

SPEED BONUS, ANGEL URGES

Doctor Requests Payment Of Legion Dues so Fight Can Be Pushed

Payment of American Legion dues immediately is urged by Dr. Furman Angel, of Franklin alternate district commander, so that the Legion can push its fight for immediate payment of the soldier bonus.

"With out three million members," said Dr. Angel in a letter to local Legionnaires, "we hold the balance of power in the country and can put over any legislation we want to."

Dr. Angel said in part:

"Please honor me with your American Legion membership dues at once so that I may be able to report a full quota from Macon County Post 108 at an early date. All of us want the bonus bill passed so that the government will pay us the genuine cash she justly owes us. These certificates may not be due but the government did not hesitate to put up $2,300,000,000 for the defunct railroads and the trolley banks when she did not owe them a cent. This money has benefited no one but the gentry of Wall Street. In the long run it will not benefit the railroads for they are doomed to certain failure because better means of transportation will take their place. Furthermore, the R. F. C. did not hesitate to send $90,000,000 (more money than there is in the state of North Carolina) to Charles Dawes of Chicago to save his busted Republic Trust Co."

through the public square or within fifteen feet of the cross streets entering said square, and no car shall be parked on any part of Main Street for a distance of fifteen feet from a point directly in front of the center of any alleyway leading from Main Street. No car shall be parked on the parking square limits on Main Street between the east side of the public square and Alex Moore's front gate for a longer period than one hour between the hours of eight A. M. and seven P. M. And no car shall be moved from one parking place to another in said boundary with intent to beat the time limit above mentioned."

Section Ten. All ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance or any part thereof are hereby repealed, and all ordinances or parts of ordinances not conflicting with any part hereof shall remain in full force in virtue and effect.

Methodist Church Holds Conference

The Fourth Quarterly Conference of the Methodist church was held at the Horse Cove church Sunday, Sept. 18. Presiding Elder Hayes of Waynesville officiated and preached an inspiring sermon on "Co-workers with God." Following the sermon officers for the incoming year were elected. Highlands Methodists present included Rev. G. A. Hovis, Miss Susan Rice, Mrs. Westbrook, Mrs. A. G. Spencer Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Davis and Rachel Davis, Mrs. J. Z. Gottwals and Mrs. Marchete.

ANCIENT ONES DECLINE SACK

who would agree with you so far as I am concerned and I am not going to try to put up an alibi; but it would be interesting to have your opinion on Charley and Nick. (Editor's note: Drown 'em!)

"I notice also that you think that two other things are advisable, the consolidation of counties and the abolishment of grand juries. Our counties and grand juries are inheritances of the past handed down from fathers who are older than their sons and, therefore, foggy contraptions.

"I take it that it is your idea that had we, say twenty-five years ago, drowned all men with intelligence enough to take part in politics as soon as they arrived at the age of fifty, consolidated counties into a few districts and abolished grand juries we would not be in the mess we are, hence the way out of muddle we are in is to get busy along these lines.

(Editor's note: We never suggested drowning the intelligent ones.)

"Those who are old enough to remember the long continued worldwide depression that had its culmination in Cleveland's last administration and commonly called Cleveland Hard Times will remember the many causes and cures that were suggested. I was in Europe when the depression was at its worst and remember many of the ideas that were abroad. One especially worthy of notice of those who enjoy shallow thinking was peddled about in western France. There many thought the woes of the world could be traced to the scarcity of sardines.

"The younger generation who are floundering about in despair and doubt are at a great disadvantage. Any one who has never experienced a major depression can fully comprehend the causes of depressions. Those who exposed their ignorance in 1893 had not experienced the depression of 1873. The young men of today who did not live through the depression of 1893 are poorly equipped for the study of today's problems. Ever since the days of Moses when he gave the commandment, "Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee" young men have considered their fathers fogies. All young men make asses of themselves without knowing it. No man ever lived who was not ashamed of many of his youthful sayings and doings. The way to keep out of such messes as we are now in is to heed the advice and take the advantage of the experience of men who have lived long enough to learn by actual experience. Some men never learn so time is criterion. The average man never rids himself of all prejudices and superstitions and thinks emotionally instead of being guided by facts.

