AS TO THE S. A. L. EXTENSION FROM LEWISTON TO WINDSOR.

An Official of the Engineering Department visits Windsor and goes over the two Proposed Routes.

A Mass Meeting Held Wednesday Night

Mr. E. W. Smith of the engineering department of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad, was in Windsor last Wednesday night. He came as a result of the conference a delegation of our citizens had with the President of that road recently. The purpose of his visit here was to ascertain, approximately, the cost of extending the road from Lewiston to Windsor, and to find out if possible if there were any physical obstructions or difficulties along the proposed route. He came from Lewiston over what is termed the most direct route. He then rode about town and looked over several places where a terminal station might be located. The next morning he was carried back to Lewiston by the way of Indian Woods, the other route proposed. The advocates or favorites of each route endeavored to show him the advantages each possessed. At night a mass meeting of the citizens was held in the court house and Hon. A. S. Rascoe was elected chairman, and Mr. S. W. Kenney Secretary. An interchange of opinions was had and several of our citizens made talks: A committee consisting of A. S. Rascoe, T. Gillam, R. C. Bazemore, E. L. Gatling and J. H. White was appointed to ascertain as near as practicable the volume of business of the town and of the two proposed routes and what the town, itself or any of its individual citizens in a public and progressive spirit, would do in the way of a site for a terminal station; whether or not it would be donated to the railroad as an inducement for it to come; or to give the approximate cost.

This committee will at once get to work. Mr. Smith will file his report with the President in the course of a week, and at that time he suggested that the committee also file its report, that the two may be considered jointly or at the same time; for the greater the inducement the greater the argument; that the inducements may offset the cost of building the road as much as possible.

Mr. Smith was in no position to make any definite statement or offer any prospects of the road coming. His duty lies in the engineering department, the department whose purpose is to expend money. Therefore he came principally, or solely to investigate the physical condition of the country and the proposed routes and to report an approximate cost of the extension. In this, however, he was most favorably impressed. He found a flat flourishing farming country necessitating no grading, or tresseling practically at all. He so expressed himself. He also found the sentiment strong and unanimous and commented on the bright prospects of our rich, fertile farming section. He will make his report to the President and the committee will do likewise. Then the question will be considered and probably determined. It may be that a representative from the traffic department will also come and make an investigation. Let the favorites of each route assist the committee, at once, in making an approximation of the volume of business each will afford and the direct and material inducements each has to offer. The committee will ascertain as near as possible what inducements the town and citizens will give or make in the way of a terminal station.

Orphans' Singing Class

Since the days of John H. Mills, first Superintendent of the Oxford Orphanage, a singing Class from that Institution has annually made a tour of this state, until now it has become so well known and the concerts by these little ones are much enjoyed that the people have come to look on the Class as one of our state Institutions.

This Class started out on Monday for another of these tours which will cover almost the entire state before it is completed, with two rest spells of two weeks each to break the tedium of the tours.

Much success to this Class of Singers which represents the cause so near the hearts of the good people of this state.

Obituary

On January 31, 1913, our Heavenly Father, in his infinite wisdom and love saw fit to remove from our midst our beloved brother, Z. W. White, age 63 years. He has been a faithful member of Green's Cross Roads Baptist Church for about 40 years, and for several years has served as deacon.

He will be greatly missed in the church, in the Sabbath school, and in our community.

Because of Brother White's death, the Green's Cross Local Union No. 1804 F. E. & C. U. of A. wishes to give expression to their sorrow, and to the high esteem in which he was held as a member and a leader.

He has been president of our local union since its organization in February, 1911.

Therefore be it.

Resolved 1. That in the death of brother White we realize that our oldest and most faithful member has been transferred to his Heavenly home,

2. That we, as union bow in humble submission to Him who doeth all things well.

3. That the Union, community and state have lost a valuable leader whose place cannot easily be filled.

4. That we extend to his family our tenderest sympathy and pray God who careth for all, to also be their stay.

5. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family, a copy spread on our Local Union record, and one be sent to the Windsor Ledger and Carolina Union Farmer each for

AMBITION TALKS

HARLAN READ

Our Happiness of Today Depends Upon
Our Plans of Tomorrow.

