Dr. Cunningham with Lyday Hospital, Brevard (From Brevard News)

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wyatt are confident that the Lyday Memorial hospital under the direct supervision of Dr. C. E. Cunningham and Dr. C. L. Newland will soon develop into the best hospital in Western North Carolina, according to a statement they made in a recent interview with a representative of the News.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt took their two sons to the hospital Saturday morning for a "three-in-one" operation. The operations on both the boys which turned out to be unusually successful only required 50 minutes.

They wish to send their expressions of gratitude to Dr. Newland, Dr. Cunningham and the nurses, Misses Charles, Dillard and Mrs. Zachary through the columns of this paper.

Mr. Wyatt declared that he would recommend the Lyday Memorial hospital to anyone desiring to go to a good hospital. (Dr. Cunningham was formerly on the staff of Angel Brothers' hospital of Franklin and has many friends here.)

Frank I. Murray and family are spending the week camping near Wayah Bald.

I was afraid that the threshing would have a bad result; anyway it is not serious.

It looks as if every move made for the advancement and upbuilding of Macon county is well represented by a Junior. On the Rotarian-Farmers tour the first two farms visited were those of Juniors. E. V. Ammons sure has a pen of fine hogs and a flock of as good sheep as will be found in the county. Brother C. L. Ingram has gone in strong for purebred beef cattle; in fact he has some of the best beef type stock of the county. I don't know for sure whether C. W. Henderson is a Junior, but I believe he is. Anyway, he has a good farm and some fine purebred hogs.

The tour went to the home of Brother Jake Addington for the most important event of the day—dinner. Brother Addington has a fine herd of dairy cows and one of the best, if not the best, dairy barn and milk house found in Macon county. Another Junior who was in the limelight for the day was Brother Carl Slagle, who made a short talk after the picnic dinner.

Brother Jack Stribbling did me a wrong and the people of the Academy school, near Otto, a loss, when he failed to have a large crowd out for the railroad meeting on Friday evening. Blackburn W. Johnson was the speaker of the evening. Mr. Johnson was going to tell the people the value of keeping the Tallulah Falls railroad; and I had decided to show how the railroad had been of a greater social benefit to Macon county than the trucks and buses had ever been. In all the history of the railroad, there have never been any bums hauled into town by the railroad, while the trucks, cars and other gas buggies are continuously dumping thumb artists and dead-beats into our peaceful county.

I am glad to be able to say that little Ruth Bryson, daughter of Brother and Mrs. C. Tom Bryson, is slowly recovering. Brother George Bryson, of Atlanta, is in Macon county for a visit. It would be a paying investment for the entire county of Macon to keep Mr. Bryson in the county, for he is one of the few men who has ever been able to hold John Thomas, the produce drummer, down. Mr. Bryson used to be mail carrier on Route No. 3, and throughout the many years he lived in Macon county he had a record of never having been outdone by Mr. Thomas.

Brother J. D. Franks returned Saturday from a week's camping and fishing trip on the coast of North Carolina, at Carolina Beach.

Brother Sloan Rickman has moved to Franklin. He is now making his home in the upstairs of the Pendergrass building next to the Confederate monument, over Mrs. J. W. Zachary's Millinery store.

Brothers A. B. Slagle and George Mallonee left Monday for the annual sheriffs' convention being held this year at Wilmington. They are expected to return to Franklin on Thursday.

DR. W. C. COKER AT HIGHLANDS

Botanist Completing Work On Book Soon To Be Published

Dr. W. C. Coker, professor of botany at the University of North Carolina, accompanied by Miss Alma Holland, his assistant, and Miss Nancy Eliason, one of his former students, who is now professor of biology at Flora Macdonald college, has arrived at Highlands for several weeks' work in the Biological Laboratory. The party will continue the study of mushrooms begun last summer and will collect specimens of trees and shrubs from Highlands and other mountain sections of North Carolina.

Dr. Coker and Dr. H. R. Totten, also of the university, have about completed an illustrated book on the trees of Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, South Carolina and northern Florida. They expect the book to be published this fall by the University of North Carolina Press. There will be more than 200 original illustrations.

Dr. Coker, who is vice-president of the Highlands Museum and Biological Laboratory, speaks with enthusiasm of the unequalled advantages of Highlands as a center for the study of inland natural history, as it is within easy reach of high mountains on the one hand, and on the other, the mildly temperate valleys covered with a widely different flora and fauna.

ZONE MEETING OF WOMEN HELD

Methodist Mission Groups Gather at Clark's Chapel

The zone meeting of the Woman's Missionary societies of the Methodist churches was held at Clark's Chapel Tuesday afternoon, August 9, with approximately 85 members present, one of the largest attendances on record. Representatives were there from six churches—Franklin, Bethel Snow Hill, Union and Clark's Chapel.

Mrs. Freeman Presides The meeting was presided over by Mrs. H. C. Freeman, president of the zone meeting.

Mrs. O. P. Ader had charge of the devotional exercises.

Mrs. G. L. Hampton, of Canton, secretary of the Waynesville district, was present and made a short address and introduced Mrs. W. B. Lipscomb, of Nashville, Tenn., the principle speaker of the evening.