"During the war I travelled extensively throughout the whole south and met men of all classes on trains, at hotels, in fact every where and discussed all phases of passing events. I was struck with the amazing assuredness of the younger men and doubt of the older ones. Since then I have met many of these younger men and invariably one of the first things they say is: You were right about it." Why should I not be right? Having lived through the panic and the depression that followed in 1873 as well as the long depression that began in the eighties and culminated in the panic of 1893 I should be drowned in a sack could I not interpret the causes of this depression. For years when I make a statement about trees no one ever doubts my statement simply because he knows something about trees and knows there is more to learn. When I make a statement about some phase of the economic situation in a crowd, some one is sure to pop up and question the statement and that is because he knows practically nothing at all about economics and does not know how much there is to learn. Economics is a science. Science is truth. An Englishman visiting this country reported us as a nation of economic illiterates. The average young man is hindered in the study of economics by party prejudices. He fits his economics to his party instead of trying to influence his party to adopt scientific principles. Yes; things are in a mess. We got in a mess by throwing sound principles, common sense, and social justice to the winds and went on the biggest jamboree in the history of semi-civilization. The way out is to reverse and adopt scientific principle of economics, social justice and live righteously."

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Tyree Neu, of Georgetown, O., last Friday. Mrs. Neu is the daughter of George Stiles of Franklin. The baby will be named Georger Theodore Neu.

200 at Reunion McGahas and Tippetts Meet on Watauga

The McGaha-Tippett reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tippett on Watauga Sunday, Sept. 18, with approximately 200 relatives and invited guests present.

John E. Rickman, postmaster at Franklin, made a short talk. The following officers were elected:

W. T. Tippett of Iota, president; W. A. McGaha, of West's Mill, vice-president; Mrs. Lester S. Conley, of Franklin, secretary and treasurer; Sloan Rickman, of Franklin historian.

Two bouquets of summer flowers were presented to the two oldest ones present, Mrs. Sallie Tippett, widow of the late Bud Tippett, and "Clingman West."

The next reunion will be held at the home of W. T. Tippett on Iota next year.

HOLD PARLEYS ON POWER PLAN

holds in United States government bonds, the interest derived therefrom to be paid to the Empire Public Service Corporation. This surety deposit, although jointly held by the town and the Empire corporation, belongs to the latter as long as it fulfills the contract it took over from Juppilo.

This agreement is in no way a supplementary contract to the original contract, Mayor Patton explained, and it does not become effective until the Empire meets the bond payment due October 1 and its authorized agents attach their signatures.

The town council steadfastly refused to sign a supplementary contract proffered by E. D. Steele, attorney for the Empire corporation, and O. G. Martine, vice president of the East Coast Utilities, Inc., a subsidiary under which the local utilities corporation operates. Mayor Patton and the councilmen decided after careful study that a supplementary contract might abrogate the original and lead to prolonged litigation.

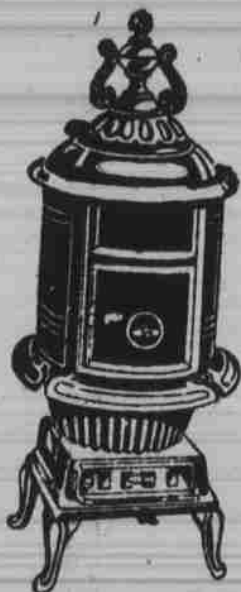

The firm of Humes, Buck, Smith and Stowell, New York attorneys, has been employed to institute legal action to recover from the bonding company the $50,000 surety deposit frozen in the Standard Trust Bank. Mr. Martino told Mayor Patton that if the Empire interests decided to hold the Franklin power plant, which he expected they would, improvements would be made in the property, especially to the lines and transmission system.
