BR'ER UPSHAW AND THE MULE

Earnest Willie Upshaw has related that he once got drunk, back there in the days when men were men and liquor was liquor.

That the liquor was liquor we are willing to concede without further argument than is made by the confessor himself. "So I reached across a bar and accepted a drink. Then I staggered home."

After that our hero became a plowboy. "Walking down the rows I would make speeches to the old mule. They were the speeches I later made in Congress."

And that, concluded Uncle Remus to the little boy fast asleep on his knee, is how mules got their balkiness.—CHARLOTTE NEWS.

THE DEADLY PARALLEL

Mr. Ehringhaus' charge that the Federal government has collected enough taxes in North Carolina during the last four years to meet the total cost of State, county, city and town governments in this Commonwealth for eight years serves to emphasize the contrast between the policy of the Republican party in conducting the affairs of the nation, and the policy of the Democratic party, in its administration of the affairs of the State.

In this connection it is interesting to study the records of the two parties on taxation. Here they are:

Year	Total Tax Bill for State and Local Governments
1930	$102,000,000
1931	96,000,000
1932	90,000,000
Total Federal Tax Bill
1928	$4,211,011,352
1929	4,633,577,973
1930	4,665,236,768
1932	5,124,239,830

These figures show that while State and local governments have been reducing the tax load steadily during the last few years, the Federal government has been just as steadily increasing the tax burden.

This is one campaign issue that every taxpayer ought to be able to understand.—WINSTON-SALEM JOURNAL.
