Has Birthday Party

John Wasilik, Jr., was host at a beautiful party Thursday afternoon, the occasion being his seventh birthday. The children were entertained with various lawn games and contests, the Valentine idea being carried out.

Julius Siler in the archery contest shot nearest to the center of a big red heart and was awarded a jar of candy. George Tessier found the largest number of small red hearts hidden about and his prize was a box of candy.

The children were asked to the dining room where a birthday cake with seven gleaming candles adorned the center of the table. On one end of the table was a Noah's Ark with animals peeping from the port holes and promading around the deck. This delighted the hearts of the little guests, for it too was a most delicious cake.

John's guests were Jane and Julius Siler, Mary Margaret and Phillip Byrne, Robert Dady, Don Young, Jr., Charles Porter, Sloan Kinnebrew, Jr., George Tessier and Elizabeth Wasilik.

A Matter Worthy of Immediate Consideration

In the present situation, perhaps an earning ability is a person's most valuable economic asset. Most of the large life insurance companies have discontinued or greatly restricted the Disability Provision. It is most probably the Provident will do this in the near future. For the immediate present, however, life insurance with the standard Disability Provision, providing both Monthly Income and Waiver of Premium, may be procured.

Is it not a matter of almost vital importance that you provide through Life Insurance with the Disability Clause, for the protection of your earnings in case this earning power is discontinued through total disability?

URGES SOWING OF LESPEDEZA

old pasture it nearly doubles the amount of grating they have been getting from the same land. It dies each fall after the first frost or two but it can not be pastured so close that it will not re-seed for the next year. On new pasture I would recommend that at least three pounds of common and three pounds of Korean be sowed on each acre and on old pasture just about the same. Just scatter the seed over the land so the second year you will have a much better set than the first year.

Each farmer can sow some and save his own seed for use on his pastures and small grains or on land which is not being cultivated because it is too poor. The seed are saved by a simple device which fastens on to the mowing machine.

This can be obtained at a small cost, and with reasonable success it will yield ten bushels of seed per acre. Both Carl Slagle and George Dowdle saved their seed this year.

Since it is one of the leading legumes for the south, and this county, I would like to see every farmer grow at least one acre this year as a hay crop, soil improver, or for seed. It will certainly pay to use it in every cropping system in Macon county and to start this year while seed can be obtained much cheaper than in past years. We are making up one big order for farmers in the county and all persons wanting any seed can see me by February 27 and place their order.

BY REV. NORVIN C. DUNCAN

This being the Bi-centennial of the birthday of George Washington a national committee has asked all churches and organizations to have commemorative services and programs. As Monday is the date of his birth we shall have a service of a commemorative nature on Sunday night. Washington was a communicant of the church, a regular attendant, a vestryman, for 23 years. He gave much time and thought to the work of the church.

Franklin High School Student in Knoxville

Rufus Leroy McCracken, son of F. Y. McCracken, formerly of Franklin, is now attending Knoxville high school where he enlisted after leaving Franklin high several years past. He has served as corporal in the R. O. T. C., received the band medal two years ago, was promoted to second lieutenant and then to first lieutenant. He is now a senior and has the enviable distinction of holding two important offices simultaneously, that of captain of the band and drum major. As the band consists of about ninety-five members this represents a real honor, in which Franklin high school will take the liberty of claiming a share. More power to you Mr. McCracken.

Baptist Church Notes

By REV. EUGENE R. ELLER

Regular services will be held in all departments of the First Baptist church next Sunday morning and evening. We must work to hold our average in our Sunday school. Every command of our Master to His people is that they go forward. If every member will work and pray we will hold our average and reach our possibilities.

The pastor will continue the series of sermons on Sin next Sunday at the evening service at 7:45. The subject for the evening will be "Sin As a Hindrance to Prayer and Consecration." Everybody is invited to all of these services.

The time is drawing near for our series of meetings. Mr. Griggs is urging that we be much in prayer. Unless we work and pray the series of meetings will not be a revival.

A Business Education Pays Best

A recent survey has revealed that a good business education is the best training that a young man or young woman can get to secure a good position and that the depression is affecting bookkeepers and stenographers less than any other class.

Attention is also called to the fact that a business education costs less and requires less time to complete. The poorer boy or girl with a good reputation can secure enough financial aid to undergo a business training in the Athens Business College where four to six months time will qualify them to earn a splendid salary.

Hundreds of young people are today wondering what to do. They are not able to spend four years time and two to three thousand dollars in college. They must go to work. They can find the solution to their problem by qualifying for a good office job.

Bookkeepers and stenographers must be kept by business firms at all times when other classes of help can be cut. Any person desiring a good position with only a few months training will find that the Athens Business College offers a most thorough training in the shortest period of time. Prices of tuition have been made to conform with the present low prices.

Write or call at the office of the school for full particulars as to how you can soon be earning a good salary.
