FREE LESSONS FOR GOLFERS

Professional To Give Instructions at Local Course

Beginning Friday of this week, free golf instruction will be offered at the Franklin municipal golf course for two weeks by a young professional with an enviable reputation on the west coast.

Plans for the free lessons were announced this week by J. E. Perry, a member of the committee in charge of supervising the course.

The instructor will be Fitzhugh Ashe, of Portland, Ore., who recently came to Franklin to spend the summer. Mr. Ashe won the high school city championship in Portland in 1932 and also was medalist the same year in the Oregon junior tournament. Later he was assistant pro at the Waverly country club at Portland.

Anyone desiring to take advantage of the free lessons by Mr. Ashe is requested to make appointments with him at Perry's Drug Store. The lessons are open to either men or women and personal instruction will be given each applicant.

After several years of idleness, the famous steamship Leviathan is to be put to work again in the Atlantic service. She is here seen docked at the Boston navy yard for overhauling.

Plans Made for Baby Show; Many Tots Already Entered

Plans were announced this week for a baby show and parade to be sponsored by the Franklin garden club in connection with its annual flower show early in August. The exact date for the double event is to be set later.

The girl scouts are to supervise the baby parade, which will be held at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Thirty-two mothers already have signified their intention of entering children in the parade. Any others who desire to enter babies are requested to notify Mrs. W. A. Rogers at Rogers Hall.

Two prizes are to be offered, one for babies from six months to one and a half years of age and the other for children from one and a half years to three years old. Following is a list of the mothers who already have entered their children:

Mrs. Julian Waldroop, Mrs. Hugh Leach, Mrs. Frank Leach, Mrs. Charles Solms, Mrs. W. L. Nothstein, Mrs. Warren, Mrs. Allen Siler, Mrs. Jack Sherrill, Jr., Mrs. C. L. Cartledge, Mrs. Frank Henry, Jr., Mrs. H. P. Nichols, Mrs. George Pattillo, Mrs. Cecil Crawford (twins), Mrs. George Reece, Mrs. Sloan Rickman, Mrs. Horner Stockton, Mrs. George B. Ramey, Mrs. A. R. SUNDAY SCHOOL MEET PLANNED

Baptists To Hold Convention at Bryson City July 21

On Saturday, July 21, an all-day Sunday school convention for the Smoky Mountain district, which includes all Baptist churches in the counties of Haywood, Jackson, Macon, Swain, Graham, Cherokee and Clay, will be held in the school auditorium in Bryson City, beginning at 10 o'clock and running to 4 o'clock in the afternoon. All pastors, Sunday school superintendents, teachers and officers in every Baptist church in this territory and everyone else who is interested in Sunday school work are invited and urged to attend.

The program has been arranged so as to be of interest to all workers in every phase of Sunday school work. There will be lectures and a social period before noon and in afternoon there will be conferences for the different departments of Sunday school and a closing inspirational address. J. N. Barnett and others from the Baptist Sunday school board at Nashville, Tenn., will be there to speak and lead in the conferences. This meeting is planned to take the place of the state Sunday school convention for those who did not get to attend it.

It is hoped that every church will send a delegation to this meeting; there is not limit to the number that may come. For those who do not wish to bring their lunch with them, the ladies of the Bryson City Baptist church have planned to serve hot dinners at the meeting for 30c per plate.

Some Clover Sample from Justice Farm Measures over 6 Feet

The livestock of Mrs. John Justice of Route 4 should fare well next winter, judging by the clover she is growing. Mrs. Justice brought a sample of it to the Press-Maconian office this week . . . and what a sample! It averaged six feet, six inches in length, and has not yet reached its full growth. Mrs. Justice said she had between three and four acres of this clover. It was planted 16 months ago and is not quite ready for cutting. The acre tonnage remains to be seen after mowing.

Camp Parry-dise Opens For 10th Season

Counselors and girls have arrived for another season at Camp Parry-dise, situated on the top of Little Sealy mountain near Highlands. This opens the 10th consecutive season of this camp.

A full camp is reported and many activities and hikes are planned for the summer. An interesting feature of this mountain-top camp is the lookout tower, from the top of which one may see into four states. The first floor serves as camp office and the remaining levels as sleeping quarters for officials. A new cabin has been added this year.

Girls who attend this camp represent many states.

Mount Hope Church To Give Box Supper

A box supper for the benefit of the Mount Hope Baptist church is to be held Monday night, July 23, at the Slagle school in the Cartoogchaye community.

MAKING CHILD WELFARE STUDY

Miss Ella Jones Preparing Survey of Handicapped Children

Miss Ella Jones, assisted by the American Legion and other organizations of Franklin, is making a child welfare survey of Macon county with view to obtaining a roster of all ex-service men, children and orphans of veterans and all children physically handicapped.

