Plasma may help patients with COVID

WINDSOR – The American Red Cross says plasma from those who have recovered from COVID-19 may help those suffering from the virus.

One Bertie County man says he knows it does, or at least did in his case.

The Rev. R.O. “Buddy” Denton Jr. had what most would consider a severe case of COVID-19 in August. He was hospitalized for five days and battled double pneumonia as a result of the novel coronavirus.

While battling the disease Rev. Denton received Remdesivir, as have many COVID-19 patients, including President Donald Trump.

But, it was when they gave him plasma from a person who had recovered from COVID-19 that Rev. Denton saw a dramatic change.

Bertie County Relay For Life hopes to be back outdoors with an event on Friday, May 14, 2021 if possible. Last year's event was changed to a drive-thru due to the effects of COVID-19. The county chapter still nearly met its yearly goal.

WINDSOR – In a year filled with COVID-19-related closures, lack of fundraisers and even a drive-thru only event, the Bertie County Chapter of the American Cancer Society would not be denied.

The organization continued to raise awareness and funds for cancer and nearly met their yearlong goal, set well before the novel coronavirus shut down much of North Carolina.

“Given we were not able to host our event or have fundraisers, I think it is tremendous that we were able to do that,” Bertie ACS President Bobbie Parker said.

JoAnn Jordan, who chairs Bertie Relay For Life, agreed.

“I’m delighted with the turnout we had for our drive-thru event. I’m delighted with the funds we raised and I’m delighted we kept the American Cancer Society and particularly those battling cancer at the forefront,” Jordan said. “We have to continue the fight.”

The Bertie County Chapter of ACS raised $226,083.99 during the 2019-2020 year, falling short by less than $4,000 of their
