Good Income Secured From Sale of Pulp Wood

An annual income of $1,500,000 comes to North Carolina timber owners; wood cutters, wood haulers, and marketing agents from the marketing of pulp wood.

During the past five years, an average of 255,772 cords of pulp wood were harvested yearly at a value ranging from $4 to $8 a cord f. o. b. cars at the shipping point. The average price was $6 a cord.

During the five-year period, of which a survey was made by R. W. Graeber, extension forester at State College, the pulp was consumed by eight mills, three within the state and five in neighboring states.

The three mills within the state consumed 235,366 cords of wood a year, while 18,406 cords were shipped elsewhere. The greater portion of the wood was pine, poplar, hemlock and chestnut. The balance was divided among many species, including spruce, gum, soft maple, basswood, cucumber and buckeye.

The profit from the sale of wood to the mills is divided among four classes of people. The timber owners and the hauling contractors each receive about 25 per cent of the proceeds. The wood cutters get an average of 42 per cent, and marketing agencies about 8 per cent.

In addition, the railroads get approximately $1.50 a cord in freight charges, or almost $400,000 for delivering the pulp to the mills.

Mr. Graeber pointed out that well-stocked stands of timber are good investments and will produce an average annual growth of one cord per acre. Pulpwood, he continued, forms the basis of a great industry which gives employment to thousands of people.

Mountain Dance Festival To Be Held August 2 and 3

ASHEVILLE, July 11.—Through-out the length and breadth of the mountain section of North Carolina, dance teams and string musicians are practicing the steps and the music of the famous mountain dances in preparation for the annual Mountain Folk Festival to be held in Asheville August 2 and 3. Dancing groups, many of them champions in past years of the celebration, will enter the lists this season to do battle on the dance floor for the highest honors in their art, the mountain championship.

Established in 1928 as a part of the rhododendron festival, the annual dance fete has grown steadily in popularity. The number of musicians and dancers who take part has increased from year to year. This year hundreds of the best dancers and string musicians to be found in the highlands will take part in the event.

Fame of the annual dance fete, led to the dancers of this section receiving an invitation to take part in the first national folk festival at St. Louis, Mo., this year. Three champion teams of dancers and two bands of string musicians made the trip to the Missouri city to take part in the national event.

The mountain folk festival at Asheville will be staged in two parts on the two nights set for the event. The dancing and string band performances will take place at McCormick Field in Asheville, under the glare of the night baseball lights. From the dancing groups entered in the festival contests will be selected the champions who will reign supreme as the most skillful in their peculiar art. The champion string band will also be selected.
