WEEKLY BIBLE THOUGHT

Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths.

A LOSS TO THE WHOLE COMMUNITY

IN THE death of T. J. Johnston Macon county loses one of its most worthy citizens, a man upon whom one could always depend to know and to do the right thing.

For a short while he served as an emergency judge on the North Carolina Superior Court bench. A thorough student of the law and having a judicious turn of mind, it is unfortunate that he was not called to the bench for longer service.

A good and kindly neighbor, as well as a loving husband and parent, the whole community shares with the family a sense of deep loss in Mr. Johnston's death.

Editorial Clippings

PROVINCE OF A NEWSPAPER

It would be comical, were it not somewhat pathetic, the way newspaper offices are besieged every day by their friends, urging them to "roast" this and that; to "see to it" that this and that is corrected; to have this and that done in the city or county; or start this and that kind of movement to correct evils in the state government.

But a self-respecting newspaper, though ready and willing to carry all reasonable responsibility, must remind its readers that they—the people—are the authority upon whom rests the responsibility for the present state of affairs, local, state and national.

This relationship cannot exist where favors are asked and granted. Honesty is the only policy for a newspaper.

MR. ROCKEFELLER'S RECATANTION

For more reasons than one the letter of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., declaring his own conviction that national prohibition has been a failure and urging the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, carries weight and will prove an important contribution to the agitation for a change.

National prohibition had, perhaps its best chance of success in the beginning because of the powerful backing which it received from many great industrialists.

the interest of economy" are proofs of his fine courage. When he proceeds to suggest bond issues for public improvements, for the engaging of the federal government in varieties of works to give the people employment, he turns his back on the historic policy of the Democratic party.

No Alexander Hamilton or any other Federalist could go further in the defense of the concentration of federal power. He would have the federal government to mother the American people, as though they were a brood of chicks to be gathered under her wing, to be warmed and fed.

That may be good doctrine, but it is antagonistic to all Democratic doctrine.

Government Smith is for more government. Governor Ritchie is for less government.

The poles are not farther apart than they. To save the cities, to keep the thronging and howling millions in them alive, that is the essence of Governor Smith's program.

In his Ten Points he includes none to break down the trade barriers between the countries. What we Americans want and should demand is the restoration of the natural right to exchange our goods, our cotton, our wheat, for the goods of all other countries without paying toll to New York manufacturers.

The naked truth is that the mighty American city with its crowded population and high costs of living inseparable from it cannot in its present form continue unless the country people of America pay tribute to it. We suspect that Governor Smith perceives that. He is a man of extraordinary intelligence.—THE CHARLESTON (S. C.) NEWS AND COURIER.

Brother Robert Fulton gave me a pat on the back for the idea I spoke about last week—that was to give the kiddies of the order a picnic dinner and a day of pleasure in the near future. He said he and Marion Deal have no children, but that they would be glad to borrow several youngsters and bring them out to such an occasion.

Come on boys! Let's give the children a great big, good time before long. I am going to appoint a committee of three to work this up. They are: Robert Fulton, Clyde West and Frank I. Murray.

THE BURIAL OF MY UNCLE JULE SANDERS

On the thirty-first of May My Dear Uncle passed away. He was an invalid many years.

During the time that he was sick? His friends came to see him quick. Though in a feeble state of mind, They tried to treat him good and kind.

And here is why I'm saying this, Because their conscience, too, we miss. Therefore, we wish to thank them all For every time they made a call.

And all the flowers that they gave To cover up his golden grave. Also each word the preachers said To those with heavy heart and head.

For all the program was so great It made the funeral day complete, Which was beyond the average rule— The burial of my Uncle Jule. —TROY F. HORN.
