ballots in primaries in this county, at least not in the selection of county officers. In our humble opinion it is an excellent custom and we sincerely hope it will be continued. We believe this will do much to preserve harmony within the party without hampering in any appreciable degree a representative expression of the party's opinion.

Second primaries are costly, and time and again the voters have registered their distaste for them. With few exceptions, the high man in the first primary comes out on top in the second, usually with a rare occasions situations and issues arise which war likelihood of such a condition developing in this year's Democratic primaries in Macon county.
