

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES and COMINGS AND GOINGS

MISS NANCY PATTON WEDS SAM KELLY GREENWOOD

Miss Nancy Jane Patton and Mr. Sam Kelly Greenwood, both of Franklin, were married on Saturday, November 25, in Marlinton, W. Va., where Mr. Greenwood is employed by the United States Forestry Service.

The ceremony took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hull Yeager and was performed by the Rev. W. G. Winton, pastor of the Marlinton Methodist church. The ring ceremony was used. Mrs. Mary Frances Moore played the wedding march and, while the vows were being spoken, sounded a soft accompaniment.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. T. N. Mize. Others witnessing the ceremony were Mrs. T. N. Mize and son, William; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Zinn and daughter, Sallie; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Roberts, Mrs. George Pettay and daughter, Jean; Mrs. C. Fulton and daughter, Jackie.

The bride wore a gray suit with accessories to match.

The Yeager home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with evergreens and chrysanthemums. After the ceremony Mrs. Yeager served a delicious dinner in honor of the bridal couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood are popular members of Franklin's younger social set. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Erwin Patton, of the Patton valley community; and Mr. Greenwood is a son of Mrs. Octa Kelly Greenwood. Mrs. Greenwood, a graduate of the Franklin high school, was employed until recently by the Macon County Red Cross chapter and the county Emergency Relief office.

Before the organization of the relief office about a year ago she was employed by The Franklin Press. Mr. Greenwood, who was employed by the United Fruit Company in Colombia, South America, for several years, returned to Franklin during the past year and took a position as surveyor with the Forestry Service.

He recently was transferred to Marlinton. Commenting on the wedding, the Marlinton newspaper said: "While neither of the young people has been in Marlinton long, they are popular with those friends they have met, and a happy future is prophesied for them."

MISS LILLIAN PATTON WEDS MASSACHUSETTS MAN

Miss Lillian Patton and L. W. Goddard were quietly married in Swannanoa on Tuesday, November 7.

Mrs. Goddard is the daughter of Mrs. Erwin Patton, of Cartoogechaye. She has been operating a beauty shop in Swannanoa for several months.

The bridal couple left immediately after the ceremony for a trip to California and other western states. After their return they will be at home in Webster, Mass., Mr. Goddard's home.

U. D. C. TO MEET MONDAY

The United Daughters of the Confederacy will meet with Mrs. W. W. Sloan on Monday afternoon, December 11, at 3 o'clock.

ENTERTAINS AT DANCE

An enjoyable dance attended by the younger set of Franklin was given at Chickadee Camp on Saturday night by John Cunningham in honor of Neville Sloan and Bill Sloan and four friends who spent the week-end in Franklin on a visit from Chapel Hill, where they are students at the University of North Carolina.

Highlands Highlights

EDITED BY MRS. THOMAS HARBISON

TOWN OFFICE MOVED

The office of the Town of Highlands, which was formerly on Fourth street, was moved recently to the lower floor of the Masonic hall building on Main street. W. S. Davis, merchant, is remodeling the office building and will move his store there in the near future.

MRS. MARY CHAPIN SMITH IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Mary Chapin Smith is at the hospital in Franklin for treatment this week. Mrs. Smith has not been well for some time, and it is hoped that the treatment and rest at the hospital will help her. She is known in Highlands, where she is one of the old time citizens, as an excellent club woman and a writer.

RETURN FROM WEDDING TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Hopper returned from their wedding trip last Thursday, and were serenaded, loud and long Thursday night about 10 o'clock. With cow bells and tin cans, Christmas whistles and a pistol or so, making rather too much of a din for comfortable sleeping, Mr. and Mrs. Hopper finally descended and let in the crowd of "serenaders," and graciously served them with wedding cake and punch.

Mr. and Mrs. Hopper are living in an apartment at the Cleveland home.

Mr. and Mrs. Tudor N. Hall and family have moved into their new home, "Chestnut Lodge," on Fifth street.

Tom Harbison is suffering a severe cut on his left foot. The accident occurred Monday evening while he was trimming a tree.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hudson spent several days the past week in High Point visiting Mrs. Hudson's mother, Mrs. J. H. Petty.

Miss Ocolea Everett, Western Carolina Teachers' college student, was with her mother here during the Thanksgiving holidays. Cecil Edwards of Weaver college, was also home for the holidays.

Mrs. Dr. Waldrop, of Bryson City, and Miss Margaret Cozad, of Franklin, were here visiting Mrs. W. S. Davis several days last week.

