and united herself with Ahsokie Baptist church. We express our grief at her death; but rejoice in the hope of her eternal rest. We tender our heartfelt sympathy to the grief stricken husband, mother and brother, and to the little children, and pray God's richest blessings upon them.

Sleep dear Annie, sleep, while over thy breast The friends in sadness weep. Let not their tears disturb thy rest, Nor break thy peaceful sleep.
