Addressed to R. A. RIDDICK. By JOHN W. MOORE.

Yet the man could not be found Who more proudly would uphold What he called the rights of freeman Yeomen that from times untold Had swift broken the lines of battle Winning days like Azincourt Should be in immortal honor Here and on the English shore And be, Gods own anointed King Would to them right and justice bring.

So he thought of all divines Doctor Filmer ablest, best And in his every teaching Full persuaded did he rest Scoring every timentation Whigs and the philosophers

Of books he had scant supply Rarely reading ought beside The Holy Scripture and Gazette Or Vanbros, his greatest pride Like Uncle Toby and his henchman That incomparable Paine He would fight his battles over And with tears his eyes grow dim As he recalled some comrade slain, Whose like he ne'er should see again.

He loved the noble sacred past Of the land that gave him birth All the grandeur of its story All the glory, wit and worth Of its statesmen building slowly Empire from the circling Seas Heroes bearing forth her banners Wherever blows the stormy breeze And patriots giving life and blood Liberties to the public good.

No wonder such proud memories Made the half pay Grenadier Soberly safe and sadly gone And there fell upon his ear, Talk of many men around him Touching hosts of troubles sore When the King and ministers With their measures harshly bore Upon the freeborn colonists These freemen of old English

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kid You Have Always Bought. Bears the Signature of J. C. Watson.

She, and young Godwin Cotton Had been loving since the days When in Pinafores together They as children had their plays These old fellows o'er and often Fought their battles o'er again Major Brown at dire Rommiller's Captain Cotton the Main Seaman and soldier thus once more Heard sabres clash and cannon roar.

Thus a strong and lasting link Bound the two in tender bonds Ancient veterans of days Of which both were still so fond When Hawke on Betsy, raging wild Triumphed in the midnight storm And Wolfe on plains of Abraham Laid down his own heroic form And every where from East to West Lord Chatham's fame was at the best.

These lovers had not disclosed Unto others what they felt Only in their mutual trusting Hoping they could some way meet The stubborn will of Major Brown When he knew how long and well They had loved each other so They were sure that he would tell Them, that he blessed with all his heart These two, that held so large a part.

But the courses of true love Have ever seemed doomed to be Subject to perturbations Like all things that are earthly These two; who had been so fondly Counting on their future bliss Were told to meet no more forever And the way it came was this— Major Brown and Captain Cotton In a quarrel they had gotten.

The Prettiest Calendar. Each year when receive the Hood's Sarsaparilla Calendar we wonder how it is possible to originate such clever designs. The "Proverb Calendar" itself is suspended in form of two little tots, one robed in delicate pink and the other in blue. On the reverse side there are the usual astronomical calculations and other facts. The Calendar is made to stand alone on desk or table, or it may be suspended on the wall. You should be sure to get one of these Calendars from your druggist, or one will be mailed to you by sending 9 cents in stamps to C. L. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

ASK YOUR DOCTOR! Ask your physician this question, "What is the one great remedy for consumption?" He will answer, "Cod-liver oil." Nine out of ten will answer the same way.

Yet when persons have consumption they loathe all fatty foods, yet fat is necessary for their recovery and they cannot take plain cod-liver oil. The plain oil disturbs the stomach and takes away the appetite. The disagreeable fishy odor and taste make it almost unendurable. What is to be done?

This question was answered when we first made SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. Although that was nearly twenty-five years ago, yet it stands alone today the one great remedy for all affections of the throat and lungs.

The bad taste and odor have been taken away, the oil itself has been partly digested, and the most sensitive stomach objects to it rarely. Not one in ten can take and digest the plain oil. Nine out of ten can take SCOTT'S EMULSION and digest it. That's why it cures so many cases of early consumption. Even in advanced cases it brings comfort and greatly prolongs life.

The Modern "Jesus Letters". "An American Mother" will conceal the identity of one of the most prominent women of the day in the authorship of a series of singularly frank articles about to begin in The Ladies' Home Journal. The articles will deal with the vital questions entering into modern American womanhood, and the directness of their character is as a way revealed in the title of the first article, "Have Women Robbed Men of Their Religion" which the writer boldly answers in the affirmative. The series will then go on and deal with the exact conditions prevailing in girls' colleges, revealing an unusually keen insight, and drawing some emphatic deductions which will awaken unusually interest.