Mrs. A. J. Salinas and her nephew, Mr. de Vaughan, left their summer home here for Augusta, Ga., December 5.

Col. and Mrs. John Steven Sewell, who have been here for several months, left for their home in Birmingham, Ala., Tuesday.

The Rev. Capers Satterlee, of Clemson College, S. C., delivered a sermon at the Church of the Incarnation, Episcopal, Sunday afternoon, December 3.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hays at their home in Highlands on December 2, a daughter, Audrey Gertrude.

A surprise party was given recently to Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hovis at the Methodist parsonage by several members of the Methodist church and others, celebrating the return of Mr. Hovis to his charge here.

Miss Bess Hines has returned to her home here after having been for several days with her aunt in Keenansville, N. C.

RELIGION In The Here and Now

By Rev. Norvin C. Duncan

LIFE is full of paradoxes. We are always discovering something of value where we least expect it, and failing to find what we do expect.

The past Thanksgiving Day was a bit of a new experience for me. Heretofore, I have been having a service and joining in with the festivities of the occasion. This year I spent the day in bed, following a confinement of nearly eight months. Yet at the close of the day it came rather as a surprise to me that there was more genuine gratefulness in my heart than on any Thanksgiving I have ever known. Friends were very thoughtful, and I received a number of cheering messages from them.

Looking back, I can see clearly the loving care of our Heavenly Father during my long illness. I have had time to reflect and see, not the reasonableness of our Christian faith, but the actual working out of it. It is marvelous to see how God provides for the needs of His creatures. It is wonderful how much of God one finds in His people. For a long while I have been preaching about God's care, and how He uses men and women to do His work. It is gratifying and assuring to see His work done before one's eyes, and to have what you have preached confirmed in experience. There are numbers of things which have happened to me for which I can find but one explanation—God.

When I am privileged to conduct services again I shall better understand the Venite and Te Deum, and shall be able to say

PROBLEMS OF DISARMAMENT

"It is not to my interest to help things that hurt the life of our town." When asked by his friend Harry to take stock in a "Corporation for the distribution of Shakespear to the Hottentots" he refused, and explained to his hurt friend that his first responsibility was legitimate profits, by which he could stand on his own feet, pay his own bills and have something left to help worthwhile propositions. When he died they wrote on his tombstone: "He was the greatest contribution to Humantown in our generation."

Tom, Dick and Harry represent three possible parts for the United States to play in the life of Humantown. There was a tremendous reaction against ideals and idealism immediately after the World War. Somehow we felt that we would be playing the part of Harry in entering the League of Nations. We swung past the middle course of Dick and went to the extreme of Tom—at least for a time, and in some political attitudes. We were going to be guided solely by "our interests," but we didn't take time to see what our interests were since we'd become the world's greatest creditor. On the one hand stood those who said, "We oughtn't to help anything that doesn't mean money to us." And on the other hand were those who said, "A policy of interest is sordid."

The Best Policy

Surely the part played by Dick is the wisest and the best, the most practical and the most ideal—since it gets its dreams realized. To invest in nothing from which we do not expect legitimate profits—though the profits, as in the case of the parks, may not be at all discernible in dollars. Then from our legitimate profits, to see that it is to our interests to help everything that enriches the life of the community of nations. For example, it was to our interests to protect the leaguers during the Boxer rebellion, and more to make the excellent use that we did of the indemnities therefrom. The League of Nations is not asking us, or anyone, to play the part of Harry. It is asking us and the other nations as well as in Humantown leads to bitterness and economic dissolution in the end. The League of Nations is asking the nations to see the plain handwriting on the wall, that only the policy of Dick among the nations, as in Humantown, enables the people to find economic and political freedom and growth.

Must Dispel Fear

The problems of disarmament are not simply the question of laying down arms, they are first the problems of breaking down fear, distrust and bitterness which make people and nations take up arms. The three greatest producers of distrust, fear and bitterness in the world today are: High Tariffs, War Debts, and Nationalistic Isolation. There are three possible parts on the stage of the world, Tom, Dick and Harry. Which part shall we play? What shall the people of Humantown write on our gravestones?

I would like to acknowledge help obtained for these articles from two books: "The Problems of Peace," published by George Allen & Unwin Ltd., and "Our Foreign Policy," by Paul Scott Mowrer—published by E. R. Dutton & Co.

B. Y. P. U. Leader To Speak at Baptist Church