"The American Legion has a national endowment fund of $5,000,000, the income of which is now being used for orphans and children of veterans," Miss Jones explained. "North Carolina has not received its share of this fund, because no effort has been made to locate the needy persons in this state who are entitled to assistance from this source."

Although only children of veterans may receive help through the American legion endowment, it was stated, other handicapped and underprivileged children will be listed in the survey now being made under the sponsorship of the legion so that they may be cared for by state agencies created for this purpose.

The Macon county post of the legion has requested that all veterans in the county, whether members of the legion or not, cooperate with Miss Jones in this project by sending to her information concerning any children in the county who are handicapped through blindness, deafness, lameness or other afflictions and are in need of assistance. Blank forms for supplying the proper information may be obtained from Miss Jones at the office of Miss Rachel Davis, county superintendent of public welfare, on the following days: July 17, 18 and 19.

MANY VISITORS AT HIGHLANDS

Most of Cottages Rented; Mean Temperature of 66 Reported

Practically every summer cottage in Highlands is now occupied, either by renters or owners. The cool weather is drawing large crowds, especially over week-ends, from the lower states. The thermometer has registered so far no higher than 80 degrees this summer. The average temperature is about 66. There is always a cool breeze in this mountain-top resort even on the warmer days.

Hotels report many guests. The Martin is especially well-prepared to care for its influx of guests due to renovations made the early part of the summer. Other hotels are proving equally popular. Bobby Jones is playing daily on the country club course, near which his new home is situated.

Talkies, managed by O. F. Summer for the benefit of the school, are presenting pictures as recent as "Flying Down to Rio." The pictures are shown in the school auditorium. Dances, both square and round, are held several times a week at the dancing pavilion. They also attract many of the town's summer guests.

Mrs. J. H. Higdon Breaks Hip in Fall

Mrs. J. H. Higdon, who fell last Thursday at her home in Atlanta, Ga., and broke her hip, was reported Tuesday to be in a serious condition. Mrs. Eva Keener and W. L. Higdon left immediately for Atlanta to be with their mother.

Other Shipments Expected Later in Livestock Relief Plan

FARMERS TO PROFIT

To Be Paid $1 a Month Per Head for Grass Land Grazing

Ten carloads of cattle, estimated to comprise 300 to 350 head, are expected to arrive here within the next few weeks for grazing on Macon county grass lands. Although this county's full quota has not been announced, it is thought likely that other shipments of cattle recently bought by the federal government from drought stricken western areas will be sent here later for grazing purposes.

Macon county farmers already have offered approximately 400 acres of fenced grass land. Besides this, it is estimated, there are several hundred more acres of grass land available and many hundreds of acres of mountain land suitable for ranging livestock.

Grass Lands Preferred

Those in charge of placing the cattle in Western North Carolina, however, are following a policy of giving preference to grass land. Lenoir T. Gwynne, of Haywood county, who is directing the distribution of the cattle in the 18 westernmost counties of the state, has received approval of applications for 25,000 head of cattle in this territory.

For grazing on strictly grass land farmers will be paid by the federal government a dollar a month per head. The grazing fees are somewhat less on poorer grass lands and wooded ranges.

Relief authorities here have estimated that Macon county could graze approximately 800 head on grass lands and, if it is permitted, 1,500 to 2,000 on mountain ranges.

Crockett in Charge

Distribution of the cattle in this county will be under the direction of the Rev. S. R. Crockett, garden and farm supervisor for the Macon county emergency relief.

Arrival of the first shipment of cattle has been expected since the first of this month, but shipments have been held up pending inspection of the cattle. No definite information as to when the cattle will be shipped has been received here, but the relief authorities already have prepared stock pens near the Franklin depot so they can handle the cattle on arrival.

If the cattle arrive this month, they will have approximately five months of open grazing. The government has not announced its plans for handling the cattle through the winter, but it is thought likely farmers having enough feedstuff will be given an opportunity to feed them under contract, and some may be shipped to the eastern part of the state or to other sections where year-round grazing is available.

The government has promised that it will not place the cattle on the market in competition with privately-owned stock for at least three years. However, it may slaughter the stock and distribute the beef to needy families through relief channels.

Eller To Speak at Church Training School

The Rev. E. R. Eller, pastor of the Franklin Baptist church, is going to Blakely, Ga., next week to assist in conducting a training school for members of various organizations in the Blakely Baptist church. He is on the program for a course of instruction for senior B. Y. P. U. members and also for an address each evening at a group meeting.

The Rev. Spencer B. King, who assisted Mr. Eller in conducting a special series of meetings here last spring, is pastor of the Blakely church.