Tell me why well-meaning people go from the stork's nest to the Styx without saving the price of a rainy-day meal and I will give you the reason boys get drunk.

Explain why children or their parents neglect the very fundamentals of education while the glow of youth is yet within them, and I shall quote your own words to tell you why the Chinese smoke opium.

There is a similarity between the follies, and a kinship among fools, and it lies in this: That the fool says in his heart, "Tomorrow is not important." Extravagance, booze-fighting, mental neglect and opium are only possible to the half-wit who lives for the sake of today.

Tomorrow is the day for which wise men prepare, and in the preparation they discover a wonderful today; for happiness and peace depend upon imagination, and imagination looks forward.

Tomorrow is what brings to us the reward or punishment for today. Our plans and efforts for today must invariably be controlled by the sort of tomorrow we desire; for every man works for what he wants, and the sincerity of his desire is tested in the refining pot of effort.

Joy is a state of conscious growth that looks forward to what is to come, and no permanent happiness can come to the man who lives only in yesterday and today.

Imagination and ambition are soul-mates because they are both looking forward to tomorrow.

CHARGE OF THE BARGAIN BRIGADE.

Half a league, half a league,
Half a league onward!
Quick to the bargain sale
Rushed the Six Hundred.
Forward, female brigade,
'Charge the dress goods' she said
To the department store
Surged the Six Hundred.
'Forward female brigade.'
Was there a soul dismayed?
Hopeful, but yet afraid,
Counters were plundered,
Theirs not to make reply,
Theirs but to dress and fly,
Theirs only but to try
To get there first or die.
Quick to that bargain sale
Tore the Six Hundred!

Silks to the right of them
Ginghams to the left of them
Linen before them,
Floor walkers wondered!
Quizzing the tired clerks
(You know just how it works,
Pawing with frantic jerks,
Remnants all sundered,
Bravely they rushed and well
Hither and you, pell mell,
Without a breathing spell
Crazy Six Hundred.
Flashed fingers here and there
Snapping up bargains rare,
Each seeming not to care
That the clerks wondered
Right down the line they broke,
Grabbed remnants--holy smoke!
Bargain sales are no joke,
Every one blundered!
Fought for the choicest goods,
Frantic Six Hundred!

What a cleanup they made
At that wild bargain raid!
'Will the goods wash or fade?'
Each woman wondered,
Honor the nerve displayed
Over each nine-cent trade,
Whether 'twas charged or paid,
Tired Six Hundred.

A Correction

Mr. Editor:
It is learned that some misinterpreted a passage in the article headed "Evangelistic Services" in your issue of March 13th.

The passage reads as follows: "It has been ascertained that not a few were laboring under the delusion that this evangelist is identified with the Russell movement. This is the case." What is the case? That if any identified this gospelier with said movement it is a delusion.

When much younger, while in England, an aged servant of the Lord gave me some information which has proved very valuable and through the kindness of the Editor I should like to pass it on.

The question put was as follows: In view of the fact that in these last days so many strange doctrines of mush-room growth spring up how is one to distinguish between the true or false?

He replied: test all by the following rule:

If the doctrine is true it will always exalt Christ and atoning work, will give Him His true place and always humble man, put him in his true dust.

If the doctrine is false it will always exalt man and his work, flatter him and belittle Christ, make little of his person and His work. May the reader try this rule.

Now a Christian must be very little Christain if he can accept "Millennial Dawnism" for the first thing he is asked to surrender is the citadel of his faith--Christ; for said teaching degrades Christ to a creature of God's hand. Deny His divinity and what is left? Not the gospel that the apostles preached and for which thousands have laid down their lives.

"Be not deceived evil communications corrupt good manners."
"Test all things." The Bereaus of old were "more" noble because "they searched the scripture daily to see whether those things were so."

Yours truly,
M. R. KEIM,