Tells of Mission Work

Mrs. Lipscomb is secretary of the board of woman's work of the Methodist church, South. She has been spending several weeks at Lake Junaluska holding a school of missions.

Beginning in an effort on the part of the women of the church toward closer fellowship with Jesus Christ in helping the needs of humanity throughout the world, the speaker stated that there were now 7,000 organizations in the Southern Methodist church with 200,000 members.

Mrs. Lipscomb referred to the result of women's missionary education as a welded fellowship, not only of women in the Methodist church but with women of all churches, thinking in terms of world need, and looking towards a world-wide Christian fellowship. Mrs. Josephine Poindexter, of the Iota Missionary society, was given a life membership certificate by her daughters, which was presented by Mrs. Lipscomb.

Refreshments consisting of cake and lemonade were served by the ladies of Clark's Chapel.

Muse's Corner

IN MEMORY OF MY FATHER BEDFORD HORN

Words are weak and I am weary In this lonely world of fear But my mind will never vary While my heart is filled with cheer.

As I think of one more dearer Than this earth has ever had I just realize I'm nearer To my heavenly home and Dad

In his solitary manner As the noon day sun stood still He took on the holy banner At the call of Jesus' will

Was he ready, we are grateful As he fell upon the sod For he fought the devil hateful And he's now at home with God.

Famous Golfer's Kids Fascinated by Museum

The Highlands museum proved quite fascinating to the three wide-eyed children of Bobby Jones one day recently. Bobby, Jr., Clara, and Mary Ellen, the baby, accompanied by their governess, on a recent visit to the museum, were very much attracted by the exhibits. Bobby, Jr., liked the live snake specimens while Clara seemed more interested in Indian relics and announced her intention of "telling about" them in school this year. Mary Ellen appeared quite interested in everything, but vouchsafed no opinion, due perhaps to the fact that she had her thumb in her mouth.

Cowee

The Rev. H. C. Freeman conducted the reunion service at Snow Hill church Sunday. Records of 99 years were read. Four new members joined the church—Miss DeHart, Harold and Lowell Sheffield and J. D. Hurst. A goodly crowd was present, considering the weather and also the singing convention at Liberty.

A large crowd rendered some singing and rendered some delightful music.

The farmers are busy threshing wheat.

Mr. Dewitt Allen attended the church reunion Sunday.

Miss Elmore Dalton visited Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Hurst, also her grandfather J. C. Hurst, over the week-end.

B. J. Hurst and family were business visitors in Jackson county recently, visiting his aunt, Mrs. Deitz, while there.

Mr. H. Stein and Astor Plemmons were here last week on business.

A very interesting meeting was held at Clark's Chapel last Tuesday. It was such a treat to hear Mrs. Lipscomb, also Mrs. Hampton. Those attending from Snow Hill were Mrs. W. C. Sheffield, Mrs. B. J. Hurst, Mrs. J. W. Ray, Mrs. Fred McGaha, Mrs. J. B. Matlock, Mrs. Adah Dalton, Mrs. Robert Bryson, Mr. Grady Mosley.

Miss Monterey McGaha, who has been sick, is improving.

Misses Nobia Potts and Rebecca Ray visited Bertia Roper Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert West and sons are visiting on Ellijay.

J. B. Elmore was in town Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Sheffield were in this section recently.

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Bryson are visiting relatives in this county.

Mrs. W. L. Hurst and little daughter, visited her mother Saturday night.

MANY VISITORS AT HIGHLANDS DESPITE RAIN

In spite of the rain which has continued since Saturday, quite a number of visitors flocked into Highlands over the week-end. Several of the hotels reported full houses and some had to turn disappointed guests away for lack of room. Summer week-ends rarely fail to fill this town to overflowing. Many who come camp out in the open while others visit friends and relatives owning cottages or stay at the hotels. Golfing, horse-back riding and motoring to points of interest seem to be the favorite occupations of the week-end crowds.

Clark Howell's Summer Home Nears Completion

The new residence being built in the golf course by Mr. and Mrs. Clark Howell, of Atlanta, is nearing completion. This house is to be of the Swiss chalet type. The architect is Linton Young and the interior decorator is Miss Molly Whitehead. Miss Whitehead is designing the furniture for this cottage, which is to be all mountain-made.

Community Games Held At Hall House, Highlands

An inter-denominational community gathering was held on the lawn of the Hall House Wednesday evening, August 10. Games were directed by the Rev. Norvin C. Duncan, rector of the Highlands and Franklin Episcopal churches. A very good crowd was there to enjoy the games on the illuminated lawn and a spirit of fun dominated the gathering.

Rev. Silas K. Johnson Preaches at Highlands

The Rev. Silas K. Johnson, pastor of the First Methodist church of Thomasville, Ga., preached at the morning service of the local Methodist church last Sunday. The Rev. D. H. Daniel, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., was in charge of the evening services. Both pastors are well known here, especially Rev.

Mr. Daniel, as he was head of the Bible school which was held here this summer and also worked with it last summer. Rev. Mr. Johnson, with his family, is occupying his attractive rustic summer home here which was completed this spring.
